MUSICAL CLUBS’ ITINERARY

Manager Blair Announces Schedule of Trips—Includes Washington, Harthaway buffalo and Tusco.

"Bigger, better and broader than ever," expressed the officers of the Combined Musical Club this year. The former singers and instrumentalists are contributing to its success and are prizing faithfully under the taudition of Directors Ralph Egan and Ray.

The management is so yet understated, I say, or over-stated. The work will be carried if the former number, two of the Fall concerts will be held.

Never before in the history of the club has such a program been planned. As given out by Spen-

The primary object of the meet was to select the best man in each class, and the results makes the Varsity cross-country

The road to hell is paved with good intentions—the road to prosperity with good clothes.

Considered jointly these proverbs indicate that instead of promising yourself a new Fall suit or overcoat you should get it to-day.

Before you determine where to get it, remember that there is a tailoring establishment in Philadelphia that does not stop at good intentions, that makes good clothes and is satisfied till it makes good in case of any failure.

Remember, too, that you are always welcome to look over the Fall suitings and overcoats being shown in the Jews Young Men's Department that every bolt is plainly tagged with the price per suit; that samples are freely given; that whether you intend to pay $25 or $47 for a suit or any price between, each of your dollars will go further here than anywhere else.

YEARS' EXPENSES AT YALE.

Postal Card Canvas Shows That It Costs $1,113 Annually.

According to an article in The Evening Times, it costs a Yale man at least $1,000 a year on an average to go through the course at that university. A postal card canvass of last year's freshman class shows that 114 spent an average of $1,082; 117 sophomores, $1,100; and 158 juniors, $1,113, making the average for the three years of $1,113.

The lavish expenditures of a few men sent up the general average for twenty-one freshman reported expenses from $1,200 to $1,300 each, six sophomores, from $2,000 to $2,500 each, and eight juniors, from $3,000 to $3,500 each.

At the other extreme, nineteen freshmen used less than $500 each, and eighteen sophomores less than $800 each, and sixteen juniors less than $600 each.
