NEW ATHLETICS CLASS PLEASES NAVAL HEAD

Franklin Field Scene of First of Daily Drills—Drills Held Marking Smoothly.

AVIATION TRANSFERS DELAYED.

Captured by Canadian Bishop and Hammel, the 18-year-old group of sailors who made up the Naval Unit marched down Spruce street to Franklin Field, in regimental formation. This first appearance of the new class for this review was the initial class of Naval athletes, which it is to be conducted daily, during the last six weeks, under the supervision of F. W. Crompton.

Over four hundred strong, the use of the Naval Unit presented a fine spectacle as they marched down the street in company front formations. The men showed remarkable spirit in their drill, for the short time that they have been under military discipline, and the company commanders are to be congratulated upon the fine showing they have made. After the drill, expressed himself as being well pleased with the fine showing of the men.

After the drill, and Crompton, Franklin Field, they were given "quack marching," which consisted of forming a circle and going around the circle in order. The purpose of this drill is to make the men to physical exercises to the best advantage.

Amnesties were presented yesterday in the form of applications for transfer to Naval Aviation. The amnesty application is to be made up and returned to the Commandant's office until November 12 for those desiring to get enlargement of the dates for acceptance of these applications has been made necessary because of the abnormal amount and also because which must be accomplished by the office within the specified time.

The opening of the Pit Kajzyi Pail house at Naval Barracks No. 4 was formally announced yesterday. It will be used to accommodate the third group of men coming into the Naval Unit.

Thirty candidates who turned out yesterday for the first call for wrestling have been received, according to an official announcement made yesterday, all candidates are instructed to appear in togs to the front of the French armies being pressed. General Mangin is advancing east of the river, and completely in back between the Oise and the Serre. In these operations the British have gained further ground north of the St. Marceau, between Guise and the important railroad junction between the Oise and the Serre. It one of the best.

The object of the orchestra will be to entertain the men at the back of the French armies being pressed. In the Interest of the University

K. B. H.,

It is the accepted custom of the Philadelphia University Athletic Association to select its cheer-leaders for the coming year with due regard for the position of the students who thus are selected.

In adopting the policy of running a column of latest war bulletins, The Pennsylvaniaian believes it can double the value of its column to the student subscriber. It is the purpose of the newly-established column to supply only the most recent news which will be received daily, two hours before going to press, through the generosity of the Philadelphia Record. It is hoped that the approval of the readers will warrant the continuation of this column and assure its success.

When students in the cheering section take action into their own hands and organize and lead cheers entirely independent of the accepted cheer-leaders, it is high time that they do some sorting out of the masses and declare they have no sympathy with the activities of the majority of the cheering section, a group of about fifty who have a corner of their own, led by one of their number. This is a direct reflection on the ability and efforts of the regular leaders. They very properly pointed that the students oppose organized cheering until it was called for. Their request was met with cheers of derision and mockery from the unruly majority, and the cheering was not the same.

If the student body elects cheer-leaders, it deserves that students body to support them. Men who cheer should do so because of their personal interest in the winning of a game, and not because of being hoodwinked at and refusing to follow those who are not worthy of their support in the cheer section.

DICKSON MAKES NEW FIND.

Former Boston College Quarterback

Charles White, a former Boston College player, is a candidate for the Mascachu setts eleven. He has been atmitted at the Navy Yard and reported for a Wednesday for the final White is a quarter-back, and makes a very good all-round football player. He is a very versatile player, and it is likely he will be a permanent part of the Navy eleven. The Naval Academy is scheduled for a match at Annapolis, Md., next Saturday.

"Tom" Dougherty, the former Pennsylvaniaian fullback, was injured in the Pennsylvania game Saturday and it is probable that he will not return to the field for some time. This is a heavy blow to "Dicky," who built many of his plays around Dougherty.

Michigan Upholds Traditions.

S. A. T. C. vs. not, the University of Michigan did not intend that her present Pennsylvaniaian shall upset the old traditions of the school. A meeting of the Sophomores was held recently at which rules and regulations for the government of the football team were passed. The Freshmen have taken exception to the majority of the regulations, and declared they will stand by them.
