LEARN "HEISMAN" dates both for managership and teams. Which practice may be carried on all fields, behind closed gates? The greater the player's form, the greater the leadership and influence of the campus to which he belongs. Chicken soup is considered an excellent physical nourishment of quality, as it is; but there have been a long list of those who have been in the Heisman team of the past two years.

Businessmen. Device to strengthen the body is the work in on-field conditions, although not all schools have played good form, the popular leader of the American Conference was not held until twenty years ago. According to management, the Heisman trophy, which is not given because of the conduct of Omar, has proved itself a great influence and may be carried on all fields, behind closed gates.

Pennsylvania Calls New Units

Sympathy Orchestra and Choral Society are the leaders of the Enlarging-Year candidates report next week.

Racial changes in the coming year. Penn State will not be in good standing, only a few men have taken the President's call. The first call has been issued for Editorial and Business managers. Violators will be summoned to appear before the court.

Wrestling will be the event of the opening sports of the University this meeting at 0'clock. Well-founded in tradition, this event is attended by all matriculates.

The Dean of the several colleges, led by President Peniman, will enter the hall robed in their academic gowns and growns. After the opening proceedings the students will sing two verses of "America." A singing from thePhiadelphia will provide a proper start to the chapter, after which, between the first and second verse, "The University of Pennsylvania for the year 1922-23. The program will be concluded by singing Hail Pennsylvania.

NIGHT DANCE TO FOOTBALL GAME

Members of the Freshmen Class will be given a substantial welcome to Penn by the members of the Christian Association. The Dance is scheduled for twenty-three thirty sharp in Weightman Hall and every Freshman is invited to attend.

HOTEL HALL UNDER EXTENSIVE REPAIRS

During the past month several damages and improvements have been made in the Student Club. The club has been granted under the direct control of the Chas. E. Beers, 3427 Woodland Ave.

The Club is a member of the Interfraternity Council and will work with the headquarters of the Interfraternity Council in all activities.

RECEPTION ON MONDAY WILL OPEN YEAR AT NEWMAN CLUB

Many men prominent in University activities are expected to be present at the reception on Monday night at 8 o’clock, which will formally open the season at the Newman Club. This, the largest denominational house on the campus, will be better equipped than ever before to render service to the students.

The Club will conduct a series of dances this year to which all are invited. Music is to be furnished by the Newman Club Orchestra.

The Big P and the Big S

TOMORROW the University of Pennsylvania opens the gates of her new stadium.

Students, alumni and citizens from every walk of life will throng the towering, commodious horseshoe to capacity—in celebration of its completion and to witness the first football game in the new Franklin Field.

Very appropriately has the University retained the name Franklin Field—in honor of the famous inventor—printer—statesman and founder of the great educational institution in which the city takes such just pride.

The inspiring cheers will again reverberate, and the sea of red and blue pennants will swirl as the blue-jersey-ed athletes with the red "P"—march goalward.

Almost as conspicuous in the neighborhood of Old Penn, as the University "P" are the signs with the big "S" which denote the stores where SUPPLEE ICE CREAM is sold. There is more SUPPLEE ICE CREAM sold in the fraternity houses, restaurants, hotels, confectioneries and pharmacies bordering on the University than any other kind.

Back Again

Fact it wonderful to be back at school. After spending four months in the midst of all, at the institution, in Europe, down to the farm or just back in the old home town. We certainly can appreciate the joy of hugging our dear ones, and of calling the tempting meals served by the restaurants "beats" scattered about the campus. The old familiar and pleasant atmosphere of our home. We have been made, the little pleasures away, with pleasant anticipation—that we look forward to—

FOOTBALL NOTES

Yesterday we interviewed sixty-seven candidates for the freshman team. We discovered that there were sixty-seven freshmen, at least, that had made mythical All-State teams last fall.

... We also learned that there were sixty-seven different prep and high school teams that had won the same national championship last fall.

... The thing that we can't understand in this is why are these freshmen so modest.

AN URGENT NECESSITY

We certainly are also to see that the Chinning Headquarters for Greeks you know, that the Freshman men. Its books also being resold for the coming season.

... Of course, we are again soliciting contributions for the column. Far be it from us to think that our staff is so few, so small, that it behooves us to increase your supply of wit if you wish this space filled with any sort of worth while.

We might mention that we are going to start a competition soon for those who aspire to be editor of this column. These stupid, or those who can write funny stuff, those who think they can and those who can neither think nor write.

... In addition we are going to give awa y a collection of cigarettes each week to the one who finds in the mood by having the largest volume of000 nononsense printed.

... G. S. dropped into to tea as yet. He had the following remarks to make:

... "Registration was handled better this year. Last year our tear last up to our knees before the summer vacation."

... The annual grand of top between the B. E. V. and Student Body is again in vigour. If the student wins the trophy first on the third.

... The French Theatre Providence must now be read again for the annual opening night. The students are mighty keen. If they point arrive on the field between half an hour before we start.

... If the judgment of the good regular means anything, this is certainly French Work for the Boston Boys.

The Freshman men. alias Santa Class is a sepia people; it would be wise to subscribe for the Protection of the Student Body.

... When G. S. visited us a successful year and wandered up the street.

LINES

Life at Pennsylvania seems to be just one line after another; these busy days of registration. The Freshman stands in line awaiting his turn to confer with his adviser; he waits those near to him during these periods of waiting. Here is the opening to start and form a circle of friends when that is over and peace and quiet seem near at hand, he power of a scrup line and a variable backfield. The second-string team attempted a series of forward-pass attacks and the overhand attack was broken up time after time when Raddy and Sullivan intercepted the passes and returned them deep into scrum territory.

Raddy's stellar defensive work was a feature of the scrum line, the backfield unitary batting repeated attempts to strike his hole, in addition to breaking up the forward-pass attack of the opposing team. Sullivan featured on the offensive, ruffling off seventy long gains on end runs, and near the close of the scrum team, squared a forward-pass out of the air, and ran eighty yards for a touch-down through the entire scrum eleven.

Although but recently converted from an end, he is the fastest and swiftest back on the Varsity squad, and under the tutelage of Coach Davis, should develop into a remarkable forward-field man. It is probable that he will start tomorrow's contest along with Captains Miller and Mastor, but the fourth member of the backfield is uncertain.

Chuck Hertman teams holding a sec- ond drill every afternoon with the exception of Tuesday, when the squad body will be admitted to view the practice. This idea is similar to that in practice at all leading colleges where high class gridiron teams are developed, and the cooperation of everyone is requested in support of this policy.
