The teams have carried off several honors in this short space. Nobody was more interested in the success of the men students in these contests than was Miss J. P. McKee, Editor of The Pennsylvantan. The white students are almost pathetically endeavoring to put this drive over entirely. The Co-eds cannot but help to add to the success of the work. If they are allowed to try for the same things as are granted to the men students, the chances are that the men students begin boosting them almost at the same time. Moreover, the spirit shows is one of mental laziness, instead of the principal concerned can be certain that the effort will be made to bring his joke, but only that which is base and base is required to have mental effort and originality.

This is a new-fashioned world, but Murads are the old-fashioned taste Turkish cigarette. 100% pure Turkish tobacco makes them taste that way. That's why thousands and thousands of men demand them.

They gently please and satisfy your taste—and when you take them out of your pocket in any company you have no apologies to make. You know what we mean!

It is true that "ordinary" cigarettes cost a little less.

Judge for yourself—!
