ATOMIC ENERGY AGENCY

The Atomic Energy Agency is the federal agency responsible for the development and control of atomic energy. It was established by the Atomic Energy Act of 1946, which was signed into law by President Harry S Truman on August 2, 1946. The agency was dissolved in 1974 and its responsibilities were transferred to the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE). The DOE is responsible for continuing the work of the Atomic Energy Agency in the areas of defense, nonproliferation, and arms control.

WORLD WAR II

The United States entered World War II on December 7, 1941, following the attack on Pearl Harbor by the Japanese. The war ended on September 2, 1945, with the surrender of Japan, after the United States had dropped atomic bombs on the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. The war resulted in the deaths of over 20 million people, and had a profound impact on the world, leading to the development of the Cold War and the formation of the United Nations.

COLD WAR

The Cold War was a period of geopolitical tension between the United States and the Soviet Union, which lasted from the end of World War II in 1945 to the collapse of the Soviet Union in 1991. The Cold War was fought primarily through proxy wars and the arms race, and resulted in a significant increase in military spending and a Cold War

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

The Athletic Council is the governing body of the athletic department of a university or college. It is responsible for overseeing the athletic program, including the selection of coaches, the allocation of funds, and the maintenance of facilities. The Athletic Council is typically composed of members of the faculty, the students, and representatives from the administration. The council's decisions are often based on the recommendations of the athletic department, and are reviewed by the university's board of trustees.

IVY LEAGUE

The Ivy League is a group of eight private universities in the northeastern United States: Brown University, Cornell University, Harvard University, the University of Pennsylvania, Princeton University, Yale University, Dartmouth College, and the University of Chicago. The Ivy League is known for its emphasis on academic excellence and for its long history of producing leaders in the arts, sciences, and business.

THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY

The Pennsylvania State University is a public research university located in University Park, Pennsylvania. It was founded in 1855 and is one of the largest universities in the United States, with over 40,000 students. THE STUDENT PLAN.

There is cause for much satisfaction over the initiative displayed by the Undergraduate Council in submitting a plan on behalf of the student body for the reorganization of the University Council in Athletics. It comes at a very opportune time, as the next meeting of the Council is Friday afternoon.

For the past few years student representation in athletic affairs has steadily declined. According to the rules of the association, printed in 1914, the Board of Directors was to be composed of nine alumni members and three student members. This plan of organization in 1897, the present Council was formed with a student representation of only three members elected by the student body. During the war it was practically impossible to keep any sort of organization intact, and as a new plan is really necessary to meet the present condition, it seems that the logical condition has been chosen to present our plan. There is no reason to believe that the members of the present Council have any object in keeping the student representation below a fair minimum, and for this reason we are sure that the Council willSMee at the open of the next meeting with a feeling of optimism.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION.

During the past two years of the University's life there are calls made for minor sport candidates. There is, on the whole, a fair support given our minor sports. It is, however, noticed by the members of Council that the attention is given to the major athletics. However, there is one phase connected with our minor sports that is generally overlooked by everyone. Very little attention is given to the minor athletics. It is only natural that the greater attention is given to the major athletics. Nevertheless, it should have sufficient interest is displayed in their activity. Nevertheless, it should have been realized that the underclassmen put up the same kind of spirit and effort. We in the Undergraduate Council have any object in keeping the spirit of the thing and be "regular" play and dance is an outstanding social as well as literary event. This year's affair will be no exception, and excellent music for the dance following the play will be supplied by Herald's Orchestra. Tickets, admitting to both dance and play, are 75c, and may be obtained from E. H. William, 814 Swift, or as soon as the Cast is formed.

TREAT FOR FRENCH STUDENTS.

Dance to Follow Annual Play of Comedie Francaise Clubs.

Students of French will be afforded a rare treat in the performance of "Six Hours" by the University French Club on the University stage, Thursday, May 15. This "Six Hours" was written and directed by the French Club. The club will have the use of the University gymnasium for the play, and will put on an outstanding play as well as poetry event. This year's affair will be no exception, and excellent music for the dance following the play will be supplied by Herald's Orchestra. Tickets, admittine to both dance and play, are 75c, and may be obtained from E. H. William, 814 Swift, or as soon as the Cast is formed.
