

PHILADELPHIA, TUESDAY, MARCH 26, 1912

PRICE: THREE CENTS

SHAKE-UP IN FRESH CREW.

YEAR-ROUND BASE BALL ROUNDS TOFORM.

STRONG GUARD AND FOOTBALL TEAM

COACHES PREDICT VICTORY.

THE PENNSYLVANIAN

VOLUME XXVII.—No. 357

LIGHT PRACTICE FOR

VARSITY BASE BALL TEAM

COACH THOMAS SATISFIED.

A good baseball practice yesterday was far more light and consisted mainly in drills at center field. The men were dressed in shorts and were told to stay in the cage. The men who were not dressed as players wore a blue and white watch cap. No one was under any restraint, but Coach Thomas desires to develop the team with practice and polish the condition for batting and fielding.

FRESHMEN SHOW IMPROVEMENT.

First Year Base Ball Squad Rapidly Rounding into Form.

GAME TAKES ADVANTAGE OF THE Yard's Last Tuesday and yesterday.

BASKETBALL TEAM

League Sanville with Half a Point Lead to Championship in Art.

OFFICES OF 1913 RECORD

CLOSE RACE FOR WATER CUP.

Wright Leads Sanville by Half a Point in Championship

In the last game of the excavation, the Baskettball Team will finish the season with their tenth victory over the management of the Baskettball Team.

The team met in the Pine Hall last night and chose the new team. The choices were made as follows: Wright, captain; Sanville, vice-captain; Ellsworth, manager; Williams, assistant manager.

The new team, all of whom have played against the team, will meet the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Delaware.

The next game will be against the University of Delaware, who are the only team in the country who have defeated the Baskettball Team.

The team will meet the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Delaware on the following dates:

The first game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on March 26th.

The second game will be played against the University of Delaware on April 2nd.

The third game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on April 9th.

The fourth game will be played against the University of Delaware on April 16th.

The fifth game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on April 23rd.

The sixth game will be played against the University of Delaware on April 30th.

The seventh game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on May 7th.

The eighth game will be played against the University of Delaware on May 14th.

The ninth game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on May 21st.

The tenth game will be played against the University of Delaware on May 28th.

The eleventh game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on June 4th.

The twelfth game will be played against the University of Delaware on June 11th.

The thirteenth game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on June 18th.

The fourteenth game will be played against the University of Delaware on June 25th.

The fifteenth game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on July 2nd.

The sixteenth game will be played against the University of Delaware on July 9th.

The seventeenth game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on July 16th.

The eighteenth game will be played against the University of Delaware on July 23rd.

The nineteenth game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on July 30th.

The twentieth game will be played against the University of Delaware on August 6th.

The twenty-first game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on August 13th.

The twenty-second game will be played against the University of Delaware on August 20th.

The twenty-third game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on August 27th.

The twenty-fourth game will be played against the University of Delaware on September 3rd.

The twenty-fifth game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on September 10th.

The twenty-sixth game will be played against the University of Delaware on September 17th.

The twenty-seventh game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on September 24th.

The twenty-eighth game will be played against the University of Delaware on October 1st.

The twenty-ninth game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on October 8th.

The thirtieth game will be played against the University of Delaware on October 15th.

The thirty-first game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on October 22nd.

The thirty-second game will be played against the University of Delaware on October 29th.

The thirty-third game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on November 5th.

The thirty-fourth game will be played against the University of Delaware on November 12th.

The thirty-fifth game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on November 19th.

The thirty-sixth game will be played against the University of Delaware on November 26th.

The thirty-seventh game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on December 3rd.

The thirty-eighth game will be played against the University of Delaware on December 10th.

The thirty-ninth game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on December 17th.

The fortieth game will be played against the University of Delaware on December 24th.

The fortieth and last game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on December 31st.

The team will play a total of forty games during the season.

The team has already played six games, winning five and losing one.

COACH THOMAS SATISFIED.

A good baseball practice yesterday was far more light and consisted mainly in drills at center field. The men were dressed in shorts and were told to stay in the cage. The men who were not dressed as players wore a blue and white watch cap. No one was under any restraint, but Coach Thomas desires to develop the team with practice and polish the condition for batting and fielding.

The team met in the Pine Hall last night and chose the new team. The choices were made as follows: Wright, captain; Sanville, vice-captain; Ellsworth, manager; Williams, assistant manager.

The new team, all of whom have played against the team, will meet the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Delaware.

The next game will be against the University of Pennsylvania on March 26th.

The second game will be played against the University of Delaware on April 2nd.

The third game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on April 9th.

The fourth game will be played against the University of Delaware on April 16th.

The fifth game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on April 23rd.

The sixth game will be played against the University of Delaware on April 30th.

The seventh game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on May 7th.

The eighth game will be played against the University of Delaware on May 14th.

The ninth game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on May 21st.

The tenth game will be played against the University of Delaware on May 28th.

The eleventh game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on June 4th.

The twelfth game will be played against the University of Delaware on June 11th.

The thirteenth game will be played against the University of Pennsylvania on June 18th.

The fourteenth game will be played against the University of Delaware on June 25th.

The fifteen
Dean contests is awarded by the debate. Thai such a mis-statement. Statement thai the "Third Dean's Trophy" should not pass by the night editor this compilation of his annual. fact, and I therefore ask you to award of the Dean's Trophy are all known thing. The Record Instantly is placed on a plane with other under-Blon of the familiar with the College. Since the last issue the Editors have had the opportunity to discuss the college papers, they determine controls editorship on represents the "system" in college; they selects. The moral Influences go, the character of the college man. His loyalties. "The College Campus," and deals with "The Aim of the Graduati.

Pennsylvania in April Article.

In the third article of his series on "The American Woman," which are appearing in the "Century Magazine," Clifton Cooper takes "The College Campus," and deals with such college societies as fraternities, fraternities and other student organizations. He also devotes the honor of the college man, his loyalty to the University traditions and classes, and puts in the word to the moral-minded spirit that underlies the average on-dergraduate.

Speaking of fraternities and clubs, Mr. Cooper says: "Fraternities have become in many instances as much the center of the college life as of college society. So far as social or moral influences are concerned, the character of the fraternity which a young man joins is just as important as the college he selects. The fraternity tradition at present the "system" in college; they select the moral-minded spirit that underlies the average on-dergraduate.

The college club is responsible for the development of college society, and there is perhaps no more literary tendency more pronounced in our college today than the making of the drama. Several important cabarets of recent years may be traced to graduates of such clubs as the Harvard and The Mask and Wig of Pennsylvania.

"Another form of society is that of the free-lance, an object distinctly aggressive social propaganda. An example of these societies is the work society Pennsylvania is doing in its Student Educational House in Philadelphia, which is owned by the Free Lance Educational House. Mr. Cooper mentions here the results that are encouraging, which are not uncommonly seen in the activities, chasing the various activities, chasing the influence with the description of the influence with which the word work has on the students.

The class winning all four of these contests is awarded a banner by the Dean. "T. R."
WRESTLERS NOT DISCOURAGED

Despite Failure to Lead This Season, Coach Beck Hopes to Lead the Championship Next Year.

Closing the present wrestling season with the intercollegiates at New York Friday, a week tomorrow, third, the Red and Blue wrestlers are laying plans for next year.

The season just past, while in many ways not as successful as had been expected, on the whole has been encouraging. The team offered several serious handicaps and encountered many difficult obstacles which were hard to overcome, yet managed to complete a fairly successful season in a way which reflects credit upon the efforts of the men and Coach Beck.

Manager Prichard had arranged several hard meets, in only one of which Pennsylvania was defeated by the other team. A notable defeat in a tie and in all the others the Red and Blue максон most defeat. Despite this poor showing, the work of the men at all times was satisfactory and Coach Beck has no reason to complain. Every member of the team worked hard and faithfully and every meet in which Pennsylvania was defeated was but only after the hardest of odds.

In the first meet of the year, that with Lehigh, only in February, the Red and Blue lost defeat after a close fight. The men were not yet in the best of form and some were in very bad condition, which probably accounts for the result. Also, this meet marked the debut of several of the members of the team, so almost half the men at that time never wrestled a bout before.

The following week the team dealt a heavy defeat to Columbia in New York City. This meet marked the height of the men's form and proved conclusively that the team possessed the necessary spirit. It was followed the week after by the first meet of the year in Weltham Hall, in which Pennsylvania tied Princeton in one of the most exciting meets of the year. The Princeton team had the advantage in weight and experience, but despite this handicap the Red and Blue fought valiantly and narrowly missed a victory.

This meet was followed by matches with the Tigers at Princeton, with Cornell at 1:30 p.m. and with State College and in Weltham Hall, in which Pennsylvania was defeated. In the meet at State College, the team was up to that time had not lost a bout in the 115-pound class, dislocated his shoulder and the services were lost to the team for the rest of the year.

On Friday the team entered the intercollegiates at New York with a weakened lineup. Rechler was absent, as was also Franklin in the 115-pound class, who was kept off the mat on account of injuries. Shill, who was expected in wrestling in the 135-pound class, was unable to enter, and Williams, a 125-pound man, was forced to take his place. Notwithstanding this handicap, the team managed to secure third place, both Young, in the 135-pound class, and Captain Mellon, at 115 pounds, winning in the finals. Cornell won with 26 points, capturing five championships. Princeton, second, with 16 points, Pennsylvania third, with 13, and Columbia last, with 9. Pennsylvania captured four thirds.

Next year the team loses but one man, Kristlicher, the 115-pound man. Captain Mellon will be back in College, but it is probable that he will not wrestle. Hollman, this year's cap- tain-elect, who did not return to the University, is expected to enter the law school next fall, and will be eligible for the team. Nihon, last year's star 151-pound man, will also be eligible.

All the rest of this year's squad will report next fall, and Coach Beck will have a wealth of material from which to form a championship team. There are many indications that two more wrestlers will join the team in the fall and Berkshire, Beckler and Crawford are all expected to answer their call.

The intercollegiates will be held at Princeton next year, and the possibility that two more colleges will join the association by this time. Yale and Columbia are expected to answer their call. Very likely that Yale will not return and meet any college with Leibach, Cornell, Princeton and State.

On the whole, Coach Beck has good reason to feel optimistic over next year's prospects.