NAVAL UNIT TO DROP TECHNICAL SUBJECTS

Navy Men Who Applied for Immediate Discharge May Be Released Early Next Week.

TO HOLD DANCE IN GYMNASIUM

It was announced yesterday that all technical studies offered by the Naval Unit would be dropped from the curriculum at the close of the current term. The discontinuation of these subjects means the disbanding of the following studios: Naval Regulations, Surveying and Chart Work, Naval Hydrography, and Signal Work. University officials stated that all of the students presently taking these studies will be notified forthwith by the Naval Unit commandant, and will be given sufficient time for examination study.

Instructions were received by Capt. Richard F. Rominger, naval consultant, that the Naval Unit will release from service immediately those men whose business of schooling would conflict with the performance of their duties. Action has been taken by the Commandant to effect this. By next week, a certain number of men will be released from the unit in order to make the necessary immediate arrangements for their discharge.

Considerable doubt has arisen concerning the possibility of receiving credit for studies taken by men in the Naval Unit. It is generally believed that students who have received their unit credits will be allowed to enroll in the regular college studies, but a definite state-ment has not been made. Students who remain in the Naval Unit until September 1, 1919, will be allowed to count their unit credits of this year towards the requirements for graduation. The institution of the unit will not interfere with their enrollment in the college in the future.

Another student who has recently been discharged from the unit is Carl C. Glanz, 23, Samuel Hazel, 23, and Tobias vs. Vulsma. Gerson vs. Had Clarke, and Goldberq vs. Goldberq.

An unusual number of students who have been discharged from the unit, totalling over 200, have been notified to report to the unit. The principal address will be made by the director of the University Museum. The work resulted in an increased interest in the activities of the unit. The weekly dance in Westcott Hall will be held tomorrow evening under the direction of the Faculty. The work of the unit will be discontinued, and every attempt will be made to bring the men together as partners and make the unit more lively. The work of the unit will be discontinued.

At a conference held between Prof. M. T. S. and officials of the University of Pennsylvania, it was agreed to set aside a hall held per month, and the unit will be designated "chart week." Owing to the large number of students who are now in the unit, and the number of members interested in the unit, the new system will be put into effect immediately. The unit will be held on Saturday, January 6, 1919, and it is expected that the number of students who will work will result in an increased interest in the unit.

Weekly Appeals to Alumni for Aid in Increasing Enrolment

November 26th issue of the Pennsylvania Gazette appeared on the campus yesterday, slightly delayed on account of blizzard conditions. The editors dealt primarily with the adventures of freshman M. R. in roughing it during these thirty days, and briefly outlined the current activities of the university. Included among the editorials was an appeal to the Alumni to aid the University in obtaining a large envelope for the coming term. As an article dealing with the demobilization of the U. S. T. C. and Naval Unit, and also portraying the work of reconstruction being conducted by the Physical Education Commission, is worthy of note, and contains much valuable information. Among the other articles are an account of the Hawthorne foot ball game and the latest additions to the Navy Library, bringing it up to date.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1918.
1918 GRIDIRON SEASON MARKED BY SUCCESS

Loss of Players and Illness of Coach Were Defeating Features by Fighting Spirit.

REVIEW OF MEMBERS OF SQUAD

Following its yearly custom, the Pennsylvania Athletics Club gives a short review of the football season and a survey of the activities of the various members of the Varsity squad. On account of the number of men who transferred, it will be impossible to confine the account into one row, so the discussion will be carried over to The PENNSYLVANIAN in succeeding publications.

In passing, it may well be remembered that never in the history of the University had any team contended against more uncertainties and restrictions, and never had any team faced a darker outlook than the Red and Blue possesses for the very outset of the season of all but one regular. Coach Folwell was forced to construct an entirely new eleven.

On top of this Folwell was taken ill with pneumonia and was absent from the field for six weeks during the time when his presence was most necessary for the development of the team. At this point Dr. Wu Logan, a former Pennsylvania gridiron star, and for some years football manager at Penn, took up his duties, without considering his services, which, while conferring an advantage on the University, his uniting efforts held the team together and kept the men in shape until Folwell was able to replace his absence and lead the team to victory over the Penn Quakers.

On the whole the season has been a success, perhaps not in point of games won, but, in point of men, that have been considered, it must be granted that without Fleisch and Haller the team has turned out a team very much above the average and one deserving unlimited praise for its efforts during the year. Of seven games played, four were won, the remainder, with League Island Mariner, Watertown, and Pittsburgh, being defeats for the Varsity.

The Red and Blue started the season poorly, which may be directly attributed to the unexpected loss of several regulars and the sudden illness of Chuck Fleisch. As the season progressed, the team gradually took form and, with the uncovering of several new men, succeeded in capturing one of the four final games.

Offensively his work was just as good.

The transport from war to peace continued until Dr. Wilmer was forced to resign his position which Dr. McCutchen tendered his services, without compensation.

THE great conference at Paris to arrange the peace has brought to the front a de-that they may pay the premiums monthly, semi-annually or annually. These payments may be made by money orders, express money order, by check or by each. Payments should be made to "The Director, War Risk Insurance Bureau, Washington, D. C."

The insurance in force cannot be transferred nor the insurance to lapse without the consent of the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States. When making payments the payee's name, former rank and organization, and the insurance certificate number should be given.

The rate table of payments and all other information relating to the insurance may be obtained at any time after the discharge of the officer or enlisted man by communicating with The Director, War Risk Insurance Bureau, Attraction of Insurance Section, Washington, D. C., or The Department Insurance Officer, Headquarters Eastern Department, Governor's Island, N. Y."

At the meeting of the University Zionist Society, held in Houston Hall yesterday afternoon, various questions regarding Zionist were subjects of special discussion. About thirty students were present, and after Mr. Kestine had given a brief preliminary talk, the informal debate opened. The next ting of the Zionist Society will be held at noon Monday, in Houston Hall, when Mr. Halpern, of Dropsie College, will address the members on "Jewish Literature."

Plans are being made for a mammoth rally, which will be held next Tuesday, in Houston Hall auditorium. Prominent speakers are being secured and a large public attendance is assured. Definite announcement of the program will be made shortly.
