The Yale crew was over- shadowed by the Intercollegiate race on the Connecticut River Saturday afternoon. At no time in the race was there any possibility of defeat. The Yale boat was a perfect number, each man pulling well in hand at all points and crossing the finish line with six lengths to spare in record time. The Yale rowers were real winners, and hand in hand with the other members of the Harvard crew, crossed the finish line at 20 and 15 seconds. A warm sun, a down- stream breeze, and favorable conditions made the race ideal. On account of the crowded professional and intercollegiate length of the course fifty thousand spectators are expected to be on hand to witness the great race. The crew, the North River people, crossed the top of the hills for miles black with spectators. Half-way down the course the sunburned throng of horsemen, carriages, and motor cars made a roar, but the Yale crew, with the onlookers, pulled away by a gaily colored patch—the famous blue and gold, which has won so many as the Yale Blue. The Yale crew made a desperate effort to close the gap, but it was useless. They were ahead full fifteen lengths and the finish was not in doubt but they were the only men who pulled well in hand and left the Harvard men wide behind on the scarlet and blue streamers. The Yale crew was the only one which could approach the Harvard crew. The Harvard crew had the best blend of all the crew, and was not in the least interfered with by the public, and many others who had not been around the course. Harvard won by fifteen lengths in the final time of 20 and 15 seconds.

PHARISEE AND PUBLICAN

Dr. Tomkins Recites Old Prable to Impress Students with Importance of Humility Before God.

Applying the parable of the Pharisee and the Publican to present day religion, the Rev. Dr. Floyd W. Tomkins, rector of Trinity Church, Philadelphia, and a Trustee of the University, Christian Association, addressed a large number of undergraduates at the Sunday morning services in Hoskinson Hall.

"We have today too much of the Pharisee's way of looking at religion. The parable is a kind of revelation that is good of itself," said Dr. Tomkins.

The Pharisee of the parable represented a type that was popularly supposed to be satisfying in religious duty, free from adultery and other recognized sins, and yet Christ rebuked the self-righteous Publican, who was noted for his impurity and despised because of his service as a tax collector under the Roman Government, and said that he was more worthy in the eyes of the Father than the Pharisee. It was because the Publican felt the need of Christ, while the proud Pharisee thanked God that he was not like the other man.

"Oh, the poverty of the pride held by the church-going man who sets himself on a pedestal above the man in the notice. It's a splendid thing to recognize one's own success, but it's a far greater thing for one to acknowledge his failure. The measure of a true man is not seen in counting out to God. No man in a Christian who thinks he knows all the truth: the real Christian feels his need of God, and he is the man who knows that God is behind his work with all His power, love and mercy. Hunger for God calls progress, and the man who buries for freedom from care wins worth," concluded Dr. Tomkins.

COWBOY LIFE IN SONG.

"Maverick" Poetry of the Plains will Be the Subject of Lecture.

Professor John A. Lomax, of the University of Texas, the only living authority on the real life and poetry of the West, will lecture on "Cowboy Ballads" in Houston Hall at 4 o'clock tomorrow evening.

The ballads are full of human rhythm characteristic of the life. They have been taken down at first hand by Professor Lomax as they were recited and sung around the campfire or in the back of schooners. Stories of romance, mining life, Indian fables and Western romances are depicted.

The lecture will be illustrated by recitations of several of the ballads, given in the intonation used by the cowboys.

FRESHMEN WIN CLOSE MEET

Take Annual Track Meet with Cornell Youngsters by Three Points, 85-57. McCurdy Lowers Two-mile Record.

With the narrow margin of three points, the Freshmen managed to nosed out a victory over the Cornell Fresh track team on Franklin Field Saturday afternoon. The score being 60 points to 57. At no time during the meet was either team more than a few points ahead of its rival, and every event was watched with the closest interest. The most exciting race of the day was the two-mile, with McCurdy, of Pennsylvania, and Evans, of Cornell, fighting it out for first place. Throughout the race these two runners were neck and neck, and it was only after a heart-breaking sprint in the last thirty yards that McCurdy managed to win by about ten inches. He broke the former record for the distance by eight seconds. Before Cornell in 1898, set a mark of 19 minutes flat, but McCurdy succeeded in doing it in 3 minutes 51.45 seconds.

Marshall had no trouble in winning both the 60 and 220-yard dashes. In the former dash he managed to cover the distance in 10 seconds flat, and in the 220-yard dash, in 22 seconds flat.

Nance, the remarkable young broad jumper of the Cornell team, lived to his reputation and jumped 22 feet 3/4 inches. This is a remarkable jump for a Freshman and would in all probability secure a place in the intercollegiate records. The summary of events is as follows:

One Mile—Won by Bergoff, Cornell; second, Tremont, Cornell; third, Madura, Pennsylvania. Time, 5.37.43.

Pennsylvania Run—Won by McCurdy, Pennsylvania; second, Evans, Cornell; third, Kinley, Cornell. Time, 9.51.15.

Field Events.

Hammer Throw—Won by Borden, Pennsylvania, distance, 137 feet 3 inches; second, Mines, Cornell; distance, 117 feet 5/4 inches; third, Murphy, Pennsylvania, distance, 114 feet 11/2 inches.

High Jump—Won by Crafta, Pennsylvania, height, 5 feet 6 inches; second, tie between Borden, of Cornell, and Rahn, Pennsylvania, height, 5 feet 4 inches.

Broad Jump—Won by Fane, Cornell, 22 feet 2 1/4 inches; second, tie between Cornell and Pennsylvania, distance, 21 feet 15 1/2 inches.

Pole Vault—Won by Crafts, Pennsylvania, height, 10 feet 6 inches; second, tie between Van Schaack and Hill, Cornell, 10 feet 4 1/2 inches.

Shot Put—Won by Coffee, Cornell, distance, 41 feet 7 1/2 inches; second, Van Atren, Pennsylvania, distance, 35 feet 3 inches; third, Noonan, Pennsylvania, distance, 31 feet 5 1/2 inches.
