Distinguished Surgeon Appears at University

The announcement of Dr. John B. Deaver, recently elected Professor of Clinical Surgery, of his lecture on Monday, noon at the Medical School yesterday afternoon was the sign for a wild outbreak of applause which continued unaltered for several minutes and was not arrested until the distinguished guest raised his hand as a token of entire satisfaction. Indeed, the audience had already expressed his appreciation and his bow in return was greeted with the enthusiasm of the students of this University for the beneficent exercise of Anatomy, and as a sign of their approval of his position as a Trustee of the University. Further, it is my joy to announce that he is to speak to us again, and I shall be happy to learn whether he will bring his address to a close by his election as a Trustee of the University.

Yesterday was Dr. Deaver's first appearance before the students as a Professor of Clinical Surgery, and there was a volume of enthusiasm such as the Medical School had never seen before. Not only was the entire fourth year Medical Class present but Dr. Deaver also delivered a lecture on the diagnosis of Bright's disease from Dr. John Wilson's Lecture Hall, and after the Medical School at least twelve men to speak, and some of them to speak in the future. The evening's events will be in connection with the University Day exercises. This event is given each year at the University and is always well attended by those interested in archaeological excavations, and the students are always interested in his work. The exercises will be followed by a banquet, given by the Trustees of the University and the Medical School of the University. The banquet will be served at 6 o'clock, and the dinner will be served at 7 o'clock. INVAULABLE.

The tremendous ovation tendered Dr. John H. Deaver yesterday after noon by the fourth year Medical Class, the staff of the University Hospital and several distinguished surgeons upon his first appearance at the University as Professor of Clinical Surgery is a proper indication of the high esteem with which he is generally regarded, not only at Pennsylvania, but throughout the entire country. The University, and the Medical School in particular, may well be proud to add to its faculty the name of one of the world's most distinguished surgeons. Among the medical professors Dr. Deaver is renowned for his ability as a lecturer, his profound scientific knowledge and his marvelous dexterity and surgical skill.

To be given the opportunity of attending the clinics of a surgeon of his ability and prestige in the profession is a privilege now open to the medical students of this University. And we predict that the knowledge thus obtained by them will soon be put to the twofold use of greatly furthering the realm of medical science and of giving to our Medical School an even more enviable reputation than it now enjoys.

ALL OUT!

In intercollegiate athletics it is usually found that the most intensely rivalrous estates between institutions located near one another. So we at Pennsylvania have no keener contests than those with Swarthmore. In the past few years we have met them in but two sports, basketball and baseball, and both the games have been marked by the stubborness with which the teams fought for victory. Tonight the Varsity five meets Swarthmore in the annual basketball game. Already half of the seats have been taken up by the adherents of the latter team. That the Varsity's chances for winning may not be im-

Full Dress Suits

The making of Full-dress Suits is an important part of our business because it seems to if every customer we have places an order with us.

This condition is due to our success in the St, in the finish of the garments and the modernity in price. We make a fine silk-lined suit at $45 and one at $60 is also a leader.

Do not forget that this is no higher than a ready-made Suit, yet the latter will be outgrown in a year perhaps, whereas we will last the lifetime, owing to the fact that we provide large outfits. Which will you choose?

Perhaps you only need a coat? Or a white vest? Of the latter, we show a number of distinctive and different taste.

But college men have a language of their own and their appreciation is expressed in the number of Fatimas they smoke. 20 for 15 cents. Packed inexpensively, and you get 10 additional.
