HARRIERS RACE
IN ANNUAL MEET

FOR GRID SQUAD

Players to Station.

COLUMBIA FAVORITE FOR TITLE

Governmental Gifford Pinchot and Senator George Wharton Pepper were guests of the University at a bouchus yesterday evening with the Army and Navy game Saturday.

Prior to the bouchus several miles of the North road that the runner is to have traveled from College Hall to 10th, in front of Houston Hall on a color guard in the lead. There they formed a double line, through which the races pass. The band gave a concert during the bouchus.

Among those present were Major General Charles E. Lincoln, chief of the Armory and Victory games of the Department of Fine Arts, Towne Scientific School.

In accordance with the decision of the Student Council, the Junior class picture will be taken after the Bouchus.

CORNHULL STRESSES

The Franklins Society of the University of Pennsylvania finds that it still has a few tickets remaining for the three concerts to be given throughout the semester. If you are interested, you may purchase tickets by writing to the Manager of the Society, 3437 Woodland Ave., for English or German. The concerto will be given tonight at the Academy.

MUSICAL UNITS OFFER CONCERT

The dance will be in Salt Between Halves of Cornell Game and at all City Newsstands.

Once a leader of the fellowship of the English department, and J. Howard Harbison, dean of the School of Fine Arts, has been invited to speak by the Houston Hall Lodge.

Planning to talk on "Lottley, His Works" in the Auditorium of University Hall this afternoon at 4.

At the Junior Week symposium, the Junior class picture will be taken after the Bouchus.

The faculty has endeavored to make it more interesting and inviting. This year's program includes two pages of individual photographs and two group pictures. These two pages offer a larger selection of sports than ever before.

A feature of the book called Ill and its endeavors to precipitate the failure of a large number of promenaders. Cornhill has full opportunity to act upon his plans to save the leaders.

Corning Stones OPEN AERIAL ATTACK

Forward passing has become the form of activity at the school field, with Coach Dodge extending the aerial drill over the course previously reserved for track and football. In this present form, the patriotic element has been projected in the display of the shuttle-kick, several thousand spectators gathered around.

Carnegie Library has been a thrust at the race, but Captain Kaw has been consistently working to perfect the kicking off the play. He is also in the element at this feature, rather than at the nearest goal in placing the kick like the genius of the player's art, and Kaw has full opportunity to use his skill in this direction.

Smythe's Run Turns Defeat Into Victory

Traditional Franklin Field, the battle-ground of many thrilling struggles of the season, never witnessed a more colorful contest than the Army-Navy tangle on Saturday. The 17-14 score conveys some idea of the closeness, but not of the ferocity with which it was waged.

Although defeated, Navy's consummation rests in the fact that they showed the better machine, and played more consistent football. The Army received more than their share of the breaks, and what is more important, made them count in the scoring column.

One of the few times that Lady Luck smiled upon the Midshipmen, nothing resulted in the form of a score, but one of the most brilliant plays of the afternoon resulted. Smythe earned his otherwise superhuman performances by fumbling a punt on his own 10 yard line, and Belcher of the Navy pounced upon it. Navy then unleashed an offensive that seemed sure to score the goal line, but here the heavy Army defense stood steadfast, and took the ball on downs but a mere six inches from their goal.

Smythe, the West Point half general, and Norris, who relieved Barcett, stood head and shoulders above the others, with the possible exception of Garboch. The latter furnished a thrill when he booted a placement from the 45 yard line for Army's first score of the game. Smythe's return of a punt, in the closing moments of the game, from his own 27 yard line to the Army 12 yard mark was the turning point of the game and led to the Navy defeat. From here the Cadets scored the winning touchdown on a double pass, Smythe to Wood, making the Navy defense look pitifully helpless.

Track Athlete Enters Politics

R. G. B. Bird, the famous track athlete of Oxford, who was a member of the 100 yard team which broke the world's record for two miles at Franklin Field two years ago, has entered British politics. He has become Lord Irkenhead's secretary, a position which offers great political opportunities.
