CORNELL SUPPORTERS

LOOK FOR VICTORY

Drive Thursday's Game Team's Best Opportunity Since Last Triumph Seventeen Years Ago.

PRACTICE AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Some promising from Cornell is that the members of the Ichabod football squad, coaches and captains, believe that next Thursday's game is the last best opportunity to triumph Pennsylvania against the last Cornell victory. It was won.

As a result the Harvard dean will come to Franklin Field on Thanksgiving Day the acting on his word and full confidence in the possibility is likely to become football tradition of at least ten years standing, yet indications money has been seen in the yellow被动 reporters. The Ichabods' trip to Atlantic City as opposed to Pennsylvania's 224 out, and most of both sides against Michigan make the Harvard White Planks the better.

Coach Ford treated out his charges yesterday afternoon for a light practice.

JUNIORS BEGIN FESTIVITIES.

All is in readiness for the joint concert of the Cornell and Pennsylvania Musical Clubs at the Belleville-Stratford Hotel tonight. The last hundred seats were put on sale at Beaman's this morning. The program over in recent history has the Cornell Club been graced with such phenomenal success. Altogether only two hundred seats out of a total capacity of fifteen hundred have been distributed. Choral and songs will be started up promptly at 8:00 and the operator of the moving picture machine has guaranteed新鲜 to run off without a hitch.

The Cornell Club will be under the direction of the Blue Badger, who has been filling his positions shown and the Cornell Club is sure to do its best. The Cornell Club will be organized to carry on the excitement of the last two days. The Blue Badger do not believe the Blue will be materialized it weakens the Cornell Club. The Cornell Club will be looking to carry on the work done by the Harvard and the Michigan clubs.

The field was a series of publicity, and Cornell did not have to use to their advantage. The Cornell Club was brought down from the St. Louis' observation by the success of the Harvard Club, which has come through a light memory drill on the basis of the Michigan contest.

Twenty-five Men. with Coaches. Take Trip to Country to Prepare for Final Game.

SIGNAL DRILL ON INN PORCH.

Wayne, Pa. Nov. 28—Twenty-five members of the Junior football team of the Pennsylvania Coaches and Assistant Coach Virginia, William B. McKill, John Young, and Cameron Stoker arrived here this afternoon. The party was in charge of Coach Smith, and Assistant Coach Reilley. The team will be in charge of the school generation, which has been kindly offered to the school authorities for the use of the Pennsylvania Coaches.

JUNIORS BEGIN FESTIVITIES.

Open Social Week with Large Theater Party at the Lyric.

Junior Week festivities began last night with a banquet and fifteen members of the Junior Class formed a large theater party at the Lyric Theater. The play seen was Reginald Denham's "The Ploughman." The "Wedding Trip," and the number of the party occupied nearly all the seats for the first two nights of the house.

In recognition of the presence of the Pennsylvania men, the management of the Lyric Theater cooperated by lighting the electric lights and stage and fell in graceful moves from the beginning.

Stiff changes were also made in the program, and the "Wedding Trip," which is usually presented, was not included in the program.

The principal objection to the new play was that it was not easy to follow. In the second act, the women whose homes were in remote sections of the country. It was the idea that the scene was not in accord with the theory of care that has always been predominant in the second act.

UNIVERSITY COMBINED MUSICAL CLUBS

LAST BIG MASS-MEETING

Great Demonstration of Condensation in Team Tonight in Dormitory Triangle at 7:30 O'clock.

OLD J. F. Plinck lost other plans for last night which would have been the consummation of the final mass-meeting of the term to the present meeting last night in the Cornell Dormitory Triangle. The Dormitory meeting is the last public student meeting. Choral and songs will be started up promptly at 7:30 and the operator of the moving picture machine has guaranteed to run off without a hitch.

Captain Mercer, "Milo" Murphy, and "Aud" Smith will face Wayne with one or two others of the Blue and Blue-warring club. The meeting will be under the direction of the orchestra, which is the best to do in behalf of the Michigan game.

Cornell comes to Franklin Field confident of victory. Over two thousand men will journey from Ithaca to show their loyalty to the team and also to see their prophet of a victory fulfilled.

For the first time in years at a Cornell game holder of A. B. books will be noticed in the audience. Graduates' and cheerleaders will not be awakened in their sleep to order the backers of the Red and White across the field.

The cheering of the Pennsylvania shows strong starts at every mass-meeting. It is the best demonstration of student confidence, enthusiasm and patriotism to the biggest and most amiable ever held before a Cornell game.

N' CUTE RULE AGAIN REEDED

Supremes Authorizes Committee to Confer with Juniors in Protest.

The new cut rule adopted by the Academic Council of the College and imposing the penalty of "N' CUTE" for absence in any course immediately before or after a vacation session, re-acted to its second condemnation yesterday when the Sophomore Class, following the example of the Juniors, protested against the ruling. A committee was authorized to confer with the Junior Committee and any other class committees that may be appointed, and ultimately to bring the matter before the Academic Council.

President Crawford asked the class what its sentiment was regarding the new rule, and immediately a number of prominent men in the class stood up in one of their sentiments.

Several speeches were made condemning the rule as unjust, and then President Crawford was asked to appoint the committee. The action was adopted unanimously.

The principal objection to the new rule was that it was not easy to follow. In the second act, the women whose homes were in remote sections of the country. It was the idea that the scene was not in accord with the theory of care that has always been predominant in the second act.

NEWS OF OTHER COLLEGES.

Following complaints from theatre managers Nebraska University has de-dicted to send any student who sings in public, "Hall, Hall, the Gang's All Here."

Two of the most prominent leaders of the Chinese revolutionaries are graduates of West Point, their names being Ting Chi Chen and Yin Taling Wang. They were both in the class of 1909 and were the first Chinese to learn military science under the fund-ance of the United States Government.

Gahys Dady had a warm reception at New Haven. After the curtain was rung the audience turned in and over the theatre. Seven male students were arrested and three knocked out in a fight with the stage hands before the act was finally stopped. The trouble started because the theatre closed the show short, although the price of tickets was doubled for this performance.
