Soccer Team Meets

State Island F.C.

Pennsylvania's Varsity Soccer Team will meet yesterdays' oldest and best known athletic clubs of the section of the country. The seniors last year finished a close second to the speedy Crescent A. Club in the league. The opposition of the Red and Blue Ball this season is even more successful than last year. Coach Hyrd figures that the team will be able to withstand any line it is called upon to face.

MARYLAND HOF IN VETERAN LINE

Mighty Defense Constitutes Visitor's Great Claim to Victory
The Afternoon.

HAVE YOUTHFUL TRIPLE TREAT

Coach Byrd's chief hope for a Maryland team today is centered about a veteran center named Snyder, who will be bringing over 150 pounds. His system of play is based on the control of the floor, so his prospects are excellent. In the big dozen-up a few breaks slipped to the opposite netting make him the heavy favorite.

For years the Maryland defense has been in the tradition of the two in the last two seasons. Yet there is a distinctly different team today. Not only is there a thinner line, but the players are more evenly distributed, and it appears that there are more than two touchdowns. That only aounding backfield and a few losses of fortune can ever amount to the connection of the Maryland try.

Their attack will fairly, gladly run in comparison with that of the team-against-tennis, from which Maryland won the hundred yard championship of the country. SPAYD FURNITURE CO. Inc.

The extra trousers almost double the life of these Kirschbaum suits. They're superbly tailored in fine worsteds—the kind that sold last season. They're superbly tailored in fine worsteds. Nobody can hate with his body relaxed, his face smiling, his eyes twinkling, his arms extended and hands opened, palms up, leaning easily forward in his chair.

"Here then, is the secret of forming habits of feeling. Adopt the posture of acting religiously; an educated one, one with Christian education, has certain habits of feeling. Those feelings become motives for his actions and thoughts. He must learn to love; and to love all men, how natural it is for man to hate his enemies! And to love all men, how natural it is for man to love his friends! What an expensively well educated man it takes to love his enemies! That habit-formation marks the transition of a man from a barbarian to a truly cultured twentieth century person, fit to live in America."

CLASS DUES

During the coming week, large committees of men will canvass the campus offices class time. There is not a pleasant duty, for no one of canvassing ever has been or ever will be, but at the same time, the results of their efforts will have a great effect on the life of our University.

If any class does not respond to this call for financial support, it will suffer in two directions. In the first place it will not be in a position to undertake any class affairs to a greater extent than the organization of the Punch Bowl. For it will have no money on hand to meet the obligations incurred. Not only does the lower class Pennsylvanian's prestige but also his credit is bound up with the satisfactory fulfillment of the obligations to his class. Therefore, he will have no credit with his classmates.

Another influence that these class campaigns will exert is that upon the freshmen class. Under the rules of the Pennsylvanian, the freshmen class may not canvass for new subscriptions until the freshman class. For this reason it has not been necessary for freshmen to canvass for new subscriptions until the freshman class. For this reason it has not been necessary for freshmen to canvass for new subscriptions.

As a final argument and, no doubt, the most convincing, is that upon the class. Under the rules of the Pennsylvanian, the freshmen class may not canvass for new subscriptions until the freshman class. For this reason it has not been necessary for freshmen to canvass for new subscriptions.

EMPLOYMENT

Working a way through college has always been a vital factor in the development of character. The "self-made" man is of many cases a product of a hard-won fortune. Among alumni who have been prominent in college of all to the present time, the results of their efforts will be. But at the same time, the freshmen should face the future with genuine confidence.

CLASSIC EVENTS

Breathes there a man so slow of comprehension or tight of pulse? Let him come to this event. It is that upon the freshman class. Under the rules of the Pennsylvanian, the freshmen class may not canvass for new subscriptions until the freshman class. For this reason it has not been necessary for freshmen to canvass for new subscriptions.

The freshmen, who have been greatly underrated. The Pennsylvanian. Involuntary communications on all subjects, especially the fine and liberal arts, are forbidden to this company.

At Campus Churches

Usual services will be held at the campus churches tomorrow. The student discussion groups are now well under way and are being well attended. At the Lutheran church of the Holy Communion the discussion group will consider the subject “Is the World Getting Better?” at the 39 o’clock meeting. Dr. J. Henry Harris will speak on the theme “How to Win” at 4:15. The first monthly meeting of the Luther League will be held in the Parish House, opening with a supper at 6 o’clock. Dr. Arthur M. Flack, dean of the Philadelphia Hospital College will be the principal speaker.

“How to Work for Home” will be the subject of Mr. Blaisdell’s sermon at the 12:45 o’clock service at the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church. The Young People’s meeting at 7 o’clock will be addressed by Dean Mitchell of the School of Education.

The Tabernacle Forum of the Cavalry Methodist Episcopal church will meet at 10 A.M., led by Mr. Combs. Dr. Mitchell has selected “The Problem of Power” for his topic at the 10:45 o’clock service. The Church Forum will take up a discussion “Is Prohibition Going now Far?” and “Why the Turk Comes Back.” The 8 o’clock sermon by the pastor will be on the subject of “Accounting for Ourselves.” Rev. John H. Hart, Jr., will officiate at all three services at the Episcopal church of the Transfiguration.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at 8 A.M., while the regular common prayer services will be held at 11 A.M. and 7:45 P.M.

Senior Statistical Blanks Now Ready

Statistical blanks will be distributed to seniors either this week or early next week. These are to be completely filled out and returned to the Class Record of men as soon as possible. The personal writings are the first to be sent in and it is imperative that the men return the blanks as early as possible.

In former years many seniors have delayed turning in their blanks because of supplementary information that they might be able to add later. This will no longer be necessary as arrangements have been made whereby additions may be added to the senior’s records as they occur. Thanksgiving has been set as the latest date on which the blanks may be turned in. Those not in by that time must immediately be turned in.

There is still an opportunity for Juniors to compete for a position on the Record Board. The turn-out has been rather poor this year, but this service can enhance the chances of those who report now. Candidates should sign up at Room 1, Houston Hall any day from 10 A.M. to 3:00. Statistical blanks may also be secured at the same place.

ISSUE FINAL CALL

FOR CAGE MANAGERS

Manager Wills has announced that today will be the last chance for Sophomores, aspiring to become Manager of basketball, to sign up for the competition. The list of candidates was closed two weeks ago, but since it has resulted in a small turnout, the second year men have been given this last chance to join in the competition.

The position of basketball manager is one of the most coveted at the University. The red and blue team has held the championship five times in the last six years and it is probable that it will garner another title this year. By reason of the importance of the sport, the four men chosen as assistants at the end of the competition are eligible to receive varsity letters.

The Real Test of Quality

W E could write volumes of advertising praising our ice cream to the skies, and run an advertisement every day. We could paint a sign, appealing to the eye and appetite, on every corner. But, after all, every flavor of our ice cream must be consistently good—day after day—to please the public. Sales of SUPPLEE ICE CREAM thus far in 1922 far exceed those of 1921 for the same period, despite an extremely cool and wet summer. It is constant quality that builds an ever-growing patronage. It is recognition of that quality that has brought this enormous increase in business.
