The meeting of the Sophomore Class yesterday consisted of a talk to the class officers and the placing of the class organization on a firm foundation.

The chief spirit which characterized that class last year has begun to assert itself, and there is no doubt that this attempt to recognize dangers and problems will be more successful if it is more carefully considered.

If the Sophomore supports the movement as loyally as last year, there should be an organization which will spread it across the entire campus.

The awakening of class spirit is a sign of increased Pennsylvania spirit, for the two always go together. All through the beginning of the year were unfavorable for college unity, campus spirit has been gradually awakened to a gratifying extent.

Every man who has come in the S. T. C. or N. T. C. can feel that he is a Pennsylvania man in the true sense of the word. It is to be hoped that this spirit of kinship of Pennsylvanians will be spread by further class organizations and other military efforts.

FOLWELL PUTS 'VARSITY' THROUGH HARD WORKOUT

Coach Well Pleased with Improvement

Showing the same improvement he showed in practice during a scrimmage against Swarthmore on Saturday, Coach Follwell expressed himself as being well pleased with the 'Varsity eleven against Swarthmore, which showed a remarkable improvement and there was an absence of fumbling by the backs. To the alert way in which the men followed the ball and recovered it, Follwell's display was victory directly attributed.

Hard practice was held yesterday in preparation for the Dartmouth game. As only two days remain before this contest, Coach Follwell is anxious to get his men into shape, and he is anxious to have his team wear a victory, as this will do much to retrieve the poor start that was made early in the season.

The squad was run through a long drill and practiced several new shift plays. Coach Hollembach has been observing the Dartmouth team in action, and he was able to give the team some first-hand information about the Green eleven and its methods of attack.

In the 'Varsity Win-up yesterday, Tomlinson was placed at fullback to relieve McNab, who is resting up on account of a bruised knee-cap, and he was put in the Swarthmore game. With this victory has returned to the team, and the line will be materially strengthened by his presence.

Brown, Harvey and Neylon were unable to report at practice because of class work. There was a blackboard meeting held in the training house last night, in which Coach Follwell showed the men several new plays.
