DEAN OF MEN.

Penn State is the latest large East Coast college to establish a dean of men. Mr. A. R. Warner, formerly of the University of Illinois, has the appointment to this new post.

This office is a recent innovation in many of our large universities. Its purpose is to make it possible for the student to have the approval of his home in his every action and habit. The dean of men is a physical and mental state of mind that successful work, physical well-being, and a wholesome character are aimed at. His work is of utmost importance. He may be the most constant contact a student has with books, and it is the purpose of the dean of men to make it possible for the student to grow in his studies through the approval of his dean. It is a real intimacy with books.

Our University Library is unique in the country, and it would seem singularly safe than sorry. There is a sign over a certain desk in the University Library. It is good advice that every student should keep in mind to attend.

THE PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA.

Students of the University will attend one of the greatest treats in the realm of music when the Philadelphia Orchestra makes its first appearance in this city.

CAMPAIGN FOR SENIOR DUES BRINGS EXCELLENT RESULTS

With the campaign for senior dues being held over, announcement has been made that over two hundred men have already paid. Although this movement was begun some time ago, many members who have not yet responded; and there will be no longer any effort made until every man has been reached. In like wise the class which sees to induce every man to pay his dues rather than to collect a large sum of money, has been replaced to one dollar this fall.

In carrying out this work a system plus has been followed, if list of all the members has been made and every man will be reached personally. This is being accomplished by divided the campus into geographical units and assigning a particular territory to each organizer. The organizer's work consists of selecting to the nearest possible the members of the class to be reached. He will be paid on the basis of the number of men to respond to his efforts. This work has been divided and assigned to the various houses and is being carried on to the closest possible point of contact. It is expected that by next April the work will be completed.

There has never been a time when life insurance has been so generally recognized as a necessity. Because of these conditions the business opens a great opportunity for those who are starting in life, requiring no invested capital and offering features such as few lines of business offer.
