DISCUSSION OF "VARSITY"
FOOTBALL MEN CONTINUED

Resumed of Work on the Football Team
Considered from Past Record on the Gridiron.

Continuing the Pennsylvania's annual custom of giving a report of the work of each number on the Varsity football team, the performances of four players are discussed today. Lack of space permits the consideration of only a few men in each issue.

James A. Neylon, '19, Dent, is the heavy-weight boxing champion of the University. This is his first year of football. Seen after he turned out, Pitwall placed him in the line, where he played at left tackle throughout the season. Neylon is one of the biggest men on the squad, weighing 240 pounds. He has a tower of strength to the team, both offensively and in opening up holes for the backs, and defensively is getting through and breaking up interference. It was noticeable that very few gains were made through him by opposing backs, so that he was responsible in great part for the splendid work of Stetter and Drum in off-tackle pluggers. Neylon was elected acting captain of the team.

Cloyd W. Crawford, '22, Ws., prepared at Plymouth High School, West Virginia, and took an active part in school athletics there. He reported to Coach Pitwall at the start of the season, and in the early games was employed at halfback. Later on he was shifted to the outside of the line and was often the means of recovering fumbles, to the advantage of the Red and Blue. He will be available next year and will prove an excellent player for the 1919 team.

Fred C. Poreus, '21 Dent, graduated from Dickinson High School. He was prominent in school athletics, sending letters for football, baseball, basketball, and track. He played left end for the Red and Blue this season and made a decidedly good showing. His tackling was fast and vicious and he seldom failed to get his man. He is the largest man on the squad and a very aggressive and very effective player, and few plays were run off successfully on his side of the line. He was especially good in recovering fumbles on his side, and was in this department that he excelled.

Victor H. Frink, '22 Ws., prepared at Northeast High School of this city and moved No. 6 on the Freshman crev. At the start of the season he held down the center position for the "Varsity," and later was shifted to right guard. He was a good defensive man, but lacked experience, and in his second season should develop into a capable lineman.

Several other players will be discussed in tomorrow's issue.

NAVY TEAM OUTFULYS
-CAMP HANCOCK MEN

This was not premeditated much gain, as Quarterback Pearsall called for a pass. Simmer hurried it wide open right end to Yeabsley, who made a plenty running back and, protected by interference, advanced to the one yard line. This play advanced the ball from the 1-yard line to within a yard of the goal, and before the soldiers could recover Yeabsley lost the ball over the line on the next play for a touchdown. Simmer kicked the goal.

The second half saw the inauguration of a passing line attack by the League Island backs that simply swept all opposition aside and quickly raised the score to 13-0. Pearsall, Yeabsley, Simmer and Showalter alternated in cutting the ball, and in less than a dozen moves the Navy men advanced the ball from their own开端 line to a position between the goal posts. Showalter scored this second touchdown, but failed to kick the goal. Howard Berry was rushed into the game at this time to stem the tide of defeat, and although he was unable to stop the score in the last period, his presence was very much felt, and the Hancock teams fought harder. He continually called for forward passes, and several long gains were made, until Cornog in succession accepted the ball and Simmer punted back to mid-field.

Once again the forward passing was removed, and suddenly Berry, the Fairmount Laundry tackle, shot around back for a score. Berry failed to kick the goal. On the reoccupation of Hancock realization it must take three long chances, continued forward passing. One long pass, Berry to Showalter, gained considerably, but the next offer was intercepted and run back for nearly 60 yards until downed from behind.

Professor Edgar's Lecture.

In an address on "India's Place in the Modern World," before the American Philosophical Society, Prof. Frank Edgerley, of the faculty, quoted from Kipling's "East is East and West is West and never the twain shall meet." He declared that the lines are no longer true, because of the far-reaching effect of the educational systems fostered by Great Britain. Furthermore, there is much to be learned from India because of its spirituality and devotion to higher ideals.

Pre-war Rules Restored.

At a meeting of the Faculty Committee of the Western Conference, it was decided that athletics among the members of the "Big Ten" will be restored immediately to pre-war basis. The Frederick rule, dispensed with when the War Department assumed control of the colleges, will again go into effect. No first year man will be permitted to take part in athletic contests for the remainder of the collegiate year.

Prof. Weegar presented to his audience an account of the numerous plays of this well-known modern playwright, and cited his work in connection with that of other contemporary dramatists.
