MATMEN PRACTICE
FOR COMING MEET

With the approach of the intercollegiate championships, the Penn State matmen are on the practice floor every day, training for the meet that will be held in Washington at the National Auditorium on May 24 and 25. Tickets have been put on sale for this match and may be purchased from any of the student offices or at Glidden. Reserved and box seats may be had for the price of $1.00. The meet will be opened with the observance of fifty oaks. The matches will be started about March 24 at 3:30, and will continue until about the hour of that time, with the time of completion, the two will be closed Wednesday, March 27 at 3:30. In case it is impossible to finish the bouts in the afternoon, they will be completed during the evening. This is to be held for the afternoon and early night, in case it is necessary to continue the bouts in the evening.

Much interest is shown in the intercollegiate meet this year, as many applications have already been received. In all probability Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Columbia, Lehigh, Penn State, and Swarthmore will compete against Pennsylvania this season.
