VARSITY MAY HAVE TRIP TO COUNTRY

Negotiations Pending for Use of Philadelphia University Gymnasium for Tournament Afternoon and Evening.

Yesterday's scrimmage fast.

Manager Schellman, of the football team, announced yesterday that negotiations were pending for the use of the Philadelphia Christian Church athletic field grounds for the four games of the tournament. In anticipation of the games with State teams, plans have been perfected to hold a large meeting in the gymnasium this evening. The importance of the games and the certainty of a fine fight have indeed the cheer-leaders exert every effort to get out a large and enthusiastic crowd.

With this end in view, Cheer Leader Kent and Manager Schellman have used every endeavor to make the list of numbers a truly representative one.

Nowhere is the matter of providing for the excitement of the evening, and is relied upon the presence of the public to be the winning spirit.

Chairman Will be shown by the following program:

At the quarter mile mark was reached the feature of the race. The Johnson boat, the second boat, was the first to pass the finishing line, followed by the Sewell boat, which also passed the line before the finish. The Johnson boat was a little ahead of the Sewell boat, but both boats were close and the finish was close.

CUSHION WORK

'HE PENNSYLVANIAN

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1911.

MALCOLM R. LOWELL.

ALL OUT.

 balk or shine, the mass-meeting will be held to-day in the Triangle. It is of utmost importance that every under- gradaute be on hand for the meeting. Coaches and players have been working desperately all week in the face of circumstances that would bring discouragement to the best man. They need encouragement—encouragement of the kind that only a united and enthusiastic body of undergradaute can give. If State is to be defeated to-morrow, it is an absolute necessity to infuse the atmosphere with the fighting spirit which has respectively brought victory where defeat seemed imminent in the past.

There is nothing to compare with a mass-meeting in arousing enthusiasm and so far this Fall this feature of undergradaute life has been sadly lacking. The intensity of spirit which has been so apparent every year, at this writing, lies dormant. The Brown defiant seems to have shaken undergradaute confidence. This is what unfortunate with the State game so close at hand, and something must be done to arouse the peninsula. If the student body goes to a game determined that their eleven shall not be beaten it will take a far superior team to overcome the desperate resistance that their cheering will show.

Every Senior, Junior and Sophomore knows the possibilities of the mass-meeting. No Freshman should miss his first chance to attend one. The wardens and class-schedulers will be on hand to do their part. Here's hoping that the individual does his.

Whitney Club Reception.

The Whitney Club, Society of Engineers, will begin its social activities with a smoker and reception this evening at the President's House. President Swine and other men prominent in college circles will be in attendance. During the winter monthly meetings will be held, when the prominent in the engineering field will deliver short address to the students. Members of all classes of the Engineering Department will be eligible to membership.

PUNCH BOWL HERE AGAIN

Comic Monthly Lacks Interesting and Humorous Comments—Good Sandwiches. However, Retrieve Somewhat.

Copies were circulated yesterday of the October issue of the Punch Bowl, this month's output. The student body in general has received its first taste of undergraduate humor, and it would be ungracious to the students to say that they have particularly enjoyed it. Punch Bowl has won of its familiar url marks. Paper's pieces were very reminiscent, but the first issue of the year is not up to standard either as to quantity or quality. Doubtless the editors have not yet recovered from their summer vacations; the prolific pens of last year have failed to produce very much comment on current events that can be called clever or even interesting. One of the editors reads that "we, the editors, have spent a more than pleasant summer in connecting the dots set down here with our fond immolation and intellectual elevation, and feel confident of your moral support."

It is feared that the editors of the Punch Bowl have underestimated the caliber of the student body.

The first issue, like the Gettysburg get-together, has some good points. The art work is well done and in many instances the artists show a keen appreciation of humorous phases of college life. In this respect the sketches are delicious and poignant comment.

Two cartoon Brown, Allan Pryor and G. Bell have some sketches that are well worth while and will prove a happy bonus to the students in their most discriminating moments. Wm.'s "Vacation Legs" is one of the best things in the issue. "Wine, Women and Song" were the chief topics of comment in last year's issue, and the editors seemed to think that their subjects were themselves answer any comment whatever, while referred to, or to the existence, of any one of these three things on or off of college grounds is to discriminate.

In the life of college existence considered humane and a just judgment.

It is gratifying to note that they have at last been disillusioned on this point and are striking out into other fields. The editors reductions are marked by only one flagrant departure from most items and good sense.

Although there are many things in this issue of the Punch Bowl which possess unfavorable criticism, it is clearly implied that there is much talent and ability among the officers. If background of these none themselves generously employed in future better results should be obtained.

HUTCHISON VS. DECKER.

Exhibition Bout Will Be Given in the Gymnasium on October 30.

George Decker, instructor in boxing, and D. L. Hutchison, the former football star, have arranged a sparring engagement to be held October 30, at 5 P.M. in the boxing room.

A fine exhibition is promised. As Decker, before he became instructor in boxing here, held the Eastern lightweight championship, and Hutchison scored throughout his college course in boxing as well as in football. This exhibition is open to all who may be interested in boxing.

With this match as an opening, boxing classes will begin November 1, and will be held every afternoon at 5 o'clock in the boxing room. All on students, whether they can box or not, are urged to come out and try for the team.

A team from will be put in the field this year, built around E. H. Rosebury, J. W. Pollock and T. T. Ditto as a nucleus. With those stars forming the center, Decker believes that a good team can certainly be picked from among the most promising candidates of last year and from the new men who answer this year's call.
