Pennsylvania Matmen May Compete in Outdoor Track Season Ending.

The announcement that the University will be the central headquarters of over fifty B. A. T. C. units is a just cause for pride in the hearts of Pennsylvanians. A part of the Law School has been given for this purpose, and from one of our buildings the activities of thousands of student athletes will be focused, but it is for the purpose of out of so many is a signal honor. Pennsylvanians thus become a leader in the movement for assistance to the boys in white shirts. For we all realize that we are not the first University students who have been called upon to fight for our country. Pennsylvania was long ago stung by our independence in the Revolutionary War. It was a Pennsylvania man, "Old Pennsylvania" Wayne, who captured Bony Point. It would be a splendid thing if we would acquaint ourselves with the University in other ways. A description of Pennsylvanian athletic traditions would help us immensely to be worthy of our Alma Mater in the present war.

Although Pennsylvania was defeated on the football Saturday, the game was won not the less satisfactory to the supporters of Red and Blue, for it was demonstrated that a new coach had, in less than a month, transformed a squad of almost entirely "green" players into a team that could hold its own in any line of work. The continual changes made necessary by men leaving for active service. It showed them that the eleven this year has a heart. No coach can get against the best college and service teams in the country. And, finally, it showed them that the team which this year regroups the R. A. T. C. and Cloud Club lacks none of the fighting spirit that has grown to be an essential part of the athletic teams representing the University of Pennsylvania.

PRIVATE'S MAY WIN COMMISSION.

Three Minutes Training at Officers' Training Camp Essential to Become Officer.

By a new order, just issued by the War Department, privates in the Army may now win a commission without the Lithoffen necessary three months' service in a training camp. To determine the fitness of the various candidates, inspection boards will be appointed at the depot brigades of the various service commands. Sergents and other enlisted men of recognized military ability will most likely be given the gold bars of a second lieutenant.

For the next five months, the Army, instead of drafting its candidates for commissioned officers from the various collegiate student army training corps through the men, will select new officers from the ranks of the Army. This action will naturally affect old officers at the present time.

Princeton—Harvard Game Off. Plans for a game between the Harvard and Penn team, R. A. T. C. elevens, for the proposed War Football, were given a set-off setback when Professor Lowell of Harvard, who was interested in athletics at Illinois, Roeger, refused to favor the plans of the War Fund Committee. The government authorities do not care to allow any R. A. T. C. teams to play without the sanction of the college boards.

Beekle to Head Athletic Unit.

Because of his success in mass athletics at Penn State, the War Department event has requisitioned the services of Bear Beekle, athletic expert. He is to serve as superior of one of the seven districts into which the country is divided to standardize athletic activities in R. A. T. C. colleges and army camps.

Theatre Resumes Wednesday.

After nearly three weeks of inactivity, due to the closing of all meeting places by Director of Public Health, on account of the epidemic of influenza, its opening will be an occasion of great cheer to both the actors and the audience.

Football at Penn State.

For a third straight contest, the schedule included a football game between Pennsylvania's army units of the R. A. T. C. of the 28th. In a tie, each side had its share of glory. Coach Beekle was pleased with the performances of the team which placed eighth of the men on these teams on his varsity equal.

To Play Inter-company Football.

Harvard will not participate in any intramural football this year, according to official word received by the Harvard Athletic Association. They will not even take part in the War football activities, but will line up to itself on S. A. T. C. campuses.

Pitt to Play Georgia Tech.

Georgia Tech and Pitt, rated last year's best eleven, will clash on October 27. Pitt will be victorious. Coach Beekle was pleased with the performances of the team which placed eighth of the men on these teams on his varsity equal.

ASSIGN COMPANIES TO PERMANENT QUARTERS

Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky. The opportunity is now close to men who have not taken out their first papers, but as it stands at present the officer in charge will have abundance of material from which to pick Pennsylvania's quick.

Starting this morning, Lieutenant Beekley's office will be open to all civilians desiring to make application to Camp Presant, California, which opens December 1. This offers a good opportunity for a commission, and a great influx of Philadelphians is expected. As far as is now known, no R. A. T. C. men will be admitted to this camp, as it is to be strictly civilian.

Washington has seen the need of more commissioned men at the University, and in consequence eight lieutenants and one captain have been sent to Philadelphia. The captain arrived to-day, and will take up his new duties early this week.

All of the lieutenants now at the University, in addition to those on the way, will take charge of the different companies some time during the current week, and with the mess hall expected to be completed by the first of the month, the R. A. T. C. of the University will soon be running on a smooth basis.

Penn State Increases Quota.

Penn State, on account of several hundred of the students being sent to officers' training camps within the past month, will begin a new term November 11. The War Department authorized the college to increase the number of R. A. T. C. students to 3,000 men. Major Darley, the commandant, announced that 51 R. A. T. C. men would be sent to a camp to train for commissions in the Field Artillery and Aviation service.

MARINE ELEVEN WINS FROM RED AND BLUE

They got down under the numerous plans in time to get the receiver of the kick, and were successful in breaking up the interference. Wilson, the man who caught the forward pass, that was the game, and Simmerman, the man who threw them, was the star for the Marines, while Garrett, former Carlisle star, was the backbone of their defense.

The game was played before closed gates, and only members of the R. A. T. C. and Naval U. S. A. a group of Marines were admitted. The Marine band was on hand and entertained the crowd with its selections. Lineup:
