The circus will be held at a location to be announced, and tickets will be available for purchase at the door. The show is family-friendly and suitable for all ages.

THE PENNSYLVANIAN
WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30, 1919.

THE WHARTON ASSOCIATION.

Although the meeting present at yesterday's meeting of the Wharton Association was not sufficiently large to warrant the holding of an election, the evidence of activity on the part of the present officers and committees was extremely gratifying. Several of the propositions brought up seen full of promise, and if carried out will undoubtedly be of benefit.

One proposal that seems of special merit is that acceptance of the honor system be made a condition incident to matriculation. Although somewhat radical, such a move would alleviate some of the defects now existing and make the work of administrating the system less difficult. At present each class, upon entering, has the system explained to it and then relies upon it. If some men fail to vote, or vote for the repugnant, nothing can be done. Nor is there any provision to govern the actions of such men. They are simply ignored. In other cases where advocates of the system are brought before the Honor Committee, the ignorance of the constitution has been offered as defense.

If the adoption of the system is a necessary prerequisite to matriculation, such fact would be made known to the new student through the catalogue, which would have a statement that the student would be held to the rules as a copy of the constitution. Then any person who did not want to subscribe to the system would be excluded as one not worthy of the name. All such men would be automatically placed upon matriculation.

After such a plan has been instituted, some of the disagreeable features of the present plan may be eliminated. The honor pledge, which for years has been the sure point with many conscientious chauroners, will no longer be necessary. of every admission paper.

Every person will realize that he is always on his honor as a gentleman and not bound to a pledge which men regard as an insult. Because of this fact, coupled with the advantages which accrue from such a plan in the administration of the honor system, it is hoped that this proposal can be put through and go into effect next semester.

NORTHFIELD.

With only five weeks of the school year remaining, students are naturally turning their thoughts to what they will do during the coming summer. The moral demands for pecuniary ambitions which have faced us for the past two years are no longer so pressing. As a result, many are planning to have a vacation in the real meaning of the word. Certainly no unit can be found with the student who, after several years of the rigorous and grinding academic conditions, has laid plans for camping trips, pleasure excursions to the shore or mountains, or long-dreaded visits to friends or relatives.

But the average college student will not be willing to spend the entire vacation period in fruitless contemplation of pleasure and leisure. Nor will a larger proportion of our number spend the entire summer at work.

To the men who are now living plans for the summer, we would therefore call attention to the Northfield Conference for college men, to be held at East Northfield, Mass., during the past ten days of June. At this gathering of the Christian men of the great universities and colleges of the East, the leading speakers are prepared to lead the discussions which are concerned with the college man and his problems. Each viole as John R. Jaet and Robert E. Speer, by their own personal experiences, add much to the conference as it is made worthwhile.

There is not a man who has ever gone to Northfield in previous years who will not testify to its worth and power for good. Many students whose objects or aims in the have not been certainly defined or decided found themselves for the first time in the quiet influences of this beautiful spot.

Other than collegiate affairs, the Northfield drive is one for men and not for money. Of the larger universities, Yale and Harvard are each striving to secure a delegation one hundred strong. Pennsylvania should not fail greatly below either of these two schools. Aside from the strictly serious side of the conference are many other attractions. Athletics of all kinds, long talks, amateur stunts and other means of amusement and entertainment, all add to the general program when considered with the magnificent group of the real garden spots in the memory of the students who have been fortunate enough to attend.

WILL PLAY Yale SATURDAY.

Lacrosse Team to Meet Blue Stickers After Release CONTACT.

After their defeat last week at the hands of the Cincinnati, A. C., the foot ball team was fairly certain to play Franklin Field for the coming game with Yale on Saturday. This game will be played on Franklin Field, immediately after the baseball contest with Harvard, and will give the students an opportunity to see the teams in action. From all reports the Yale team is very strong, having defeated some of the finest teams in the East, and is expected to give the Blue and White a hard fight.

Coach Goldsmith has been working during the past few days to strengthen the Blue team, which was very weak against the Creween. Certain changes will be made in the lineup before the end of the week which will be announced later.
