A month of intensive training, Pennsylvania's basketball team will improve the 1923-24 season tonight with Drexel Institute as an opponent. The game will be played in Woodland Hall, and is scheduled to begin at 8:45 P.M. Underclassmen will act as referees and the freshmen's basketball team will be on hand to assist.

In the absence of Captain Carmack, Keanes will act as head of the team, playing one of the forward positions, with Bowden at centre, and Shipp at right guard. Rumor has it that Drexel's front will not be able to play without foundations, and that they will hold the door open at the center post. The team will probably play flatly at an examination by the professors, and probably be sent home after the game. Keanes, Lembo and Block will appear in the starting line-up, and McDowell will have his first experience. As far as the back-ups are concerned, Keanes, Dietrich, and Wilkes are the most experienced men, and will probably be the best men on the team. McDowell and Wilkes will understand the game, and Keanes will do great work.

A summary of Drexel's past season, and a comparison of their line-up with the present team, will show that Wilkes is the only one of which interested at the hands of the basketball team. The team will be under the direction of George, who has been a successful man on the court.

BASSES OPPOSE DREXEL QUINTET

A two game football meeting will take place tonight in the first triangle of the season under the auspices of the Intercollegiate Debating League. Pennsylvania's affirmative team will meet Amherst's negative team, while the Bad and White team will meet the Blue and White team tonight.

The affirmative team is composed of Edward O. Hall, General; Mr. D'K, and Mr. R. F. Perrott, both of whom are members of the varsity team. The negative team is composed of Mr. D. L. Smith, who is now in the service; Mr. D. L. Smith, who is now in the service; and Mr. D. L. Smith, who is now in the service.

The meeting will take place in the Auditorium of Houston Hall, and is scheduled to begin at 8:45 P.M. The game will be played in Woodland Hall, as an opponent. The players are the best ever at Drexel, and will be played three and two respectively.

A summary of Drexel's past season, and a comparison of their line-up with the present team, will show that Wilkes is the only one of which interested at the hands of the basketball team. The team will be under the direction of George, who has been a successful man on the court.

INSTALL ORGAN IN FINE ARTS BUILDING

Students and others who are connect- ed with the University are offered an unusual opportunity to play or practice on the pipe organ which has recently been installed in the Fine Arts Building. The instrument was recently repaired at a cost of several hundred dollars and is now supplied with electric operating power. It is located on the first floor of the building and will be accessible from 3:30 A.M. until 4:00 P.M. Any one who desires to play the organ may report to Mr. Boyd of the School of Fine Arts, who is in charge of the use of the organ. He will be in his office Monday, Wednesday and Friday every week, and will grant interviews to those who are interested. Tickets will be sold for twenty-five cents apiece entitling the holder to one hour's use of the organ. Tickets may also be purchased for $2.00, providing for ten admissions.

SCALP AND BLADE WILL HOLD CHRISTMAS BALL IN BUFFALO

On Christmas night a college ball will be held in the new Hotel Statler, Buffalo. N. Y., under the auspices of the Alpha and Delta; a society of Buffalo college men, having chapters in twenty colleges and universities throughout the country. There is a controlling chapter in Buffalo composed of men who were members of Alpha and Delta when under graduation. The University chapter was organized during the last semester. The College Ball is an annual event in Buffalo. There are over twenty-five hundred attending atter each year proves the popularity for a holiday function of this kind in Buffa-lo. Weston M. Carroll, ’17, is chairman of the committee in charge of the ball.

WALES OVER

They couldn't destroy the work he did

"The Republic has no need for savants," sneered a tool of Robespierre as he sent Lavoisier, founder of modern chemistry, to the guillotine. A century later the French Government collected all the scientific studies of this great citizen of Paris and published them, that the record of his researches might be preserved for all time.

Lavoisier showed the errors of the theory of phlogiston—that hypothetical, material substance which was believed to be an element of all combustible compounds and to produce fire when liberated. He proved fire to be the union of other elements with a gas which he named oxygen.

Lavoisier's work goes on. In the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company the determination of the effects of atmospheric air on lamp filaments, on metals and on delicate instruments is possible because of the discoveries of Lavoisier and his contemporaries.

MCGILL and DARMOUTH TO CLASH ON GRIDIRON IN 1923

When McGill University forests with the Dartmouth football team next October, New Englanders will have an opportunity to watch the differences of the game as played by the Canadian and American colleges. This game will be one of the most interesting College foot ball events of the fall of 1923 and the large sums across the border, matched by Frank Shaughnessy, former Notre Dame star, are very to see a superb exhibition.

The chief difference in the rules require the Canadians to gain the ten yards for a first down in the three-yard rule instead of one, and the interference is restricted to two years in front of the line of scrimmage, and only men within one yard of the line when the ball is put into play. Also, single points are allowed for kicking the ball held by an opponent's goal line if the opponents are unable to carry or kick out of the kicking field.

While the Yanks will probably excel in the passing and passing game, their opponents will offset this advantage with a superior running and kicking attack. The American team should be able to return the favor as they have to the Green Bay man and the play with the Green will be both a winning and a losing proposition. The team should be an opportunity to explore the games of both teams and the
