CONTINUE HOCKEY PRACTICE DURING ABSENCE OF COACH

Owing to an illness in his family, Coach Edward Powers, of the University ice hockey team, has been obliged to return to his home in Canada and will not return until the early part of next week. Despite his absence, however, the team staged a practice on Wednesday morning, and another workout will be held at 5 o'clock this afternoon.
Coach Powers will probably return to this city on Monday and put the squad through several lengthy practices as the final preparation for the Cornell match. The Cornell team will be played next Thursday afternoon.
Since Thursday is Washington's Birthday, there will be no classes, and the ice hockey management is looking for a large number of the students to turn out and support the team. Last year the Red team defeated the Blue puckchasers in a closely contested game at Ithaca, and the University team is anxious to avenge this defeat.

Polioists Will Face
Champion Tiger Trio

Placing its third game of the year, the University polo team will meet the champion Princeton polo team in an intercollegiate match on the evening of February 21st. The game is scheduled for 8:15 and will be played on theoauth of the 37th St. Armory. It was originally scheduled for this Saturday but had to be postponed due to the international match between the First City Trust and the visiting team from England.

The Tiger trio is a fast combination, having won the intercollegiate championship last year, and is trying to regain the title. The Red and Blue is the sole obstacle for the Princeton riders to overcome. Seats will soon be placed to suit the game. Sections of seats each will be sold for ten dollars. Applications should be made to M. H. Harris at 5141 Spruce St.

The meeting of the teams Wednesday night, Arthur W. Herrenis was elected captain. At the close of last season Mr. Herrenis was elected, but due to his failure to return to the University in the fall it was necessary to select a new leader for the ponies.

Herrenis is a senior in the Wharton school and a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. His home is in Chicago. He learned to play the game at Ober where he prepared for college and since his enrollment at Pennsylvania, tasks he has been constantly associated with pain. He was a number of last year's team and this year has starred in both of the games played so far.

After his election, Herrenis expressed his thanks and pledged to do his best to deserve the honor bestowed upon him. He said that if the team was to head up he, it would be necessary to have the full support of the squad and the student body.

The senior prom is usually the climax of the social life of any university student. It is considered, and rightly so, as the climax of a class career, either by its success or failure. It is measured by both success or failure will be withheld if desired.

To supervise and control the play in sports, it is their duty to watch out for violation, and to enforce the University's rules and administer the penalties which they have played during their tenure and are still interested in sports. It is their duty to watch out for violations of class and administer the penalties which they exist. Their task is difficult, and yet we are putting our part in helping them.

Three men do not receive priory salaries for the work they do, for if they devoted the time spent on athletics to their business, they have a love for sports and they are willing to make a little sacrifice to help athletic competition. Furthermore these men do their best to render fair decisions. At times they are a little wrong, admitted, especially by them. They know that not all of the decisions they make are correct, for it is almost impossible for a man to see everything from the best angle. They can but make their rulings as they see it.

We at Pennsylvania have been too prone to share our disappointment of the decisions made by the officials who have charged us with our games. Such an attitude on our part reflects on Pennsylvania's name in the sporting world. If the university officials were with us, we would vote to well served criticism. Let us remember that the officials are doing their best to see that the games are clean and fair; that spectators at our games do not care to take the proper attitude. It is our duty as loyal Pennsylvanians to call their attention to these matters. If this does not stop them, we will not stand for such conduct, and if necessary, we will have to make a decision as to how they are doing. If any of the spectators at our games do not care to take the proper attitude, they are out for a fair game. If any of the officials at our games do not care to take the proper attitude, they are out for a fair game. If any of the spectators at our games do not care to take the proper attitude, they are out for a fair game.
