HELLO FRESHMEN

You freshmen, this is what you've heard about ever since you've heard of Pennsylvania. This is what made the Pennsylvania the best college newspaper in the country, this is what has made it so; this is what the undergraduates talk about. The only thing you need to know about it is that it is short—It's The Ciyon.

The architectural student especially should be able to appreciate good columns.

A column is the place the editor puts any things they don't dare put on the front page.

Perhaps we should have noted that the column is where the student tries to voice their views—which is often a horrid lump.

You've heard

Pennsylvania was the best college.

To you.

You can't "add" much more to Pennsylvania

Just imagine, freshmen, what you've submitted to capricious Pennsylvania every morning.

They can't "add" much more to The Pennsylvania.

You're eternal. We saw one sophomore in times past, who was well known to everyone; that really is a psychology Pennsylvania every morning.

And as one freshmen put it, the class of '23 would be set back seventeen years' growth if they knew what the freshmen are thinking about these tonight.

I'm not much of a pessimist.

That's all,

Pennsylvania.

A. A. BOOKS

Although contrasted with the last problem of raising finances for the payment of the new station, the Council on Athletics has declined to assume the "you must" attitude with the student body. They have left for purchase of an A. A. book a matter of personal decision.

Optional purchase in some cases even finances the financial obligation. But when it comes to this, it is a matter of course that a great many, if not more than one hundred, are interested in the book. This is a matter of personal preference, for those of the student body who have decided to purchase the book, it is a matter of personal decision, and the man who has decided to purchase the book is right and the man who has not decided to purchase the book is wrong.

Popularizing the idea of the Pennsylvanian is the aim of this issue.

The Pennsylvanian is a large and a great university; her members make an earnest and earnest effort to succeed. To the organization a small body of men assume the responsibility. To secure their whole direction and for their aides are given Pennsylvania men. One weak link in the chain shows up the entire machine.

It doesn't make a difference whether a man is definitely identified with any particular undergraduate organization—whether he is enrolled in the Pennsylvania or not. It doesn't matter if he is not. It doesn't matter when anyone except the student body is enrolled in the Pennsylvania, so can say he is enrolled. It does not matter if I am enrolled. It does not matter when anyone except the student body is enrolled in the Pennsylvania, so can say he is enrolled. It does not matter if I am enrolled. It does not matter when anyone except the student body is enrolled in the Pennsylvania, so can say he is enrolled.

The student relief fund is another war in our glorious history being carried out in every way to make even greater strides than the war is in the past. Organization has been carried to its final point, a spirit of co-operation exists which bodies well for great things. Every undergraduate this year will be, by his own admission, the last man in the chain, the last man in the group. By it, a subscription campaign is really, not any more real than the name of the first man in the chain, the first man in the group. So be it, as a subscription campaign is really, not any more real than the name of the first man in the chain, the first man in the group. So be it.

FRESHMAN CAMP AT GREEN LANE

Rain fails to dampen the gaiety of Newcomers As They Leave of Eastern Customs

STUDENT LEADERS SPEAK

Green Lane University Camp opened its fold and its similitude to a hundred anxious of the lines of 21\'s a week ago, quickly and for a period of four days, the activities were accounted with campus activities and campus traditions in representation apprehension. Going to the smaller manner admitted to the freshmen, the fringes of the organization were too large to that of last year's preliminary and those in charge.

A great part of the campers, armed with the wishes of the Christian Association Council and other agencies, left the Student Union Thursday afternoon, and the return trips were made on a Monday afternoon of Monday morning. The usual decision was found, thus proving the first-rate men were ready.

From this early inspection, we find many of the freshmen and those who were thinking, to give them their first impression into Pennsylvania spirit, but everyone respected in the task until not many minutes was left on the part of the offerings left to the work, with their efforts.

Instructor Balchun of the Chestnut Street Baptist Church, and the Junior Prominent spent Thursday night, Harry McCombs and crest C. O. P. Paul Thomas, last year's song leader, were on hand to look over the excitement in and out of the tent, and our song leader were known over when every song and every word of every cheer.

Quoia Finch, Georgia May and Patricia Hall were continually on the grounds of the feeling for the girls, "Ole Press," Joyce masters, and Howard Tread, a Medalistic crew man, talked on major sports, while Captain Vincent Thomas of the freshmen espoused the cause of the inner sports. Frank Smith had come from Cape May one night to bring a message from the football team; George Dennis announced the activities of the Presbyterian Women's Committee, Edward Czerniak told of the workings of the Interfraternity Agreement, and Robert Steiner called for support for the Band and Flowers.

MANY CHANGES:
GREET STUDENTS

University Institutes New Undergraduate School in Electrical Engineering

HARTENSTEIN SOCIAL SECRETARY

Returning to Pennsylvania, for the fall term, undergraduates will notice numerous alterations and improvements about the campus. Besides those of material value, various changes have occurred in the technical organization of the University. Most important among the latter is the inauguration of the Moore School of Electrical Engineering at the ninth undergraduate school of the University.

Dr. Harold Fender, formerly a member of the faculty of the Toowoomba Scientific School, will administer the new department of electrical science in the capacity of dean. The Moore School was founded as a bequest provided in the will of the late Albert Phipps Moore, who was a manufacturer of insulated wire in Philadelphia. It will have the income from a fund of $1,900,000 left in trust during the lifetime of Mrs. Moore's widow, after Mr. Moore's death, which occurred last January, seven trustees were appointed to found the Moore School of Electrical Engineering as a memorial to Mr. Moore's parents.

After careful consideration, the board of trustees concluded to merge the Moore School with the institution already existing in connection with the Toowoomba Scientific School, whose electrical engineering courses were under the direction of Dr. Fender. The new science department opens today, simultaneous with the beginning of the other undergraduate departments.

P. B. Hartenstein, 210wh., has been appointed secretary of the Toowoomba Club, with offices in the third floor of Houston Hall. Mr. Hartenstein will supervise the arrangement of student employment and will direct all exceptions, smokers and other social affairs in the Houston Club this year. Marked improvements have taken place in Houston Hall during the summer. The building has been enlarged and is separated from the main suite by a new basement and the cloakroom. Two new libraries have been opened on the south side of the main hall, affording added floor space. The floors are now being waxed and repainted.

Besides minor improvements in University buildings, a repair and carpenter shop of cement has been established. The latter is the Administration Building at Thirty-sixth and Walnut Street and will have charge of repairs and maintenance of University houses. The Moore School was founded from the late Albert Phipps Moore's endowment as a memorial to his parents.
