PHILADELPHIA TIMES. 10 CENTS.

FRESHERMOW AGAINST C.H.S.
First Year Eight Will Have Hard Race.
Start at 3:30 Over Henley Course. "Cateranman" Launched.

The annual race between the Pennsylvania and Central High School rowing crews, which starts at what is known as the "stone bridge" and finishes a little over the island.

Central High School has this year one of the best crews that ever represented the school. Although a young and inexperienced crew, they have proved their ability in the race with the Amphilope Felix. However, that was early in the year, and behind their eleven little strokes, Malarinian, the school boys should prove to be a fast crew. In the true boat rowing boat, Coach Ward has been giving special attention to them. One of the crew, and has now a heavy-rowing boat, which, though a special matter, of course, the start, has endurance and speed when under way. Never before have the two crews measured their strength.

The new "Carnation", which was launched yesterday on the Upper Schuylkill, is capable of traveling in the surprising distance of two minutes and twenty seconds. The advantage of the new "Carnation" is the speed which may be obtained and at least twice the speed of the old boat, twenty inches, while the old boat could not travel in less than five feet of water. Mr. Ward secured two much pleased for the new boat, for it is an ideal coaching craft for a river like the Schuylkill. A "Serenity" engine has been installed, which will greatly facilitate the training of the men.

Another accident occurred on the Schuylkill river today, when the Junior Varsity, eight, which had the same boat, eight was just beginning its sprint for the final heat, when its stern, which was not an outclass rower, out of course. Both shells were damaged, and the Junior Varsity, eight, could not travel in less than five feet of water.

The Fresher and the Central High School will row as follows in today's race:

Special Car to Cambridge Abandoned.
The plans for a special car to the Cambridge Abandoned, which was so much talked about, has been abandoned. Manager Williams had made all arrangements. The number of members of the public who are interested in the success of the scheme could not be found. This does not mean that Pennsylvania will not have a large number of crew members. The members of the crew who were going up to Boston with the other crew for the "girls" arrangements. Likewise, the difference in the two crews, except in the stroke, and the regular fore was so small that it was not expected that another chance of being tied downs to taking a certain trained state.

chew a Varsity nine merely because it is a base ball team. The men playing are representing Pennsylvania, and are cheered because they are a part of Pennsylvania, doing their best to uphold the prestige of the University.

Hence the "three teams" that follow the "mrys" are often found objectively. They follow as a sort of finishing touch to the yell itself and really express nothing. The point of the cheering is lost and, moreover, the "mrys" are often decided on the order of a prep school war cry. Other universities do not use this senseless sort of cheering. Why should Pennsylvania? It is not individualistic in any sense, which is perhaps the only excuse that has ever been advanced for its existence. The abolition of this tailpiece might be an excellent thing.

RED AND BLUE ELECTIONS.

C. P. Davis, L. H. Richards and M. R. Tooker to Guide Publications Next Year.

The Red and Blue Board, at its Spring meeting last night, made the following elections for next year:

McGaffey, '11; Business Manager, Has had much work to do in bringing the Red and Blue up to its present standard. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

Talley is a business manager of next year. Member of a Fire's Senior Society, and the Sigma Chi Fraternity. Richards is known as a writer of short magazine stories, and member of the Fire's Senior Society and of the Zeta Phi Fraternity.

Brenlser is a member of the Pennsylvania and a well-known contributor to current magazines.

The final issue of the Red and Blue will appear this week and will be followed by two more issues in close succession.

CONCERNING YELLS.

College spirit has been turned into theoccus of University life. Its manifestations are varied, but for pure individuality of student feeling there is nothing that can equal the college yell.

Critics say that it smacks of 'rubish,' of such spirit and many other undesirable things. Be that as it may, the college yell of to-day contains more visible elements of encouragement and pride in one's University than any other known method of demonstration.

The yell is of many and varied aspects. Some may be termed directed, others are anything else in their sound. Possibly the most effective of all is the long sweeping cheer that ends with the name of the institution, such as the "three long rays" of Pennsylvania.

It has everything that gives encouragement and it leaves the impression that it is the institution that one is cheering. Pennsylvania do not

Musser and Kelly’s Treatment

This is just the work you should have. It is an especially good work for you because everything is so clearly described. Its authors are the world’s leaders in the medical field, stemming thoroughness, accuracy, and up-to-dateness. That the work is down to the minute is shown by the frequent references to 19th literature, the inclusion of Eliot's "60b" and the latest advances in serum therapy, organic therapy, etc., and the recent treatments of badsmoke disease and epilepsy. A chapter not found in any other work is on Treatment of Milk Aliment—condition you will not be called upon to treat.

The Freshman base ball team ended their season at Xavier Saturday. Despite the fact that the last two games were defeats, the Red and Blue crowd never had a very successful season. They have ten victories to their credit and three defeats registered against them.

They started the season in the right way by defeating De Lancer, 9-0. Penn Charter was used out in the next game by one run, due to Brr's fine pitching. Central High School lost to the 1912 team by a score of 15-2, and Pennsington was defeated by a decisive score a week later.

Raye pitched a great game against Lawrenceville and the Freshmen won easily, 15-3. The first defeat of the season came at the hands of Mercersburg. It was a close, hard-fought game, but the Freshman men couldn't make up the lead. Yorkersburg secured the three first innings. The score was 7-5. Haverford proved an even tougher inning and 15-3.

The 0-2 victory over the Yale Freshmen at New Haven on "Bowl-Hai" day came at the time when the first year men were going at their top speed.论文 was written 8-2, and then the Freshmen won their only home game of the year, defeating Archbishop 14-9, the two Pennsylvania Military College had been downed, the Freshmen lost their annual New England trip, which resulted in two defeats, for asfar as Haverford and Yale.

The Cornell Freshmen team will not be played this year, as a date could not be agreed upon.

Several members of the Freshmen team knows the old available material for next season's Varsity, Barr and Sturgoich pitch good ball all season and should both be on the Varsity staff next year. Minds, the catcher, will make a strong bid for the place whichCourse will leave open. He is the hardest hitting man on the team.

In nearly every game this year he has made either a three base drive or a home run. Captain Martin and Davis are the two good infield men, and will fight it out next year for second base.

Payden at First and Stevenson at third base showed flashes of brilliance and will fight hard for a place in the infield.

There are no stars in the outfield. Rittenhouse is only a fair man at the bat and in the field, but is a fast man on the bases, and might develop into a good man.

Turning to the field events, there are certain conclusions which seem almost inevitable. Brodie has no rival in the high jump except Farrer and Lambe, and is his own team mates.

With Gashoff, Wagner and Rivers, Yale has a force of at least eight points in the pole vault. In the shot put, Nerney, of Westminster, is expected first honors. Kilpatrick, of Yale, looks good for second place, with Krumholz, of Cornell, and Bogle, of Westminster, also picked as likely men for the remaining points. If Meenser enters the broad jump in good shape, it is not unlikely that he will win. However, Holden, of Yale, and Chalmers, of Brynme, are making big jumps and must be reckoned with.
