For the upper-classman the honor system is doomed to failure.

The following facts seem significant. New Jersey went on record as the first "wet" state today. All the plans have been arreglo for a new season's football, and a new year may under way to double the number of Atlantic hotels.

BOARDS NEED RECORD INSERTS.

Members of 1919 Class Asked to See Photographer About Photos.

Many students who have already promised their pictures have failed to notify Mr. F. of their choice of proofs, and as a result many photographs have not been turned in. The Famous Photographer-Chief Philip Price asks that these men notify him of their choice of proofs.

The call for baseball candidates has been increasing, and many have responded. The major sports very seldom have any difficulty in obtaining sufficient men to assure the season's success. It is more in the minor sports that present a more formidable problem.

Despite the fact that Pennsylvania has a remarkable number of athletes to draw from in order to set up a competitive team, we have never established the precedents of offering free scholarships to promising athletes. We need more money, so that the material on hand, realizing that the primary goal of scholarship is to be by the physical condition of the participant rather than the winning of championships.

Many of the minor sports present an equal opportunity to fulfill this purpose, since they are not played in any preparatory way.

Viewed from any logical standpoint, when a call is made for candidates for any special, major, or minor, there should be a definite and hearty response. It is needless to outline here the many advantages a man gets by taking part in a sport. Indeed, the men who participate in some minor games are the ones who appear to get the greatest joy from them. The friendships that are made on the sports field, on the tennis courts, or in the swimming pool are cherished long after graduation.

The most frequent argument which underclassmen offer for not going into athletics is that they "haven't the physical equipment. If we would investigate the history of any minor sport and note the major sports he would undoubtedly discover remarkable instances in which the supposed "unsuitable" displayed unusual ability. Minor sports offer such a variety of athletics that there is no excuse for the man who will not try some of the sport.

"P.S. If you throw down your Danish at the table, you'll need another."

The one thing which the men who have exploited minor sports have discovered is that the "unsuitable". Minor sports offer such a variety of athletics that there is no excuse for the man who will not try some of the sport. Indeed, the men who participate in some minor games are the ones who appear to get the greatest joy from them. The friendships that are made on the sports field, on the tennis courts, or in the swimming pool are cherished long after graduation.

Undergraduates have become needlessly alarmed at supposed "shaves" figuring in the Woodland Cemetery, part of the campus. Profs. Fisk and Frederick have given the first few years infractions as adopted by the Wharton School.

What are conditions to-day? We are looking forward to the closing of one year as the starting-point of the next—constantly trying to do better and better—refining even the smallest details of workmanship—this is what gives us such a firm grasp on leadership.

Models, and fabrics, and patterns, just as you would have them.

Is it any wonder that the particular young men of the country have come to recognize the merit of our clothing?

BASKETBALL PRACTICE FOR SOPHOMORE TEAM BEGINS
Manager Gardner Calls for Candidates to Represent Class of 1921 in Trophy Contest.

In order to give the Sophomores enough time to practice for the basketball game with the Presidents in the Dean’s Trophy competition, it has been decided to have both teams practice every night. This will enable the Sophomores to give a very strong team in the upcoming game. Manager Gardner stated that Sophomores who played on the Varsity during the past season would be ineligible to play on the class team, but this fact does not exclude members of the Varsity squad who did not play on Pennsylvania’s team.

Practices for the Sophomores will be held in the gymnasium three times a week in the evening, as the floor could not be obtained during the day. The first practice will be held tonight, Monday evening, and all candidates for the team should report to Manager Gardner at that time. All Sophomores in good standing are eligible, and, as there are only a few second year men on the Varsity squad, an excellent opportunity is given to men who have had previous experience at the sport to develop their skills against the Presidents. Credit in gymnasium will be given to all men who try out for the team.
