MORICE ENDORSES NEW RULES

Pennsylvania Man on Codifying Complete Three-Foot Football Changes Will Improve Game.

W. R. Moore, who arrives with Dr. Carl Williams as the University's representative on the Football Rules Committee, gave to The Pennsylvaniaian (February 8) the following statement of his views on the twelve amendments adopted in New York last week, and believes that a great forward ward step has been achieved by them. He is now working with Walter Camp for a change in the coding of the rules, in which they have included some of the views expressed by Mr. Moore.

"The main changes have already been fully announced and commented on," said Mr. Moore, "but of course nothing except a practical test can decide whether the amendments have anything to advance the game from either the public of the player standpoint. None of the changes have seemed radical, namely the addition of the yard line and the yarden zone for free kicks, but it will be far different now. Without adding or pulling off the old game, which allowed both of those means of attack, I think the additional zone will open up the game as a good football meet would at once try more daring plays on at least one of his four lines, possibly that a well executed forward pass would prove successful.

"One will doubt that the forward pass allowed into a yard zone beyond the goal line will be opened up by the same team where last year nothing was imagined. To those who like the forward pass as a part of the game it will be a menace invocation. To those who do not, it will, on the other hand, be no menace among their opponents. But there should be few enough to prove successful.

"I am particularly glad that the thirty yard neutral zone has been abolished. This was an artificial barrier to the game, which had to be removed.

"The change in the value of a touch down may not be quite as radical as one may think at first sight; but it will be a menace to the spectators. It is our socially.
