START CAMPAIGN FOR SUMMER CAMP

DEPARTMENTS ASSIGNED QUOTAS

In an effort to pass the $2,000 mark set as the goal in the Green campus, a systematic canvass of the departments, fraternities, faculty, and students will be conducted and initiated today. This is the largest cooperative drive ever attempted for funds which the Christian Association desires to secure. It is estimated that $1,000 of that quota before the end of the week. Tickets are being sold to all members of the campus, the bulk of the money coming from the class treasury. Holders of the tickets will be asked to contribute toward the support of the University from the fund set up for the various class-rooms and other privileges incident to the trip.

CAMS START WORK FOR INTERCLASS HENLEY RACE

Freshman and Sophomore 150-Pounder Crews by Over Three Lengths in Saturday's Race

On account of the rain Saturday, no practice was held by the interclass Henley race crews which will open on Franklin Field at 3:30 A.M. Monday. The C.A.A. will take two 150-pounder crews and four novices to participate in the race. They will be held this afternoon as near Franklin Field as possible. Coach Wright and Class Coach Wilson will follow them on the river and give any uninjured number in the race. Both will be held for their final competition to-day. These two ships will again be put on the river Monday morning, the last date for the regatta being set up on the river.

JOHNS HOPKINS SWAMPS PENNSYLVANIA

Superior stick work, together with defense that was impenetrable at all times, exalted the Johns Hopkins team to a 10:4 victory over the Red and Blue at Baltimore Saturday. The Hopkins team easily outdistanced the University at all times, and after the rain of 20 yards, when the Black and Blue attack broke through Pennsylvania's defense and scored almost at will, it was only a matter of how many goals that could be scored in the limited time.

The Hopkins men were backed by their own out-standing forwards and members of the class; a fine body of forwards and backs. Every player in the eleven was equal to his job, and was kept busy playing. The Johns Hopkins team had the advantage of having a 460 yard lead on the Red and Blue.

OPPORTUNITY.

"On a small side street in Chicago, says our contemporary, the Michigan Daily, "was a little store bearing the sign J. W. Armour & Co. That was a few years ago. Today every score of ground for many, many blocks belongs to the same man who owned that little store. And not only in Chicago, but in practically every principal city of the United States and many cities abroad, stores, large and small, are controlled by J. W. Armour & Co. Evidently Mr. Armour did not naturally in his small office and at the word, the crowd rose up. Indeed, should be the day reading the news. Indeed, he worked with one eye on the door to make sure when opportunity knocked, she would be admitted and bowed courteously."

ROWING THE HENLEY EN MASSE

The American Henley, the largest regular regatta to be staged this year in the country, is being arranged by the Philidelphia Yacht Club. Many of the most prominent clubs in America will race, which means that the eyes of the rowing world will be focused upon Philadelphia at that time. Again taking the lead in college athletics, Pennsylvania has entered, aside from those regular crews, the unchallenged 154-pound crew to face Annapolis, and is also to enter a fixture four class crew for an intercollegiate contest.

Those special events have been arranged to prove the practicability of mass athletics, and they will be watched by athletic critics as an experiment in the combination of exalted athletics with mass athletics. The burden of proof, and the responsibility, lies not only upon the colleges, but upon the press. The rest of us should lend our heartily support to those who do compete."

Editor of "The Pennsylvania"

May I have the use of your column to personally thank the Victory Loan committee for their tireless efforts in seeing Pennsylvania "over the top" in the campus campaign just closed? Very few campus campaigns of this sort, undertaken recently, have been fraught with such difficulties as none have been in this campaign. The results have been stimulating and none can fail to be satisfied with them.

The committees chairman and solicitors who expended the most time in the promotion and execution of this campaign deserve the greatest praise. Every member of the large general committee must share in the glory, and it is indeed a satisfaction to the name of every University society is being sent to Washing-

BETA GAMMA SIGMA MEETS.

Society Will Endeavor to Increase Its Prestige and Popularity.

Beta Gamma Sigma, the honorary fraternity of the Wharton School, held its initiation luncheon in the banquet room at the Hotel Adelphi Saturday afternoon. About forty members were present, including several prominent alumni. Dr. Edward P. Money acted as headmaster, and Dr. C. G. Ahlstrum, president of one of Philadelphia's high schools, gave the leading address.

Plates were formulated by which the popularity of this society will be increased. This society is comparatively young, but its numbers and prestige are increasing rapidly with the growth of popularity of commercial schools. Heads of the various departments of the Wharton School will draw up a schedule for their particular subject at certain times in the near future, and these papers will be printed for distribution among the students.

DEBATE COUNCIL MEETS TO-DAY.

Will Consider Changes in Arrangement with Cornell and Columbia.

Concluding the forensic affairs of the year, offers for next season will be shown at the University Debate Council meeting today at 1:20, in the rooms of the Philomathean Literary Society. All members are asked to be present, as many matters affecting the future of the activity are to be treated.

One of the leading discussions at the meeting will be to consider a change to the Triangular Agreement with Cornell and Columbia. This agreement has lasted for three years, but at a recent meeting tendencies toward more extemporaneous speaking were expressed by members. It has been suggested that the time for preparation should be shortened to three weeks, making a shorter but more enthusiastic period for the trials. Other matters relating to the agreement will also be brought up.
