UNDERGRADUATE COUNCIL PROTESTS ACTION OF PARIETAL COMMITTEE

Sustained attention on the part of the Undergraduate Council during the past month has shown a particularly active interest in the question of the Parietal Committee's action in the case of a Freshman-Sophomore Fight. The Freshman-Sophomore Fight is an annual event at the university, and the Parietal Committee is responsible for overseeing and directing the activities of the fight.

The Undergraduate Council has been working closely with the Parietal Committee to ensure that the fight is conducted in a safe and responsible manner. However, the Parietal Committee's recent decision to cancel the event has sparked significant concern and debate among the student body.

In a letter presented to John V. Whiting, the President of the university, the Undergraduate Council expressed their disapproval of the Parietal Committee's decision. They emphasized the importance of the Freshman-Sophomore Fight as a tradition and a way to celebrate the end of the first term.

The Undergraduate Council believes that the Freshman-Sophomore Fight is an important event that provides a safe and enjoyable way for students to bond and celebrate their time at the university. They argue that the Parietal Committee's decision is a violation of the students' rights and freedoms.

The Undergraduate Council has called for a meeting with the Parietal Committee to address their concerns and discuss possible solutions. They have also expressed their determination to work with the university administration to ensure that the Freshman-Sophomore Fight continues in the future.

The Freshman-Sophomore Fight is an important tradition that has been a part of the university's culture for many years. The Undergraduate Council is committed to ensuring that this tradition continues and that the students' rights and freedoms are respected.

REGANING EXTENSION REMARKS

Some new trends are to be seen by the University of Pennsylvania in regard to its extension schools. Although these schools are comparatively considered as great advertising features and of valuable service in the spread of higher education in districts which are not otherwise privileged to have the same opportunity as in Philadelphia, it is true that they have been a cause of a great deal of unenviable criticism.

The reputation of the Wharton School is particularly being jeopardized by the maintenance of these extension schools. Business men in the cities where they are located are somewhat skeptical as to the ability of many of the teaching staff, and are also prone to make no distinction between a graduate of the Wharton School and a graduate of one of the existing school courses. There have been cases where failures have reared their heads in the Wharton School, and have even been cases where lack of potentiality which led to lackluster to the extent of such business concern to make any offer of admission to such students. The reason for this is not enough to be the Wharton School, as men are always very high in those localities, on account of the extension school.

Under such conditions, it might be wise to investigate this matter to see whether our extension schools are doing as much harm than good.

DOMINION CONTROL

Because, even today, because more or less the public-private system has been replacing the old method, a President-Professor system in the denominations has fallen, Dr. Fogel has stated. Professorship, which means the formation of a Dominion Parliamentary Committee, has been nullified and its duties are to be done by the dominion.

Additionally, that the turning of the wheel of the credit card has done a view to harden some excitement rather than create any sort of doubt to be in order, it still seems that the ac-

We are always ready to talk with young men about entering the life insurance business and connecting themselves with this Company.

There has never been a time when life insurance has been in such popular favor as now; nor a time when people are so dependent upon life insurance, and has never been generally recognized as a necessity. Because of these conditions the business opens the great opportunity for young men starting in life, requiring no invested capital and offering features such as few lines of business offer.

ALUMNI CLUBS

MEET TO-MORROW

Meeting for their first conference since 1914, the Associated Pennsylvania Clubs will assemble tomorrow and Thursday at the Hotel Du Pont, in Wilmington, Del. The sectional alumni organizations of the University, it is expected that the seventy-two official delegates who have already accepted will be accompanied by a number of unofficial delegates from the off-campus chapters, and that the program has been divided among the sessions, so that the audience will devote itself to the committee reports and to reorganization of the alumni. Definite plans will be drawn up at this time and submitted to the Alumni Departmental committees before the general meeting in June.

In order to insure a constant round of entertainment, a well-balanced program has been planned by the committee in charge of the parley. This includes a luncheon and theatre party on Wednesday. Thursday has been set for the election of officers, as well as for the holding of the alumni banquet.

That old-fashioned Turkish taste is the result of 100% pure Turkish tobacco — and when a cigarette is made of Turkish tobacco it is made of the world's most famous tobacco.

It is true that "ordinary" cigarettes cost a trifle less.
