All Roads Lead to Historic Battle
ground, Where Midshipman Clash for Supremacy.

SLIGHT ADVANTAGE FOR NAVY.

The probable line-up of the West Point and Annapolis teams today fol-

Hart, quarterback; Midshipmen, left halfback; Leach.

For the sixteenth time in the history of athletic relations between the two academies the football season will get under way today. The two teams will clash today on Franklin Field in their annual game.

Although both teams do not start out 2000 members strong, the stands will be well packed. The game will be played at eight o'clock and as soon as the most of the players have been scored, the game will go into the stands.
One of the finest features of the game is the presence of the football fans, who have always given great encouragement and support to both teams.
