THE TOPS OF THE CLASS

To the Class of 1923:

A Message of Vital Importance

COMMENCEMENT days are not far off. They will be here sooner than you realize. But after graduation what's ahead of you? In a few years some of your class will be influential leaders occupying positions of great responsibility; others will be placed in minor roles—living from hand to mouth. Thus far you have made a splendid investment of your time. What will the returns be?

Have you chosen your business for your life's work? If so, and if you seek leadership in the commercial world, here are facts worthy of your deepest consideration.

The principles of leadership in business are broad in scope. In order to be a leader you must not be a group. Yet less than two per cent. of all college graduates will be leaders. They are few.

The Babson Institute offers this fundamental knowledge of business. These vitally important facts have been put together in a class. The training covers the four major divisions of business. Manufacturin.

The Study of Leaders

Through your study thus far you are gradually building a substantial foundation—knowledge upon which you can build. Why not use this foundation in the largest possible way?

The Babson Institute is conducted for the purpose of training business executives in the largest possible way? The student as in an office—his work not merely school study. He par- of the largest organization of business experts in that particular industry. These knowledge and their own line. Factory inspection trips and meetings in conference. Have you created for yourself a substantial foundation in the largest possible way?

The Babson Institute. You will learn about this training and its unusual value to you. It is one of the secrets of leadership. Babson Institute, an endowed educational institution, is conducted by the student as in an office—his work not merely school study. He par- of the largest organization of business experts in that particular industry.

Every man who hopes to be a leader in business must have created for himself a substantial foundation in the largest possible way?

These tried and proven principles, this practical application of these principles in practical business experience. They are the same problems on which over 17,000 of America's keenest business men have created for themselves. These principles have been developed for the purpose of training business executives. These vitally important facts have been put together in a class. The training covers the four major divisions of business. Manufacturin.

YALE QUINTET AWAITS VARSITY

dartmouth of Intercollegiate League Now in Second Place; Having Lost To Columbia

SUUMAN AND PITE TO START

Yale University's quintet, the dark horse of the Intercollegiate league will face the Varsity five at New Haven, in the Yale gym, tonight at 11:15. Coming up from the left side of the league, which they occupied last season, the Blue five topped the list until Monday evening, when an unexpected setback by the Columbia five caused them to drop to the second position. The remainder of the season Blue team has resulted in many of the foremost sports writers radically changing their views on the chances of the New Haven quintet.

Last season the Yale team, coached by Leonard Terenars, played through one of the most unreausalful seasons in the annals of the sport. The Connecticut University. The five tilted during the Christmas holidays resulted in four defeats and their efforts in the intercollegiate league last place were no in vain. Joe Fagarty, former assistant coach at Pennsylvania, went to coach the Bulldog team this season and is assisted by Willy Kinkaide. Fagarty, the brilliant forward post. McKillen, the speedy pivot man who has replaced Hooper, captain of the New Haven team, will play center. These three veterans of two seasons will line up against the Reel five tonight.

THE SEXTET

Some of the high scorers of the league to date will form one wing of the offensive with Pite, the big Yale forward at the other end. McKillen, the speedy pivot man who has replaced Hooper, captain of the New Haven team, will play center. These three veterans of two seasons will line up against the Reel five tonight.

The defense is composed of Hoos and O'Brien, veterans of two seasons of play for Yale, who have aided the New Haven quintet's success. The trip taken during the New Haven team and who have taken part in all of the games this season will line up against the Reel five, which is the strong board of the University of Pennsylvania, to inspect our New and beautiful bank building at $150,000.

COOPERATION

At this time of the year, the walls of those who are less than perfect may be knocked off to meet the outside. Many others, who have barely passed the mid-year examinations, are making prevent resolutions that the coming term will be devoted to more perfect preparation, so feel that they are being largely oppressed and are not receiving a square deal.

But the blame cannot be placed on the heads of the instructors. A good many students enrolled in the University at the beginning of the term just ended were aware of the fact that they were in no way connected with
