The Park Train has become a reality of the past, along with the Prairie Schooner. Modern methods of transportation have leveled mountains, brought San Francisco nearer to New York, and widened the markets of all our great industries.

And the engineering brains and energy, that have developed transportation to the prominence it holds in the business of the world today, are no longer employed in improving means of overland travel alone. Street Railways, Elevator Systems, Inter-urban Lines and Improved Shipping Lines—these are some of the accomplishments of engineering in the development of better transportation.

Neither have the builders of such systems been concerned only in the actual hauling of people and materials. A study of the methods of handling passengers and freight at the large terminals has developed the Terminal Engineer, who has greatly improved existing methods, and has developed entirely new ones, as well.

Engineering, as it is applied to transportation, has had to cover itself with many kinds of materials and many ways of handling them under all manner of circumstances. For instance the problems surrounding the handling of iron ore, in bulk, are vastly different from those encountered in moving any one of the finished products manufactured from iron ore, that must also be transported in large quantities. But Engineering constantly meets each situation with improved transportation facilities.

Industry, as a whole, and the nations and the people of the world owe much to the engineers, associated with such large manufacturing industries as Westinghouse. They have not only brought about vast improvements, but they have done so at a constantly decreasing cost to those who derive the greatest benefit from them.

ACHIEVEMENT & OPPORTUNITY
CANCEL THE PARADE

The announcement that the University student body is to parade from the campus to the University Day exercises at the Academy of Music is bound to be accepted as an attempt to ransom the University year from its ennui. It is to be hoped that the authorities in whose charge the arrangements have been placed will at once notify the press of the abandonment of the proposed parade.

A PENNSYLVANIA WELCOME

Basketball looks from many of the most prominent preparatory school class lists of the East will be the guests of the University for the tournament beginning Saturday. As participants in the Third Annual Interscholastic Basketball Tournament, the boys will meet about noon on Woodland Avenue, the street on which near morning maturity to uphold a custom of by yest me. While the exercises at the Academy will get under way as usual a large number of students, they will undoubtedly be conveyed there by Mr. Miller's transportation system. Rivalry that least reflection be cast upon Pennsylvania and its student body by the failure of a University parade, it is to be hoped that the authorities in whose charge the arrangements have been placed will at once notify the press of the abandonment of the proposed parade.

The experience of past years will be of great value in guiding those in charge of the affair, but no plans are ever sure of success, in matter how carefully they may be determined. Throughout the time during which the tournament will be in progress, emergency situations are bound to arise, which tax the management to the utmost. It cannot happen sufficiently to cope with them without the hearty cooperation and support of the student body which in reality is looked upon as the host.

In only a few instances can success crown the efforts of the scholastic athletes. The larger results of competition do occur but not one can win, while many will suffer defeat. Regardless, however, of the results of the tournament, it is Pennsylvania's duty as host to make sure that all our guests enjoy their stay. All that can possibly be done in this respect will be attended to by the managers, but if at any time they find it necessary to call on the student body to aid them in entertaining young athletes, neither time nor effort should be denied them.

The tournament will be conducted in the name of Pennsylvania. The outcome will reflect on the University, what her students or alumni may own in their hands. It is up to Pennsylvania to make the third tournament as successful as the two former ones have been.

DRAMATIC TRIVIUM

Masked, from its earliest beginnings, has lived to an immortal fame. The Mephisto, Faust, or Faust's Boz is a known to all; the Home's cheer leader is a Pennsylvania. Over-grown high school teams who often wish themselves legends and heroes, suddenly become through ideas spoken by unimagined melodrama. And college men do not outgrow the desire—the existence of the Mask and Wig, Hobby Paddling and Triangle productions attest the continuance of the appeal of the footlights.

New Styles for Spring

Spring and its opportunity for greater outdoor activity brings a natural and effective change in clothes.

In fabrics you will see decided preference for the light colorings and more pronounced patterns.

In models you will find the plainer styles discarded for the season's novelties. The sport types created by us in wide plaits, belts and patch pockets, will be a popular departure from the sombreness of winter clothes.

For complete satisfaction you will want fit, correct balance, drape and design, high-grade workmanship and durable light-weight all-wool fabrics. In Campus Togs you will find all these and have the added assurance of our guarantee, backed by thirty-five years service.
