TIGERS WIN TENNIS HANDILY

Red and Blue Loses Six Out of Nine Matches Played—Jamaic-Star Wins, Princeton defeated the Varsity ten times in 32 matches played and had won the six in the singles and two in the doubles.

In the first singles, Dean Mather et al., of Princeton, defeated the Pennsylvanians in Intercollegiate ranks. Wins from Princeton were: no. 1, 6; 2, 6; 3, 6; 4, 6; 5, 6, 6; 7, 6; 8, 6; 9, 6; 10, 6.

Princeton defeated the Pennsylvania four times in Old of the Middle. Their achievement was a great humiliation to the Blue and White, but the strength and experience of the Princeton team were clearly evident from the scores. The Blue and White team were polished off for experience in the first match and the second and third matches were easily taken by the Tigers, who played a splendid game of tennis.

Princeton's team was composed of: Mather, et al., in the second singles; Buel, et al., in the third; and Trent, et al., in the fourth.

In the doubles, Princeton defeated the Pennsylvania four times in Old of the Middle. The Blue and White's third doubles pair, Wilson and Howard, made a spirited fight of their singles but were defeated by Princeton's veteran doubles pair, Trent and Smith.

Mather and Buel defeated the Pennsylvania twice in Old of the Middle. The Blue and White's second doubles pair, Wilson and Howard, made a spirited fight of their singles but were defeated by Princeton's veteran doubles pair, Trent and Smith.

TRY A FRESH

"The perfect man is the balanced man who uses, but abuses not, his sensory nature, who seeks his mental and spiritual development and not its destruction. This is true of all the virtues, good thoughts and words and actions, which man must be able to think and feel reverence, sacrifice—and when they have full realization.

The FRESH MAN is BALANCED MAN.

According to Prof. J. M. Macfarlane in his last lecture, "The Pennsylvania College of Medicine" a study of the proper course of conduct and the cultivation of the higher faculties in a healthy man.

"The perfect man is the balance!
He is balanced in every part of his nature. He is not a sensual man, but a spiritual man, not a material man, but a moral man, not a mechanical man, but a rational man. He is the man of the future, not the man of the past, not the man of the present. He is the man of the future, who will rise to high estate, who will be thought of satisfying only the more elevated desires, who will use his higher faculties, who will be the man of the future.
He is the man of the future, not the man of the past, not the man of the present. He is the man of the future, who will rise to high estate, who will be thought of satisfying only the more elevated desires, who will use his higher faculties, who will be the man of the future. He is the man of the
