Margaret, the Quaker City has been a focal point in the most formal act to be seen with the repertory of the Irish Players is and thefony of tone. To think that Philadelphia, above all others, could produce the inspired comic saloon-keeper, whose morals were so shocked by the scandalous, blasphemy, that we why, that he should have the entire company into court in order to prevent further contumacy of public morals. Such a jest is far too good for Philadelphia. Here or Godfied, perhaps, but not Philadelphia.

The saloon-keeper had earned a slightly previous reputation as a producer of night by useful comment at the first performance of the "Playboy." That, ordinarily, would have been enough for Philadelphia. But his later career earned for him laurels that are too much for this center of art and culture. The Cradle of Liberty has long been a butt of the comic opera; so long, indeed, that fresh-jest material has been sadly needed. It has been furnished!

One can conceive of nothing more ridiculous than last week's court comedy. It is hard to make the City of Brotherly Love suffer by the injection of hitherto latent humor into productions from other parts. The old drawback to the success of the undiscovered comedians was that their acting savored strongly of plagiarism. So destitute of competing with Ireland's Collete comedy were they that it became necessary to place a student guard about Lady Gregory in order that she might not have their effusions literally forced upon her. That student guard, I must confess, proved that rowing and football have their place in the literary world.

But it is just a little too much to ask the juveniles of the Celtic Renaissance to be concerned with more than one school of Irish thought in the same night. For reason it might have been better to postpone the ex-

First Gym Meet Saturday.

The first meet in which the gymnastics team has taken part this year was held Saturday night at Haverford. Four teams, Pennsylvania, Haverford, Princeton and New York University, participated. It was nearly an exhibition, no score being taken. All the teams showed good form in every part of the event; and the new men who were tried out did excellent work.

The Pennsylvania aggregation acquitted itself very well, with Captain Bronch as the star. The Princeton team showed exceptionally good form for so early in the season, and their special event in "three high" and the double trapeze was commendable.

Coach Beininger, of New York University, gave exhibition at the horse- montal bar, side horse and parallel bars, and his performance was a creditable performance. Weplo, who has just recovered from a slight illness, and Wannemohr did the best work for Haverford.

Chinese Club Aids Red Cross.

Raise Three Hundred Dollars for Relief of Wounded in Revolution.

The Chinese Students' Club of the University has launched a campaign to raise funds for the Chinese Red Cross Society, which is rendering a great service at the scene of hostilities in China. By employing the Chinese residents of the city last Sunday the ten students comprising the club raised $150, and by doing the same thing yesterday they raised almost as much more.

The Cornell Chinese students have raised $800 and the Celostians at other universities in this country are engaged in the same work.

The Chinese Red Cross Society, with headquarters in New York City, brings relief to the wounded of both armies in the bloody civil war now in progress in the Eastern Empire. Tauchchi Francis Qun, '91 College, and Edward Yang are in charge of the work.

Orchestra Coming Back.

There have been more packed houses at this Winter's series of orchestral concerts than at the Academy of Music thus far before the ten years of the organization's career. This is taken as proof that the orchestra is at the height of its ability, as there is no advertising resorted to by the management to draw large audiences.

On February 24, Mr. Philbin's men will play another University concert in Weightman Hall. The Student Committee is beginning work early to make sure of a large attendance.

Seniors Must Return Proofs.

C. M. Gillies's Studio, official photographers of the 1892 Class Record, announces that there are still a number of seniors who have not returned the proofs of the picture they desire to appear in the Record. It is necessary that this be done so that the photographers can ascertain what positions the seniors must assume.

Class Day Nominations Today.

One of the most important class meetings of the year will take place today when the seniors convene in Room 106, College Hall, at 1 o'clock, to nominate Class Day officers. The try Outers, Pest and Prophet will be nominated at this time, and it is stated that the seniors will attend the meeting prepared to make intelligent suggestions as to the selection of these officers.

Murphy is Getting Better.

"Wilson Murphy, under the care of Dr. Wenzel and Dr. Torrey, is rapidly improving. His case is as much better that his family and physicians think it likely he will be up and about soon. However, it is greatly in need of rest and will probably be down on Franklin Field for two or three weeks.

Crew Race Arranged with Navy.

The Pennsylvania "Varsity and Freshman will meet the Annapolis crews on May 1 at Annapolis. This year, as last, the varsity will race the Freshman and the Freshman racing the fourth-class men.
