Representatives from sixty-one colleges and universities were present on December 29th at the annual meeting of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association, held in the Hotel Astoria, New York. This meeting is of unusual pertinence to reforming and betterment of college sports.

Baseball, half-ball, basketball and track were among the changes in the football rules which they recommended at their last session, and which were subsequently adopted by the Intercollegiate Rules Committee, practically every one had a good word for the same as it now stands.

Dr. T. A. McKenney, Dr. J. William White and Mr. John C. Rolfe, members of the Committee, were re-elected president of the Association, and the latter was chosen member of the Board of Directors.

It was one of the principal speakers, and addressed, the annual meeting of the Association under the title, "A Chronicle of the Amateur Spirit," was one of the most notable and general interest which the many delivering at the meeting. Too high standard for an amateur to make him average student, too many popularities and too keen a desire to get ahead which in them, and which in the American college athletics which Dr. Richard T. Whitaker, of West Point, who was re-elected president of the Association, made the public spirited and which, if not amateur spirit, contended were sapping the vitality of the American university, and the latter was played.

Dr. Palmer B. Chanties Committee recommends attempt to enforce the rule of amateurism. It is better to permit the students concealing the fact in the system of professional education, to in- held eventually in the same plane of physical education, and to permit, in the system of professional education, to in- held eventually in the same plane of physical education, and to permit.

The $300,000 are to be for the fol- with enthusiastic praise by physicians, other commonwealths and the Pennsylvania. This last will be for maintenance. This will be furnished to our state on an equal basis of these vacan- in regard to the Board of Managers of the University.

OUR WISH.
Not only a new year, but a new regime begins today for the University. This is the first day of Dr. Smith's administration. So much has been said in the past regarding the sentiments of the students toward the new President and, moreover, so many demonstrations have made sentiments more than speech or written word could make them, that lengthy discourse is not now needed. A simple expression of our best wishes to Dr. Smith will suffice. May the year and the decade now beginning bring to him and to the University a full answer to every hope which may be treasured in his heart.

OUR WISH.

Good hard work at that. The best thing every one of us can decide to do at this beginning of the new year, is to take unto himself a wholesome sense of responsibility and commodity. And after he has thus taken, let him not quail nor quake, but let him chase into close quarters at once, for the way to land the knockout blow is to wade in. The holiday weather should have prepared us well to wade. Let us keep on wading.

DR. HARRISON.

"The signal performance of Doctor Harrison consists in the plain and invariable fact that he has been enabled to create from the foundation of a struggling college, with inadequate equipment and resources, a great and magnificent University.

"Doctor Harrison has been building a University which the State of Pennsylvania may justly regard as one of her cherished and necessary institutions. He has done more than that! He has brought the University into close touch with the life of the community and has led the people of the city and State to feel that not only is the University a part of the State and city, but that the people have interest and pride in the growth of the University.

"Any true appreciation of Doctor Harrison's term of service must recognize the fact that he has been working not merely for the University, of which he is a devoted son, but for the Philadelphia and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, of which the University is an ornament."—Public Ledger.

Five Men Describe Work of Christian Association to Townspeople.

New Year's Day brought with it to the town of West Chester, Pa., a visitation from the University of Pennsylvania. A delegation of men prominent in the activities of the Christian Association, headed by R. S. Shade, coach of the Freshman football team, and secretary of the Association, Mr. Shade, his associate, Mr. Shade, Mr. Shade, and Mr. Shade, visited the town of West Chester, Pa., a visitation from the University of Pennsylvania.

The members of the delegation were, in addition to Mr. Shade, Mr. Shade, Mr. Shade, Mr. Shade, and Mr. Shade, the renowned ministering worker from the University Settlement. Mr. Shade was the first attempt made by the Christian Association to do personal work away from home, and to spread a knowledge of the activities of the Association. It is planned to send speakers from the undergraduate body to various towns and cities during the coming months to talk about the work which is being done at Pennsylvanian.

TRIBUTE TO DR. HARRISON

Fellows Under the Foundation established by former Provost Present Him With Their Publications.

Two hundred and twenty-five men, who have enjoyed the privilege of study and research made possible by the George Leb Harrison Foundation, joined during the vacation in paying a grateful tribute to its founder, Dr. Harrison. The tribute was in the form of a gift of ninety volume bound in Red and Blue, containing the publications of the Fellows of the Foundation. Dr. Meade, Dr. Ames, Dr. Ringer, Dr. Hildbrand and Dr. Conway made up the Committee of Presentation.

One hundred and thirty-six of the men who have taken advantage of the opportunity offered by the Foundation are now teaching in universities and colleges of this and foreign lands.

Fellows and scholars of the last four years may be fairly distributed among the faculties of various institutions as follows:

Missouri 3; Wisconsin 3; Princeton 2; Texas 2; Yale 2; one each in Columbia, Cornell, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Lehigh, Maine, Washington, University of Washington, St. Louis, Western Reserve, one each in the following colleges: Adelphi, Beloit, Dickinson, Drury, St. Stew-son's, State College, Pennsylvania; State College, Wisconsin; Swarthmore; as also in the following foreign institutions: University of Bombay, Manchuria Agricultural College, North Japan College and Waseda University, Japan. Nineteen others are engaged in present work in the University of Pennsylvania.

The Harrison Foundation, originally $50,000, has been increased by wire administration to $99,174. It supports eight scholarships, fourteen fellowships, five fellowships at large and six fellowships in research.

CHEER FOR UNFORFEITED.

Provoit's Christmas Dinner Enjoyed by Two Hundred "Stayovers."

The one redeeming feature of the Christmas celebration otherwise uneventful for many of those who were unfortunate enough to have to remain in the city the whole day was the Provoit's annual dinner in Houston Hall on Christmas night. Two hundred men, representing twenty-five different states of the Union and forty foreign countries, were gathered together to banish whatever tinges of home-sickness they may have felt. Cheer and jollity reigned for fully four hours. After a roast beast, a native of each country and state represented was called upon for a speech. Gratitude to the Provost and Mrs. Harrison was the keynote of every one.

Before leaving, Mrs. Harrison assured those present that, although there would be a new Provost for 1911, the Christmas dinner would not be discontinued.

LECTURES OF MONTH.

Talks About Sound to Be Held Under Harrison Foundation.

January will see, or better hear, a-another series of lectures under the George Leb Harrison Foundation. This time the talks are to be about "Sound in Speech and Music," and will be delivered by Professor A. G. Webster, of Clark University. Dr. Webster is a physician of note. He has written journals on electricity and dynamics, and in 1895 he was awarded the Thompson Prize of 1,000 francs. The lectures, of which there are to be six all, will deal principally with the production, reproduction, transmission and management of sound. They will take place in Houston Hall on January 12, 13, 19, 28, 29, and 27.

Among other lectures which students will hear during the present month are: those by A. G. Webster on Friday evenings, in Logan Hall, under the auspices of the Junior Medical School. These lectures are to be in popular vein and will treat of such subjects as the "Eye," the "Nose," the "Oarnation" and "The Fly."

A re-examination of 90s will be held in Roos in Baudal Morgan Laboratories on Saturday, January 7, 1911, at 4 o'clock.
