THOSE ABOVE AND THOSE BELOW

In these days of rush and haste, the morning newspaper sets the most persons as did the Magnetic Mountain upon Richmond's unfortunate ship. Resistance to its appeal requires a tremendous exertion of will-power. So, when a student, drifting into Houston Hall between 8.30 and 8.45 of a morning, turns to the reading-room and passes soberly and unemotionally the steps leading to the stairs, he has some excuse to fall back upon. He is simply afflicted with a developed type of modesty.

However, when a crowd of students, whose subjects in College seem to be "The Fine Art of Lounging" and "Intermittent Conversations" come early to Houston Hall and drag themselves gracefully even the seats facing the stairways leading to Chapel, the excuse for their presence down there does not appear legitimate as long as their presence upon the floor is not explained. To these students in particular, no matter how appealing their idols of adulation are, a glance at the minutes its appeal requires a tremendous exertion of will-power. Chapel has made its appeals many times through quite a variety of mediums. Still, the numbers attending it are small. Traditions, customs, un denominational exercises, good speeches, uplifting atmosphere, all seem to be matters of little moment to the few thousand students about here. It is granted that it is inexcusable for the majority of the professional students to attend; however, the undergraduate body, whose ability, collectively and individually, to attend is unimpaired by the distance of its classrooms from Chapel, are yet possessed by that malignant demon, lethargy— and hence, stay away.

The "early hour" is insignificant as a cause of absence, for those students spoken of as already possessing the dominions of the Hall while Dr. Smith and Dean Fisher are trying their utmost to preserve an old and good custom, operatics, now up and out and evidently launched on the day's business. As a matter of curiosity and some moment, a comparative list of the students in Chapel and of those downstairs at the same time per morning is being kept. It's publication, we hope, will lead to some regret on the part of those who help swell the latter numbers, and we suggest to them and others who stay outside Chapel doors that use this opportunity to make the ratios of those downstairs to those upstairs during the half-hour preceding the first morning classes look something like this—9:50:

DEUTSCHER VEREIN TONIGHT.

Members Seek New Coach and Some More Theatre Parties.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Deutscher Verein will be held this evening at 8 o'clock, in Room 12, Houston Hall. New members will be elected and a corresponding secretary chosen. A full turnout is requested.

A committee was appointed to consider and arrange for the annual play given by the Verein, and its report will be heard tonight. This committee consists of R. A. Kern, D. G. Magrane, and H. D. Learned. Ernest Robert, who coached the play last year, has accepted a regular position elsewhere, but another coach will be immediately secured.

As has been the custom in former years, theatre parties will be given from time in time at the German Theatre. Arrangements for the first of these will be completed this evening. A movement is also on foot to secure permanent club-rooms near the campus.

VICE-PROVOST IN CHAPEL.

Dr. Smith Urges Missionary Work at College—Over Two Hundred Present.

Over two hundred men were present when Vice-Provost Edgar F. Smith made a plea in Chapel yesterday morning for every Pennsylvania man to do, on every possible occasion, anything that lay in his power in the service of the "Great Master."

He told the story of great missionary, David Zeisberger, and likened him to the Apostle Paul, in his preaching among the Indians. He learned their languages and customs, dressing and living as they did, and was even adopted by two tribes. He had very little education, and the people in charge at the Moravian College at Bethlehem opposed his continuing there until he had a better rudimentary education. One day, however, when he was of twenty, he was taking part in some little exercise, when he burst into tears and rushed to his room, where he spent the afternoon in prayer. This was his real conversion and soon after he left for life work among the Indians of North America. He went among all the tribes of the six nations and translated half the New Testament into the Indian dialect.

Dr. Smith pointed out to the men the moral, and asked that they profit by the example of such a man as David Zeisberger.

Grapplers Crowd the Mat.

Down in the gymnasium the mat is crowded every evening with men eager to display their throwing ability. Manager Hogan has not been able to publish a schedule, because the intercollegiate meets will be arranged by the Intercollegiate Wrestling Association, which holds its first meeting in New York City, November 4. There will be one meet with Cornell at Ithaca, two with Columbia, two with Princeton and one with Annopolis, if it can be arranged to have the wrestling team down at the same time as the gymnastics team. Other meets will be arranged at various times with some of the minor colleges.

NOTICES.

All graduates of the Central Manual Training High School are requested to meet in the Trophy Room of Houston Hall tomorrow, October 27, at 1:30, to form a "Central Manual" Club.

The following members of the golf teams will make the 12:15 train from Broad Street Station for Wilmington today: Howard, Bellinger, McCall and Pettif.

Meeting of Chester County Club.

There will be an important meeting of the Chester County Club this evening, in Room 15, Houston Hall, at 7:45, to discuss the possibility of having the Combined Manual Clubs give a concert, as a last effort on their trip through the western part of the state. Every Chester County man is urged to attend this meeting, whether a member of the club or not.
