Many embarrassing situations in plot will be avoided by the writers, although the drama will be taken from the lives of individuals.

Undergraduate Council will present the.FRONT-SEALED.

Olive, the senior classman of the drama, will present the play.

The opening scene presents a typical family in their home. The father, a schoolteacher, is reading a newspaper, while the mother, a housewife, is preparing dinner. The children, a boy and a girl, are doing their homework.

The second scene takes place in the living room, where the family is gathered around the fireplace. The father is telling a story about his life as a young man, while the mother is singing a song. The children are laughing and playing together.

The third scene is set in the kitchen, where the mother is cooking dinner. The father and the children are helping her.

The fourth scene is in the dining room, where the family is having dinner. The father is telling a story about his father, while the mother is serving the food.

The final scene is in the living room, where the family is talking about their plans for the future. The father is planning to go on a trip, while the mother is planning to stay home and read. The children are planning to go to college.

A horse-drawn carriage is shown in the final scene. The horses are harnessed to a cart, and the carriage is pulled by the horses.

The play is performed by the Undergraduate Council and the drama students.

The play is titled "The Front-Sealed Box."

ASK STUDENT SUPPORT FOR COMMUNITY SERVICE
Urged to Donate Money and Equipment. To help Organize Boys Clubs on Campus

LEADERS FOR CLUBS NEEDED, TCO
University men can do much to better local social conditions among the children who live in the congested sections near the campus, according to chairman of the Student Council, which has its headquarters at the Church of Transfiguration. Mrs. Hall said: "(he students at the University could do a great deal to make the young people of this and fourteen more and thereby lend a great civic service by helping us in our work.

An effort is being made to organize other clubs that the young people of the Schubert district may have a definite place in for social conditions. Women in charge of this work are not enough, but by means of the money and athletic equipment necessary to carry out this organization, it is hoped to make the University able to contribute study and equipped athletic equipment of all kinds, in order to have the proper facilities with which to attract the younger boys. Often as many as 600 young men and women gather at the church of Transfiguration on Monday nights due to lack of athletic paraphernalia it is a great help to keep them entertained.

We wish that we might interest the students in this work," stated Mrs. Hall, "as those children need the help that the students should give them. No only donations would be helpful but we should like to have universities men take charge of the clubs that are being formed. We are finding the environment that surrounds these young people and the high standard of the University students would do them the utmost good." Any one who wishes to help in the organization of this work is asked to get in touch with Mrs. Hall at the Church of Transfiguration any afternoon. There will be a general social program for the purpose of raising the much-needed money. As clothing will constitute a major part of the stock of goods, Mrs. Hall would appreciate the donation of any discarded clothing that students have.
