The Eastern Championship.

To defeat Pennsylvania has a just claim to be considered a championship, for it is a long established fact that the University of Pennsylvania basketball championship is difficult. It has been stated in the public press that N. Y. C. claims an equal right. It is true that N. Y. C. associated itself with the Army by three games last season. They also contend that they are the Army, but it is a question whether the Army ever associated itself with N. Y. C. In 1914, the Army and N. Y. C. defeated C. N. Y. If competitive sportsmen can be used as evidence, I think it is a fair question to be asked, therefore, that N. Y. C. has practically a clear record.

Pennsylvania has really won every game. Moreover, to win the Army again in the last game, the Navy defeated the Army, and we defeated the Navy. We have also defeated other teams over which N. Y. C. has won victories, and Columbia by a much greater margin. We have also defeated other teams, and that claims an equal right. It is true that N. Y. C. just claims to the Eastern basketball championship, but we have been fortunate enough to be in the championship game. We have been fortunate enough to consider our further opportunities to improve the system.
