THE NEW HALL OF FAME

LAURi-VOLPI
This great new travo, who vacationed the great city of New York at her recent Metropolitan Opera Company debut, has been shown to be the greatest talent when seen in the famous "Hall of Fame" at New York. The Permanent Collection of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston will be the permanent residence for this great talent.

"Spring Clothes" in White Oxford and Mercerized Pongee. Collar in Van Craft you will like the model of soft

VAN CRAFT-superb shirts with the VAN CRAFT label. Your pleasure to serve.

Leader in Style, Quality, Value—Rogers Peet suits and overcoats!

The men were divided up into two squads, one led by Bert Bell and the other by Len Wyler, the little men leading and four hand players. Practically the entire varsity team is practicing daily, and according to Coach Young, they will give many members of last year's team a battle for their position.

Dramatists Stage
"Tragedy of Nan"

John Mansfield's "Tragedy of Nan" will be staged at the Dramatic Club of the University in the first of four performances this evening at the Playhouse Theater, seventeenth and Beloeil streets. "Patrick's" playing with the same cast which recently won the thirty thousand dollar Forum prize, has been added to the program. Tickets may be secured in the library, College Hall, or at the Union Club any day between 12 and 2 o'clock.

Mansfield has his story upon a foundation of facts, and in the effort to appear naive, and the slickers wear them so they may look worldly!"—the author decided to write a play

Dr. J. P. Wickersham Crawford, President of the University, received word yesterday of his election as a corresponding member of the American Philosophical Society. This distinction, which has been conferred upon less than a dozen Americans, was given to Dr. Crawford in recognition of his scholarly attainments in the Spanish language and literature.

The Spanish Language, the leading literary and historical society in Spain, was founded in 1714 and includes in its membership the leading Spanish writers, artists and scholars, together with a few Spanish scholars in foreign countries. Dr. Crawford has already received a diploma and a medal in the Spanish language and literature. Do you need a desk, window treatments, or office equipment? No matter what you want you will meet your quarters comfortably, and at an Pennsylvania's debating team will open a new era in its campaign for the intercollegiate debate crown by playing its first game of the fall season against the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia's National Theater on November 12th. The Pennsylvania men will receive the hospitality of the Pennsylvanians and have every facility provided for their comfort.

Debaters Will Meet Columbia May Third
Pennsylvania's debating team will open its season with a triangular meet, Columbia and Cornell. The Columbia team will depart for Philadelphia May 3rd and the following day, May 4th, the Ford and Van team will travel to Princeton to meet Cornell.

As the results of the try-outs held last Thursday, two new men have been added to the team, Wismen and Schulte.

For all the public and the outcome of this debate should therefore be of great interest.

Prof. Holmes Will Talk On Perception

"Psychology of Perception" is the subject of the lecture which Dr. Arthur Holmes will give at 4:15 this afternoon in Houston Hall. A large audience is predicted as the speaker has the reputation of being very popular. This is the seventeenth in a series of free public lectures which is being given by the members of the University of Pennsylvania faculty.

Dr. Holmes will show that our eyes are wide open, we do not see things continuously. The world appears and disappears, e. g. not so many things that are very plain to us. Likewise, we do not see many things that we think we do. No two people in the audience will see the same room or hear the same speech. If anyone does not bring the truth of these statements, they will be proved for him this afternoon.
