Students Required to Fill Out Form Quoting Parents Before Entering City

432 Madison Ave., N. Y.

FIVE MAIN ISSUES OUTLINED

In conference with the nationwide attempt to ease the trend of individual opinion, it is reported that the W. B. sidewalk plan, a ballot on the plan will be taken this year at the undergraduate body of the University to determine whether the present plan will be continued. A printed form will be found on an inside sheet and every student is asked to express his opinion thereon. Nomination papers for three terms are to be mailed directly to the American City Sidewalk Company, Madison Avenue, New York City.

1. There is no one approach to world peace, and that the mutual consent of nations must be the real key to an enduring solution. It is morally and politically important, but also psychologically and economically necessary. The only true path to international agreement with reliefs of arms and open discussion of fundamental issues seems to be through mutual consultation and mediation, the plan of action which was adopted by the League of Nations.

2. The Jury believes that while no political organization can be said to be the cause of war, the results of war are due to the policies of governments. The Jury believes that while some of the present war is due to the policies of governments, the results of war are due to the policies of governments.

This season's superbly fine American and British styles and fabrics, most admirably suited for smart and sedate men. These most desirable garments—unexcelled in style and quality, individual and distinctive—are necessary for many weeks' wearing yet to come. With winter just beginning and with the great savings we offer from our original low prices, this is an opportunity that no man who regards his appearance, comfort and pocketbook can afford to neglect.

A real inspection of these suits and overcoats is essential to get a correct idea of the advantages they offer, as prices are high or low only by comparison. Judge the advantages of our prices by comparison with values offered anywhere else.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 18, 1924
Our daily letter (two successive days makes it daily, you'll this beautiful afternoon took the form of a clipping from the Ledger. It was an editorial running thus: "It will be well-nigh worse for the women students at the University of Pennsylvania that they are at last to get some visible benefits of the demand in the form of a building for themselves alone,永不.'"

Our sense of supremacy compels us to amend the statement. It is not the women students to whom this news will be most welcome.

Now that we've done our good turn daily, we'll give us to the more serious things in life."

In connection with the celebration of Ben's birthday today, our Freshman Across the Hall was prompted in its reply why not magistrates are always compelled to kiss the hand of the honored founder of this university. Almost immediately we sent out the investigators. This is the tale they brought back:

It seems that in the Harvard game of 1512, two teams had battled through three scoreless periods. Neither could get past the other's fifty-yard line, and it began to look like the old story. But along in the last quarter the coach decided to trust in Franklin and take a deep shot on the chance of winning or losing all. Franklin was a "Loyal Pennsylvanian," and unforgettable as it perhaps sounds, he booted eleven field goals made in as many minutes. He was the first of a line of "educated men."

Thus the revolution.

It is appropriate that so many alterations and improvements should be made on and around Franklin's birthday. But it must be deplored that the authorities are unable absolutely to know what seems to us a crying need. We must and can contribute to alleviate wind-breaks at all important corners. In the past week we have seen five unobtrusive trees shorn to raw material, and four thrones blown across Woodland avenue.

The Undergraduate Council should severely censure and rebuke the Pennsylvania Railroad. Merely on hearing evidence it has arranged to establish a ticket office in the Houston Club during and immediately after mid-winter.

These fortunate few who will not be compelled to walk themselves all will doubtless write home that they have been promoted because they have jumped from English 30 to English 40.

A recent automobile advertisement says—"They compare all geysers with Old Faithful as they compare all automobiles with Ford." Once we owned a car of the cheaper make and all three years we have been holding it physical we could compare it to and at last we have it for a Ford.

We had considered concrete mixers, earth搬kers, steam rakes and peat mixers but to one word we do completely describes this car of concrete "pover." We are content.

The Fugly Wally Booze Company, seems to be just like last but because they did not last as much money this much as much on it. Since we owned a car of the cheaper make and all three years we have been holding it physical we could compare it to and at last we have it for a Ford.

We forestalled certain mixers, earth搬kers, steam rakes and peat mixers but to one word we do completely describes this car of concrete "pover." We are content.

A newspaper account of the putting of the Berlin police with bullet-proof armor states that "a notorious criminal fired six shots at an officer and was so amazed at the lack of effect of his shots that he gave up without a struggle."

If the reporter of that article calls six revolver shots at an officer a "struggle" he probably refers to the War of 1812 as a "struggle of officers."

We are content.

MAESTRALINK DRAMA AT FOX
The William Fox production, "Monna Vanna," a stupendous photo-play version of Maurice Maeterlinck's famous poem of the same name, will be the feature picture at the Pico Theatre next week. Lovers of the greatest in the drama need no introduction to "Monna Vanna," which was first produced at the Thalia in Paris with Madame Maestralink, wife of the author. In the title role.

Subsequently, it was presented on the stage of nearly every European country. It was first seen in the United States in 1919. Mary Pickford was famous in the title role in the play as presented at an opera.

William Fox has given the screen some of its most stupendous productions, but in "Monna Vanna" he has surpassed all previous efforts. The battle scene and the destruction of the fifteenth-century city being unraveled in any previous screen production.

ANATOL FRIEFLAND AT KEITH'S
The principal feature at Keith's Theatre this week is Anatol Friedland and his new girl revue, called "Anatol's Affairs of 1924." Friedland is one of America's most popular composers. The chief comedy feature is contributed by Thomas Dugan and Babette. All are expected to turn out for a fine musical program. Plo Lewin, the choice comedienne, keeps the audience in a roar of laughter and Rich Hayes, a comedy juggler, is a big hit. Albert & Harte, Wahl & Emerson and Howard's Piano will round out the fine bill.

Week of January 21
Wilkie Bard, England's most famous comedian will headline the Grand Company of International Stars at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week. Bard is making his second tour of the Keith Circuit and offers his original characterizations. Jay Brennan, of the old team of Avery & Brennan, has a new partner and offers a new version of "You Must Come Over." Georges Deval, a famous French singer of sappy songs, is another French singer who sings operetta-style. Harry Forester is a new addition to the stage. Dorothy and Helene Fugis have a novelty called "Professing to Fan." Other excellent pieces complete one of the best bills on the road.

Lovers of dancing are found everywhere today including in those famous places without an introduction to "Monna Vanna," which was first produced at the Thalia in Paris with Madame Maestralink, wife of the author. In the title role.

Subsequently, it was presented on the stage of nearly every European country. It was first seen in the United States in 1919. Mary Pickford was famous in the title role in the play as presented at an opera.

BLACK OXEN AT STANLEY
Revealing the effect of the widely discussed rejuvenation upon romance and love with brilliant drama and rare beauty of dress and settings. Frank Lloyd's screen version of "Black Oxen." A First National picture, will be the feature at the Stanley Theatre the week of January 21.

"Black Oxen," from the pen of Oscar Wilde, because of its originality and modern atmosphere, has been the best selling novel of 1923. Cyril Griffin and Conway Tearle share the featured parts in "Black Oxen." The story is about the dual personae of Mary Ogden, later Madame Sartine, and Mrs. Tantale, and all her contradictions. In "Black Oxen," a crying New York newspaperman falls in love with the charming European American girl, Mary Ogden. As a newcomer to the stage, the role of Janet O'Sheperry, a English young individual who lives an miserable life, was given to Mary Ogden. Later Madame Scott and Agnes Trevor. Clarissa Selwynne and Frank Hurst are also given to the screen.

The story of a woman's rejuvenation—a woman who, passing the prime of life, regains youth and beauty and the power to live—a blissful, experienced mind emblazoned with the bloom of twenty—a combination that brings every man to her feet—a picture, bold, vivid, masterly one that makes the heart leap to its pulsating revelation.

STUDENTS REPORT THEFT OF OVERCOATS IN LIBRARY

Within the past three days, two overcoats, belonging to members of the student body, have been stolen from the library. One was taken yesterday afternoon. The other was reported last Tuesday, while the second is suspected fairly recently.

THE LIBRARY is open, not only to students of the University, but to the general public as well. Mr. Asa Dun Dickson, who is in charge, discredited the belief that the coats were stolen by students, and expressed his opinion that the coat was a person not affiliated with the University.
