VIGILANCE COMMITTEE

In an interview yesterday, Maj. Planck, Editor-in-Chief of the Punch Bowl, placed particular emphasis on the importance of keepers getting an early start in the competition that has just begun. He declared that the subscriptions that are sold at this time by the candidates will count heavily in their favor when the elections are held later on.

Crew Aspirants To Report For Rowing

With fall rowing practice beginning Tuesday, all crew candidates will report to the University boat house to sign up and be assigned boaters. It is imperative that all men wishing to row report at this time so they can be assigned to crews. As no experience is necessary, Coach Wright is expecting a large number of men to turn out.

The November regatta will end the fall rowing drills and, following last year’s example, gold medals are to be presented to the members of the winning crew. Candidates who sign up Monday will be allowed to participate in these races.

Sophomores desiring to enter the crew managerial competition are asked to report to Bode, 2641 Locust St., today. This is an exceptional opportunity for Sophomores to gain valuable experience and it is expected that a large number will enter the competition.

Summon Managerial Candidates

All Sophomores in good scholastic standing who desire to enroll in the track and cross country managerial competition are urged to report to Manager Kearns at the A.A. office, 8806 Walnut Street, Monday afternoon. This is an exceptional opportunity for second year men as the benefits derived from the competition are numerous.
