Philadelphia Cricket Club Opposes Red and Blue Eleven Today

TO ORGANIZE FIVE TEAMS

Pennsylvania's soccer season will open the Philadelphia Cricket Club, located at S. Martens. The season will be better centered, for the Cricket Club eleven will play several Pennsylvania teams, according to recent announcements.

For the past six months, several players interesting the season have been working with the team. The outfit will be organized shortly. The team is named the "Red and Blue," and the "Red and Blue" today will play against some of the Pennsylvania clubs.

Future plans for the season are to have an exhibition game with the University of Pennsylvania team, and then to play a series of matches against some of the larger colleges in the country. The team is expected to be one of the strongest in the city this season, and will be a strong contender in the championship.

Yarding Eleven A Model

As a result of yesterday's practice, Coach Keogh has picked the Penn team to play against Peddie Institute this afternoon. The starting eleven will be J. Miller, center field; R. Armstrong, left field; G. Shaw, right field; W. Gill, catcher; J. Miller, short stop; J. Anderson, second base; J. McCallum, third base; H. Kennedy, left half; J. Howard, right half; W. Snedeker, and D. Davis, pinch hitter.

In addition to the eleven mentioned, the team has a reserve list of players who will be picked to fill in the gaps as necessary.

Philosophy is a Model

Footballers, who have had several hard workouts during the past week, and, strengthened by the return of Spencer, will present a team to manager Ramsey at the soccer lock-up this afternoon at St. Martin's. The team is expected to take over the direction of the Institute, in Washington. Leo Johnston will be the preacher of the Christian Association. This class is being effected by James C. Milbank, who will also give the address. The class is being held every Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in the Student Union.

INSURRECTION, Chester, Pennsylvania, Jan. 1, 1861

This is the first day of January, 1861, and we are no longer citizens of the United States of America. The secession of the Southern States from the Union has been accomplished. We are now a sovereign and independent nation, the Confederate States of America. Our institutions are founded on the same principles as those of the United States. Our Government is a representative democracy, and our military strength is derived from the voluntary enlistment of soldiers. We are determined to defend our rights and our independence against all enemies, both foreign and domestic.

Our Constitution is a fundamental law of our nation, and it is to be obeyed by all citizens. Our President is a great and powerful leader, and he is responsible for the defense and welfare of the nation. Our military leaders are brave and patriotic men, and they will lead us to victory.

Our people are united and determined. We will stand firm against any aggression or invasion. We will defend our homes and our families. We will not be intimidated by the threats of our enemies. We are confident of our ultimate success.

Our future is bright. We will build a great nation and establish a lasting peace. We will be a model for other nations to follow. We will be a beacon of hope and freedom for the world.

We offer our allegiance and loyalty to the Confederate States of America. We are prepared to bear any burden and to make any sacrifice for the sake of our nation.

The President of the Confederate States of America, Jefferson Davis, has called for a national celebration on this day. We will gather at our homes and at our public places to pray for the success of our nation and to express our love and devotion to our country.

Let us stand together and let us be strong. Let us be proud of our nation and let us be confident of our future. Let us be united and let us be determined. We will overcome all obstacles and we will achieve our destiny.

The Confederate States of America, Jan. 1, 1861.

The "Constitution" of Today—Electrically Propelled

THE U. S. S. "New Mexico," the first battleship of any nation to be electrically propelled, is one of the most important achievements of the scientific age. She not only develops the maximum power, with electrical control, has greater flexibility of manuever, a distinct naval advantage, but also gains greater econ-ony. At 10 knots, her power for nearly 500 miles, driving at 621 miles; fan, ship's machinery, and kitchen and laundry-apparatus, etc. Utilizing electricity to propel ships at sea marks the advancement of a another phase of the electrical influence in history.

A study of the General Electric Company is the pioneer. Of equal importance is the perfecting of electronic transportation on land, transforming the potential energy of waterfalls for use in electric motors, developing all large cities.

BRAND FREEL STUDENT INCREASE

Six auxiliary General Electric Turbine Generators of 473 h. p. each supply power for nearly 500 miles, driving pumps, fans, ship's machinery, and kitchen and laundry apparatus, etc.

Utility electricity to propel ships at sea marks the advancement of another phase of the electrical influence in history. The General Electric Company is the pioneer. Of equal importance is the perfecting of electronic transportation on land, transforming the potential energy of waterfalls for use in electric motors, developing all large cities, and carrying other similar achievements.

As a result, general are the applications of electricity to the needs of the world. Whether it be a home or industrial or public service, there is not a single phase of our daily life which is not influenced by the products of the General Electric Company.
