ORCHESTRA IN THIRD CONCERT

Under the direction of Leopold Stokowski, the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra will present the third special concert of the series at the Academy of Music at 8:15 o'clock. A tour for the next two concert dates has been planned. The conductors have been charged with the task of choosing the concert programs contained practically all that is written, wherever it is found, in the resources of the orchestra, and to present the programs in an earnest effort to make the music interesting to the average listener. The concert will be held at the Academy of Music. The orchestra will be conducted by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Leopold Stokowski.

Pennsylvania's Administration

The Acting Vice-Provost

J. Hartley Merrick, Acting Vice-Provost of the University, has become more intimately identified with Pennsylvania. A graduate of the Class of 1896, Mr. Merrick returned to his Alma Mater two years later to fill the position of Archivist-Dent. After serving in this capacity until 1900, he became Assistant Secretary, which position he filled until 1903 when he was appointed acting chief of the Secretariat for three years. In the fall of 1912, Mr. Merrick returned once more to Pennsylvania at the request of Dr. Penniman, at that time Acting Provost, to act as his assistant. Mr. Merrick fulfilled the duties of this position until last fall when he was made Acting Vice-Provost, the office having been vacated by the retirement of Mr. Merrick's brother, the Provost of the Pennsylvania. Mr. Merrick has outlined the work of the Vice-Provost's office in the following paragraphs.

According to the University Statute, the Vice-Provost succeeds as Provost during the absence or inability of the latter to perform his manifold and important duties. The Vice-Provost is also, of course, a member of every Faculty of the University. Beyond those somewhat vague statements, the rest is silence. And it is better so, for the principle that the less said the better application however, as a business of best, lacking both in soul and humanity; and those elements wisely, in our everyday business life, are the mainsprings of all that is accomplished through the Vice-Provost's office, either in whole or in part. When one reads over the classified advertisers' pick and follow his own path and try to reach his destination by using the "mother-wet" with which Nature has endowed him; and so soon the Statutes concerning him specifically for the Vice-Provost to perform activities different from the Vice-President of the United States, who has at least the pleasure or privilege (whichever the desire is) to "be up to" in the slang of the day, to find something to do, and then do it "with all his might and soul".

In a general way it might be said that the University administration work divides itself naturally into these three divisions, which may be classified as follows: (1) Academic; (2) Business detail; and (3) Community welfare. As the University is, first, last and all the time, an educational institution, the Provost is in and of itself both the "Chief Priest", as the Statutes make him the head and patron of the academic teaching faculties. The resignation of General Layard and Wood as the "Executive Head" of the University having left a vacancy as yet unfilled, the business details of the University are being handled at present by the Treasurer and the Comptroller under the direction of the Provost, who will turn over later all such details to the new officer. In the mean time, Mr. Merrick, as Provost's office has been set up in the University and the University society is to be maintained as a community welfare institution, and our common interest advanced and developed. At the moment, therefore, the Vice-Provost's office appears destined to become the central clearing house of all our important University activities; and consequently it has adopted as its motto, the more closely identified with its name: "All human or no alienism." It is not at the center of both the lives of a student and the life of the University if our efforts are to be maintained properly, and our common interests advanced and developed.

THAT FRESHMAN BANQUET

Yes, 1926, tonight is the big night. All we can say is that we hope that the Majestic Hotel is still intact in the morning.

- Observing the general lack of eloquence among the fresher group, we suggest the following rules. Here they are:
  1. When you are at the table conduct yourself as if you were at home; that is, as do when you have guests for dinner.
  2. Remember that forks are put at your place to be used and are not for ornamental purposes. That, again, have pity on your knife and don’t overwork it.
  3. Above all, don’t try to chew the most than likely the animal from which it was taken first, see the light of day in Tut’s time.
  4. And above all—never lose a few things in the hotel even if you have paid three dollars for a ticket. Limit yourself, say, to twenty-five souvenirs.

ENLIGHTENING

We wish to call your attention to a most interesting set of articles describing the art of Engineering.

PERSISTENT OBSERVATIONS

Those politicians who profess to have the best interests of their clients at heart, operate on the self-service plan. They are 100 per cent for the people after they have picked most of the plums themselves.

THEY TELL US

OUR HAVEN

In answer to several inquiries which we have received we wish to state that the Benjamin Club is neither a tea room nor a dance hall. It is a real place for the tired and weary student, and all political meetings are held there.

We ran into a Freshman the other day who thought that the Glass Record was made of Franklin Field.

A COMMUNICATION

Dear Sirs: As a member of the publicity committee I was told that I could hold the 1926 Banquet by putting up a few signs. I’m out of practice, but here is my list.

TOWN T. ROOK

A FEW WORDS ABOUT THAT FRESHMAN BANQUET

The committee has announced that several contests will be held. Hearing this, one of the Freshmen (Watson, we mean the amphipod) has challenged the class to a long-distance eating contest.

From the entries, it seems that the "eating without-podium" event will be the most popular. Some of the ‘26’s have been practicing all fall and winter at that famous eating club, the White House.

The invitation artists will all be very interesting, but it is hoped that they who will choose spirit or middle-distance events. The committee wanted to make these realistic races but the chairman refused—it is reported that as a result he closed all his subjects the first month.

The Glass Record is now available.

To start the evening, there will be a musical contest.

A Spruce is going to invite the Sophmore editors, but feared that the rest of the Sophs, sighted, would be there soon.

The banquet is to be held on the Fourth of July and all the savings during Spring season have been devoted by the President.

The final entertainment for the evening is the Midsummer Night’s Dream, this event is to held by the men at the most popular water event in the United States. The festivities closed yesterday with three entries, Colorado Springs, Saratoga Springs and Philadelphia. According to pre-oeuvre dope, Philly should win by inches.

Soccerists to meet Alumnus Aggregation
Coach "Davy" Gould's booters went through a strenuous workout on Museum Field yesterday afternoon in preparation for the Alumni tilt Saturday on the river field. Yesterday's program consisted of practice in controlling the ball, combined with drill in accurate shooting, which was followed by a lengthy scrimmage. During the scrimmage the soccer mentor pointed out and corrected some of the most apparent faults of the men.
The alumni teams will be composed for the most part of former stars who occupied berths in the 1923 aggregation that defeated Princeton for the Intercollegiate league championship. Spencer, the brilliant center forward, Thorpe, Stanford, and Darrow, will comprise the mainstay of the graduate eleven.

This article cannot, however, like the book, run on forever! Let it therefore be plainly stated that the Vice-President's office is now in a minority house and "common or garden variety" basis. There is no "split" nor "censorship" stuff, nor any word that it is all plain, simple and democratic; the doors are wide open to anyone who wishes to have the Vice-President, or his assistants; and the only aim of the office is to give courteous service and satisfaction to everyone who has need to call there, whether "prince or pauper".
The office exists primarily to make the wheels move as smoothly and true as possible and to coordinate the multifarious welfare interests of the University so that Pennsylvania shall be, as nearly as possible, an example of an educational institution where self-help, self-government and self-respect combine to form a triumvirate that shall spell success.

Zelos Secured Noted Greek Scholar for Weekly Meeting
Dr. Walter W. Hyde, of the Greek and History Departments, will address the weekly meeting of the Zelos-Pen Philo Society in his rooms at 925 S. 36th street today with "A Short Account of Thucydides" as his subject. Following this talk there will be an open forum on questions pertaining to the great Hellenic poet.

There are several other interesting numbers on the program, including "Blitz of Honor" by E. P. W. Detweiller '29. Penetrates are still being held for the candidates and new men may report tonight.
The date for the annual Zelo-Philos dinner has been definitely set for Thursday night, April 1st and there will be no meeting of the society on that night. At a recent meeting of the Defining Committee of the two societies the question selected for the debate was "Resolved, That the 3 per cent immigration law should be abolished."

FRATERNITY BALL PLANS COMPLETE

Will be Held Friday, March 23 in the Ball and Clover Rooms on the Fourth Floor, with Dancing 8 to 1 a.m.

BALL AND CLOVER ROOMS ENGAGED

John C. Beggs, 32nd, Chairman of the Interfraternity Ball Committee, announced yesterday that the plans for the affair have been completed and that every effort will be made to make it an enthusiastic success. Those in charge expect to surpass previous balls in many respects. In order to assure plenty of room and dancing space, both the Ball Room and the Clover Room of the Belton Hotel have been secured for the entire evening. The famous McFadden Orchestra of Springfield, Mass., will furnish the music during the dance in the Ball Room from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. While the Kentucky homelanders will play in the Clover Room from 8:30 to 10:30. These are two of the most prominent dance orchestras in the state and it was only after great effort that the committee was able to secure them.

The Ball Room will be plainly but appropriately decorated with red and white, multi-colored lights, and flowers. A well-furnished room will be a number of spot light dances which will be run throughout the evening. The features will also be able to receive re-fridcarers in the hotel later than the formal hour, as special arrangements have been made to have one of the dining rooms kept open until 11:30 a.m.

The programs for the evening will be different from those given at any of the previous Balls. They are, however, not similar to the Ivy Ball programs, with mixed and unassigned dances which are to be decorated. A great deal of care was taken in designing these, and the committee feels that they are both practical and fun.

The tickets are to be sold in the usual fraternal manner, each fraternity in the agreement getting twenty-five tickets. Those because they can use their quota are allowed to return surplus tickets while those that cannot use their quota have to sell them.

NEWMAN CLUB MEMBERS ELECT OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

Members of the Newman Club at a recent meeting elected the following officers for the coming year: President, T. H. Dyeson, Lebanon; Secretary, W. E. Ranier, Lebanon; Treasurer, M. S. A. Elder, Lebanon.
