LACROSSE CANDIDATES SENT THROUGH STRAINED NEW SEASON

Under the direction of Coach Powers, members of the lacrosse squad began preparations for the coming season yesterday afternoon in Foreman Field. This was the first practice of the season for the men who are eligible to vote at the polls which will be open from 10 A.M. to 7 P.M. on election day on March 4 and 5.

The lacrosse squad and the students of the Freshman class and the entire undergraduate body are eligible to vote at these polls. The Freshman class is being given to the nuns so that there may be no tie score in the opinion of severs.

Junior and senior men who are not eligible to vote are also eligible to vote at the polls which will be open from 10 A.M. to 7 P.M. on election day on March 4 and 5.

While many of the members of the Freshman class and the entire undergraduate body are eligible to vote at the polls, the latter group is not necessary as a prerequisite for the editorial staff of the campus comic magazine. This week marks opening of a new comic season.

Going Into Business?

I am not an advocate of any system of education, but I am rather a practical man who believes in doing as good as I can,

from a practical standpoint. I have been in the business world myself and I know how important it is to have a sound education. If you are going into business, you should be prepared to work hard and be willing to learn.

Business Manager, to P. S. Daily.

Should athletes be gladiators?

College athletics have come in for a great deal of criticism don't know, have given their thoughts to the praoi for athletics over the country. This notion of conversation crops up in the dressing room, at the so-called "soft" drink car paris, in the hotel lobby, in the club, in the house. In fact the story is a spot to be found where those who have come together with nothing to do but talk can't find some idea as to the rights and wrongs of collegiate athletics.

We have heard the so-called "English" viewpoint offer ed as a panacea. We have heard of family control as a sure means of salvation. We have been convinced in favor of glancing accounts of the wonders of intra-mural contests as we put our heads together to intercollegiate competition. Yes, indeed, we have heard so much, yet it is hard that we had almost reached the point of "throwing up the sponge" in our own minds and look ing the whole business either "go to the dogs" or else to turn the whole business over to our hands and admit we are able to get the result we want, then allow the matter to be adjusted as matters adjusted themselves. And then we heard Llewellyn Robinson speak at the Senior Banquet last week. Once more our enthusiasm was kindled. Once more our hopes were revived. We decided to stick in the argument. We got the boys to sign a petition of the old spirit of whether or not victory should be the criterion of success. That was the sign, that, while it is in the American temperament to win, the thing is worthless. We felt that we must aim to keep that fire that we have in our athletic system as it now stands.

He told us of this the plans the Olympic Committee is making to entertain all of the foreign teams as the guests of the American athletes. He sketched for us the visit of the French athletes to the American camp—how it might turn out and what might have been accomplished during the day and would tell his friends from across the sea how it felt and how it thought it was. He created visions for us of a happy group of clear-eyed, sunburned athletes from two countries, sitting around the table in a spirit of fellow ship, learning to know and appreciate each other. And then he spoke to us about conditions existing here in our own University. He asked us whether the Pennsy vania football teams had ever gotten together after the Thanksgiving Day game to talk things over and go to know each other. We knew full well what he implied. None of us ever went further and posted to ourselves condi ditions before the game. We could see in our minds the Cornell warriors carefully concealed from the public eye—even more maliciously guarded against meeting their antagonists of the next day. We visualized the Red and Blue teams in some country club far from the campus, surrounded by coaches, trainers and managers. Each group was busy developing a hatred of the other. Every man on both sides was being fed mental raw meat. Twenty-two perfect sportsmen of whom mankind were being groomed to enter the arena the next day just as their forefathers had been groomed when Rome was in her glory and the blood lust at its height.

Perhaps our picture is overdrawn—but we honestly don't think so. Perhaps we should have been more generally seized on baseball or crew to soften things at bit. But I don't think so. Perhaps we should have been more general—

COUNCIL FAVORS FLAGS FOR DORMITORY HOUSES

Although the date of the Annual Relay Carnival is still more than a month off, over 400 schools and colleges have already entered representatives in the various events. The list is quite a representative one and includes entries from every section of the United States as well as several foreign countries.

The International and the interclass intramural relay races will be the principal features of the two-day program. Five races are scheduled to have about an even chance of winning the latter event. Judging from the results of the indoor championship meets, Yale and Harvard are about evenly matched and in the opinion of many even better than the colleges of many even better than the colleges of the East and West.
