CORNELL SOCCER TEAM LOOKS
AS A STRONG LEAGUE CONTENDER.

Although not possessing as brilliant a record at Pennsylvania's undefeated combination, "Beachy's" Big Red soter team is adoped by dozens of the sport as being perfectly capable of outclassing any place in the Intermediate League. That they represent an obstacle in Pennsylvania's path even as formidable as Princeton possesses is clearly illustrated by the Cornell-Princeton contest which ended in deliberately fought 2-2 deadlock.

When Coach Shaw, began work on the grid in September, he was present with the difficult problem of developing five new men to replace the missing parts that a new season means in his res era machine. Just how well he has accomplished is clearly shown by the ingame his team has made so far this sea son.

The Big Red eleven was defeated, 9-0, by a second half rally that displaced power on the offensive and defense. The rally, however, managed to lower the scores of the Red and White by a 30 count. In the Princeton clash, two extra periods were necessary to break the 2-2 deadlock. Cornell was lost in order, defeating Cookie with a score of 21. Yale was tied 9-2, and Harvard took the feature in a close game that ended in a 1-1 count.

their first presentation. Wade Booth makes his initial appearance in vaudeville here and he is well prepared with his clever variety of songs. Mr. Booth has a voice of excellent quality. At the time Lusitania first arose an heel.

Another comedy act presented by Leo Clayton and Cliff Edwards certainly won over Mr. Erseed and Finneston with their dancing act. An animal act conducted by Ellen O'Keefe was quite original and a bicycle act by the McDonald Trio is very clever also. The customary pictures conclude a very pleasing bill.

AND WE ARE GOING TO

"We went to beat Cornell in the last year of Proctor's—student body, the team and the coaches. From forest to elevated field and Prather Hood at the Pennant, it is on every tongue. Plunder and banners from that it may be incalculably imprinted on our minds. The scene of this arcane memory in every individual. It is grandly formed and shall soon meet forth. The life of one act is always moving; tomorrow it breaks forth in all its glory. To win in BEAT Cornell—AND WE ARE GOING TO do it.

On paper Cornell is unquestionably rated higher than our varsity. When previously records of play displayed to date and physical condition of men are considered the Big Red team is decidedly superior. This in advance days. This the given game have already picked the winner of the Thanksgiving Day game.

In the Pennsylvania-Cornell game past performances mean nothing. No matter how good Cornell is; no matter how many years of action there are, the result is always uncertain. Three years ago Corn- nell beat us, and the year before that we were his favorite. Three years ago Cornell went back to freshman on the zero end of a 26-0 score the answer.®

We've got to BEAT Cornell—AND WE ARE GOING TO do it.

That's the spirit we want and that's the spirit we'll have. From Engineers to Dents that battle cry is heard. The idea is simplicity itself. How the education and the confidence of the whole University as epitomized in the elevens now on the field. "We'll" means that Cornell is what he has come to in immortal memory. The undergraduate boys have a true conception of this "good old fight". The players who play on Franklin Field to oppose Cornell will be shocked if it, if Lea Young has anything to say with regard to this game.

We've got to BEAT Cornell—AND WE ARE GOING TO do it.

"The IRON HAND in the Velvet Glove."

One day we hit Sunday at dinner given these men who composed the central governmental body of the University. Your Provost Merrick stated that the policy to be fol- lowed good be summed up with the phrase—"The iron hand in the velvet glove." On the Sunday following November in the freshman group of discrimination stood a "yes, bums," which, according to well-informed information, was proposed by the Proctor Committee. The Undergraduate Committee has properly dealt with this commit- tee which came under its jurisdiction. The residence of the housemen are being dealt with by the Dormitory government, and these men outlined on the front page of the issue. "The iron hand in the velvet glove" has become in actuality—True Provost Merrick was not secretly attempting to abuse his students when he uttered the above phrase.

The action as outlined is indeed drastic—and is it. Too long have the authorities dealt with domino effects, and action from within the rooms, to be ordered the following morning by old men who are doing their share of work to perfect. The authorities have stepped in and said—each must have his limits. They have backed up their words with action. Fair warning had been given—all there can be in the form of charges.

Many men can truthfully say that it is "spirit" which prompts them to act. The authorities and action from within the rooms to be ordered the following morning by old men who are doing their share of work to perfect. The authorities have stepped in and said—each must have his limits. They have backed up their words with action. Fair warning had been given—all there can be in the form of charges.

Certain members of the freshman class have unhesitatingly been asked to name his classes who are named. That upper classes have urged them on at the be- ginning of their offices—they did not have to LISTEN—they were told not to do.

For the present time the government has proved its mettle. It is not up to the freshman class at large, and the individually affected, to show the "spirit" which they are so apt to take. The government has acted—it is to be hoped the men who have been caught by their mistakes and are out of the races better for it.
