BAIN SPOILED BASE BALL TRIP
Twelve Games Called Off—Vanity Returned on Monday—Two Victories and One Defeat.

The Vanity base ball team returned yesterday from the annual Southern tour, and was met by a crowd of enthusiastic supporters who gave them a hearty welcome. The team brought back with them some interesting stories of their experiences, and they were all agreeably surprised by the weather and the enthusiasm of the Southern fans.

The vanity team is made up of some of the best players in the country, and they have been the pride of the university for many years. This year the team was led by Coach John Smith, who is regarded as one of the best coaches in the country. The team was composed of some of the finest players in the country, and they were expected to do well in the Southern tour.

However, things did not go as expected. The team encountered some difficulties with the weather, which was cold and rainy in many places. This made it difficult for the players to perform at their best, and they were unable to win against some of the stronger teams.

Despite these setbacks, the team managed to win two games and lose one. The games were played in different locations, and the team had to adapt to the changing conditions.

The team returned to Pennsylvania on Monday, and they were greeted by a large crowd of supporters. The team was led by Coach Smith, who thanked the fans for their support and promised to do better in the future.

The team will continue their season with home games against some of the top teams in the country. The team will be looking to improve their record and show their fans that they are capable of winning.

Relic of Early Collegiate Days Discovered Under College Hall.

Uncovered and Selden away in a corner of the vault under Van Mill. This is an ancient relic of bygone college days, which has been hidden away for many years.

The relic was discovered during the recent excavation of the vault. The Vault is one of the most historic places in the university, and it is the repository of many valuable relics.

The relic is a bell, which is an important piece of history. The bell was used during the early days of the university, and it is the oldest bell that has ever been found on the campus.

of the great meaning of our great University. May the hearts of every one of us forever be stirred up by the spark that we may always remember that no time is ever too busy or too idle, no act ever too big or too small, but that it may help to express our gratitude to the multitude of blessed things which we see up in the beloved name of Pennsylvania, that we may remember always to try to do the best we can, and if we can, then the end the consciousness may be ours that we have loved our alma mater well.

IMMIGRATION LAWS INADEQUATE

Prof. Learned discusses Money Requirement, Advocates Health and Character.

In an address before the annual convention of the American Philosophical Association Thursday, Professor Marlin D. Learned, of the German Department, sharply criticized the present money requirement, especially in regard to the qualifications set forth in the Immigration law for persons of this country.

Professor Learned insisted that too much has been laid upon the immigrant's financial fitness to enter the country, whereas the prime qualifications should be soundness of body, strength of character and a determined intention to become bona fide citizens.

According to Professor Learned, the police should keep track of every alien who would become a citizen, and government schools should be established for instructing the foreign element in English. He also advocated that the government should see to the proper distribution of the immigrants throughout the country, and that efforts should be made to find out how much such a large group has brought to the country, how it has affected the country and how the country has affected it.

His subject was "The Ruth German Immigration and the Immigration Question of Today."

PICTURE GIVING.

The pleasant custom, which has been prevalent among Students of trading photographs before graduation, is now firmly rooted that it receives no encouragement. Just a word of advice, however, to the effect that there is not a better habit in doing things than the doing of them early. Oliver's rift was not the only one who could profit by anticipating the rush. And, although picture-taking is not warfare, will Shakespeare's popular remark that war is like that.

IN COMING YEARS-

Although the campus, as a result of the vacation period, was more or less deserted during the week just past, the activities of the University did not cease. The base ball team played a number of its out-of-town games, the track team met and defeated two rivals in the South, on the river the crew practised daily and still another Mask and Wig show attracted the attention of all Philadel- phians. Thus have the sons of Pennsyl- vania used their idle moments for the benefit of their alma mater.

To the world Pennsylvania means not only unaware that in the classroom work is the primary work of students, but also striving for Pennsylvania. To this end the final lessons have been given to our line of such woolens are now on open display at common prices.

CORONATION

of King George V.

Students who are willing to canvass for the coronation are invited to the ceremony. The coronation is scheduled to take place on the last Saturday of April. The entry list is larger than ever before, and good weather alone is needed to ensure the event's success. Barring the weather, a well-groomed appearance and inconspicuous headwear will be up to date, correct, and as if you like to wear your gloves long, wear them longer.

RELAYS NEXT SATURDAY

Entry List for Seventeenth Annual Races Longer Than Ever and Good Weather Is Only Need

For the seventeenth time, Pennsylvania will hold its annual relay races on the last Saturday of April. The entry list is larger than ever before, and good weather alone is needed to ensure the event's success. Barring the weather, the Pacific coast and the extreme South, every portion of the country will send its delegations to this greatest of relay meets. As usual, the greatest emphasis will be placed on the college relay championships. Cornell, Notre Dame, Stanford, Princeton, Chicago, Michigan and Pennsylvania will line up in the one-mile event. In the two-mile event Pennsylvania, Cornell, Boston, Harvard, Princeton, Michigan, Princeton and Virginia are scheduled to compete. At present the chances for this race seem to slightly favor Harvard, as they have a fine team, led by their great runners, Jacobs.

Michigan, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell and Notre Dame are the entries for the four-mile. This race promises to be one of the most interesting of the series, as the Red and Blue and Tigers are very evenly matched. Berna, Jones, Pomeroy and either Finch or Grant will make up Cornell's team. The first two teams are expected to cover the distance in 4 minutes and 23 seconds. Pennsylvania has a team that looks just as good, however. Pott will be blood in his old-time form, and he should cross in 10 minutes 20 seconds, while Byrne, Loving and Webb are all expected to pass in 11 minutes 25 seconds.

Preparatory and high schools have entered teams from all sections of the country. Schools in Chicago, Washington and Boston are to be represented. The great number of competing teams and competitors will enable the championships to be decided with greater speed and ease than ever before, and there will be no chance for a disputed title.

EVENING SCHOOL AT BANQUET.

Annual Affair Addressed by Provost Smith—Talk on "Business Science."

One hundred and forty students and alumni attended the annual banquet of the Evening School of Accounts and Finance at the Majestic Saturday evening. President Smith was the principal speaker, and recounted the early days of the University. The old building near the corner of Fourth and Arch streets, now the gymnasium establishment, where first were begun courses in commercial law, agriculture, and commerce a century ago, and a half ago, should be restored by the University, he declared, and preserved as a landmark.

Herbert A. Blackwell, formerly an instructor in the Evening School, was also one of the speakers, and talked on "Plain Business Science."

Christian Association Secretaries.

The Christian Association has announced the election of five secretaries who, in conjunction with General Secretary Thomas R. Evans and Treasurer Edward C. Wood, will conduct the work of the Association next year. These secretaries are: H. Mottle Kuenzietter, (J. W.) who will act as resident secretary at the Settlement House; J. E. Herr, (J. W.) will have charge of the Bible Study work; Dana G. How, (J. W.) who will continue as head of the Employment Bureau; John K. Sharpick, (J. W.) who will be the church secretary, and R. M. Shade, who will have charge of the industrial work.

Gym, System Interests Germans.

The director of the International Hygiene Exhibition in Dresden, Germany, has asked the University to send them additional pictures illustrating the system of physical education now in vogue at Pennsylvania. A few months ago he exhibited the kind of this was sent to Dresden. This exhibit so delighted the secretaries of the Exhibition that they decided to investigate further into the system of physical education at the University. Accordingly, eighty-eight pictures of athletes and students taking gymnastics work were sent to Dresden during the Easter vacation.

WORKING THEIR WAY.

One-third of Law School Seniors Are Helping Themselves Through. Only a Few Plutocrats.

One-third of the members of the Senior Class at the Law School of the University are working their way through. Statistics recently compiled show that 26 men out of a total of 75 who earn more than $75 is living in order to study law. The most popular method of earning money is that of tutoring. There are some men who have more than one engagement. One of the students is managing a hotel bar; another is a telegraph operator; another a railroad ticket agent; three are professional stenographers; two have positions in a deputy attorney-general's office; several are salesmen while studying law, but have been able to save enough money to get married. As a rule, the men who are working during the way through the law school manage to pass their examinations, but they have little time for anything but study and work.

Ten students in the Senior Class of the law school are sons of wealthy people. Several will eventually inherit millions, while the real are able to afford automobiles and the other accessories of a comfortable home.
