Crew Men Report To-day

ROWING STARTS TO-DAY

More Men Expected to Respond to Call
Than Ever Before—Special Race for Freshmen of All Departments.

The Annual Race for the Wharton Cup has begun, and the weather promises a most brilliant and interesting day to all lovers of the water sport. The Cup is the oldest and most famous rowing prize in the United States, and has been awarded annually since 1869. It is presented by the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce and is open to all members of the freshman class who have shown evidence of ability in the sport. The race is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. and is expected to draw a large crowd. The course will be up the Schuylkill River from the University to the Philadelphia Naval Academy, a distance of 1 mile 400 yards.

Crews from all four academic departments will participate, and it is anticipated that the competition will be keen. The cup has been won by the Law School, Engineering School, Science, and Arts and Sciences departments in previous years. The cup is a coveted prize, and the students take great pride in their crews. The event is also a significant indicator of the strength of the college and its athletic programs.

The management will endeavor to use the facility during the week末 for the benefit of the students, and the proceeds will be used to benefit the students as well. The management will also be available to answer any questions or concerns the students may have. The event will be a great opportunity for the students to come together and enjoy a day on the water.
Every Pennsylvania that feels proud of the splendid race novel by the Varsity crew last June at Poughkeepsie, the more so as it was the first time in many years that our crew took third place. As we said then, the result is in itself satisfactory this year and in succeeding years it is necessary that all interested in rowing should report today for fall practices. Experience is not unnecessary for every man of good physique, with courage and the proper spirit, has in him possibilities that should be used.

This appeal is intended especially for freshmen. Not only will the success of rowing at Pennsylvania in a few years be largely dependent upon them, but in the inter-class races this fall the class of 1914 will have one of its first opportunities to show of what stuff it is made.

Pennsylvania needs success at Poughkeepsie next June, not only in the Varsity eight but also in the Varsity four and freshman races if anything is to be achieved now in the time to prepare.

MORE MATERIAL IMPERATIVE.

In the past few years but little success has come to Pennsylvania in cross-country running. As in most similar cases this is due mainly to lack of interest and scarcity of candidates. Unfortunately, few track men nowadays report for cross-country. It is no longer the fashion so to do, and ad to tell, but true, the freshmen are the sore offenders.

A good cross-country team is not built up in a year, and if the sport is to be put on a firmer basis in Pennsylvania it is necessary to begin a sound development now. If the freshmen class would take an active interest in cross-country work it would be a few years until there would again be some hope of bringing the intercollegiate championship to Pennsylvania.

However, instead of this being the case, this year freshmen have taken absolutely no interest in the sport, and up to the present time few men have reported from the first year class. Unless more candidates turn out the track management has said it cannot support the team. Surely the class has too much spirit to make such a step necessary. Other classes in the past few years may not have won much success in this line of athletics, but they have had at least spirit enough to put a team in the field. unquestionably there are ten times as many track men in the freshman class as have thus far reported for cross-country work. It is for these men to come out and begin track work now. If they do this there is no doubt that a good freshman cross-country team can be formed, and, in addition, hopes for a winning varsity in coming years will be brightened. If the class of 1914 can again establish this splendid sport on a firm footing by practicing it will have done something for Pennsylvania for which it may well be proud.

WITH OTHER COLLEGES.

The Juniors defeated the Senators recently for the inter-class baseball championship at Princeton. They defeated in turn Sophomores and Freshmen, and have a clear record.

The John Hay Library, Brown's latest addition to her campus, has just been opened and made ready for use. This building is definitely superior to the old, and will prove a valuable addition.

Brown's Sophomores successfully defended their flag against the freshmen in the annual soccer game held recently, and won three out of the four wrestling bouts which formed a part of the entertainment.

The Graduate School of the University of Virginia will he the host neighbor this fall. The gathering of noted educators will be addressed by President Alderman, of the University of Virginia, President in President of this organization.

DOUGHERTY FRESHMAN CHOICE

Northeast Manual Training Man is Elected Temporary President of First-Year Class.

William H. Dougherty, of Philadelphía, was elected yesterday afternoon temporary President of the Freshman Class. He won out by a small margin over Elam, with Fasson a close third. Dougherty comes from the Northeast Manual Training School, where he was president of his club in both his Junior and Senior year.

Nearly three hundred men were on hand to vote and to listen to the speeches of prominent upper classmen which preceded the casting of ballots. Ernest C. Queller, President of the Senior Class, urged the Freshmen to wear their black caps and reminded them that the front entrance to College Hall was for the use of upper classmen alone. Queller was followed by E. Hoover, President of the Junior Class, who told them to do something in college outside of their studies, whether in athletics or other activities. Captain Hoagland, of the crew, recited a portion of the history of that organization, and asked for a large turnout of candidates today.

Malcolm Klawitter, Editor-in-Chief of The Pennonian, spoke about the college publications, and recommended them to the Freshmen as a consideration of all Freshmen. He likewise talked of the Mask and Wig Club, and urged all men with even the slightest ability to singing or dancing to try for the show.

Manager Humphrey, of the cross-country team, made a strong plea for more candidates for the Freshmen team, and stated that if this was carried the Freshman would soon go with it.

Cronin then called for nominations, and the name of Wright, Bloom, Harrow, Downing, Parsons, Dougherty and Miller were placed on the board to quick succession. Dougherty will lead the Freshmen for two weeks, when the regular elections will take place.

AERONAUTS SEE FLIGHTS AHEAD.

Club Membership on the Increase and CLUBS SEE FLIGHTS AHEAD. AERONAUTS WILL TAKE OFF NEXT WEEK.

Birds men of the University flapped their wings in a manner that predicts a most interesting season in their meeting in the Houston Club yesterday afternoon. During the summer G. A. Richardson, '12 E. E., attended as a delegate the convention held at New York, for the purpose of forming a national federation. The result of the elections gained by membership in the National Aero Club and a greatly increased roll of members the club looks forward to a year in which it is bound to be remembered in the Pennsylvania annals of aviation. In addition to the regular regular meeting will take place.

As President Bickerford found it necessary to resign owing to press of other duties, the club had to select a new head, and were unanimous in their choice of F. B. Weiser, '11 Ch. E.

Before the members of the aeronautical "Pennsylvania "I " asked to be con"ected with the members of the club, will be seen soaring over College Hall. Arrangements have been made to be secured, and the engines, and the $75 needed to complete the machine is being collected.
