PLEASANT NEWS.

It is with satisfaction that we announce the resumption of rowing relations with the Navy is noted. In past years, the Ann Arbor event was second only to the Philadelphia rowing, and its outcome was always watched with interest. Athletic relations with the Navy have always been most cordial, and the addition of majors to the sporting contest is a welcome one. Baseball is the only other major sport in which Pennsylvania and the Navy engage, but it is certain that if it were possible to schedule a football game the underdog's body would be highly pleased.

ANOTHER ATHLETIC FIELD.

One of the greatest handicaps of a university located in a large city is the want of space for athletic exercise. At Pennsylvania, Franklin Field has, for a long time, been the only accessible spot for sport, and Summer teams have considerable trouble in finding room for practice there. The difficulty that surrounds the arranging of interclass contests is only too apparent. Intramural crew races and football games are practically the only real matches in which every class participates, and these are marred by a lack of interest on the part of those who do not participate. Possibly the absence of proper places to hold these contests at the right time has something to do with this.

Only a few students know that there is another field where this can be done. But there is one, and, though it is a few minutes walk from the gym, it has been admirably laid out for such purposes.

Now that Museum Field offers a suitable place for intra-college athletics, it is to be hoped that more inter-class rivalry in healthy athletics will be developed into the high state attained at so many of the great institutions.

of Illinois, and Danneskar, of Lafayette, were other capable quarterbacks. Magidson, of Michigan, and Wendell, of Harvard, make an insuperable pair of halfbacks. Magidson has been the mainspring of the Michigan backfield all year, and, with Benbrook, was largely responsible for the championship gained by the Wolverines.

Wendell, of Harvard, is another Magidson, and has proved his superiority over any other Eastern halfback. Corbett, of Harvard, Samuels, of Pennsylvania; Pendleton and Sparks, of Princeton; Daly and Field, of Yale; Speigel, of Lafayette, and Dalton, of the Navy, were all above par and would do credit to any team.

Merritt is the choice for fullback because of his ability in advancing the ball and his work on the secondary defense. Once started, Merritt was well-nigh impossible to stop, and after he had gotten clear, the speedy fullback was never brought to earth until he had shaken off three or four tacklers. He handled punts well, was second only to Cozena in following the ball and recovering fumbles. McKay, of Brown, and Hart, of Princeton, were also good, but they did not display the all-round ability shown by Merritt.

The first and second teams line-up follows:

First Team.
Left end. Kilpatrick, Yale.
Left tackle, Smith, Yale.
Left guard, Benbrook, Michigan.
Center. Conerly, Pennsylvania.
Right tackle, McKay, Harvard.
Right end, Plottet, Maine.
Quarterbacks, Bowers, Brown.
Left halfback, Wenidsohn, of Michigan.
Right halfback, Magidson, Michigan.

Second Team.
Left end, Marks, Pennsylvania.
Left tackle, Withington, Harvard.
Center, Fencannon, Lafayette.
Right guard, Brown, Navy.
Right tackle, Gonigle, Michigan.
Right end, Smith, Harvard.
Quarterbacks, Stone, Yale.
Left halfback, Pendleton, Princeton.
Right halfback, Corbett, Harvard.
Fullback, McKay, Brown.
