TAYLOR SOCIETY IS APR TO MEET SOON

The Taylor Society will hold another meeting sometime this spring, it was comtirmed at headquarters last night. No one knows what the Taylor Society is including its capable president, Fred Robert Davis, but it is a good thing and the meeting will be held notwithstanding.
After the meeting will be addressed by Dr. Mamie Stock of the international Forlifter Company, there will be a round table discussion at which time the round-table forum will attempt to discover what it is all about. No one agrees to crash through with an idea the meeting will Randallly postpone.

Robert Curtis, president, vice presdent, secretary, treasurer and publicity manager of this new society, believes that they have some facts well up in date. In addition to Dr. Mamie Stock, the club has secured the services of W. Allen Full, later Secret of the Interior, who will speak on "How Finance to Industry." The eager young Taylors are even more excited than the statefeel for the time being, but President Davis and his capable inanimate follow them through all. Pod me time they may be the little darlings of the room and the president's salary will flow all right and try to guess what the Taylor Society is.

FALSE FACES SHOW
THE USUAL BIG BUST

After outrageous fighting a final walking for the past week in the Wood Theodore, the Phantom-Face Club of the University is wisely seeing for an extension of the regular tour. The success company with the exception of the cast will play at Curtains, Camden, and will probably enjoy their season at Stag Ring.
The club will not take part in any performance if one is given at Stag Ring.
For the most of this the Thoppers will be connected with an event of the season.
The Camden Club of the University has furnished debaters for a debate to be held in their honor. The theater bills favor the debaters. No failure is expected from their team as the debating chorus is their best trump card.

The meeting at the Thoppers' house last night was held. The president's salary was left out and the meeting adjourned in place of a delay. The cause was not wise or reasonable and it will be revisited at the next meeting to annihilate. The Musical Comittee of the Taylor Society is planning now a dinner to be held in their honor. The theater bills favor the debaters. No failure is expected from their team as the debating chorus is their best trump card.

Forward
Believing that the most intelligent readers take enjoyment from things intellectual we hereby submit the following extracts from one of the nation's foremost contemporaries. These little pictures vividly present the struggles triumphs and tribulations of typical men of any large university of the country.

LOON RIVER ANTHOLOGY
Patrick Michael Murphy
Conceived? Impossible for I
From a small, red, paper bag
But even as I lived down in town Who cannot believe in a higher form of the protector
Of intellect
It was ordained that I should be a big man.

Especially on the campus
It was all decided
I decided it
I played my cards well Going to church every Sunday

George O'Brien
People think I am a politician Because I was elected to the Council From a field of three I merely kept my nose open
And my mouth shut
You can express your displeasure

With my legs, perhaps, I'm sure My young man was always on the move in basketball the winter with his four inches in the air
That said a man who didn't know What it all was

Don't want to hear anything from me
Don't call me a yarn-blower

Romie Haines
I'm wanted to amount somehow
But I become the outcome And stopped moving under Before the flood came
The full moon shone in the waters, burning on its vast And thundered to the sound of Editor's desk of a paper Now I argue with Studio instead of Course
Out of the frozen pan instead of the fire

Rex Blossom
I will know the period of work
I was funny when the frozen Put me on probation
I was frozen when I was on a sick bed
I was frozen when things looked bright I'm real work is to be funny
But Pete Daniel didn't make it out to chief editor of the humorist, editor, editor-in-chief, editor, editor...I'll call that so much

I'm a real power on campus now And who's that Bear of Pete

Peter Darty
I have been honest
I am not what I used to be Even since I deserted Blossom
I'm deteriorated
People no longer speak to me
They do not know me Pete, fact, I cannot find you I cannot worry
But you are beyond my reach

Vv-We Up
My roommate Murphy disturbed me. Arriving at 5:30 every morning to study and cold shower himself. I am more now
Can I wonder I'm human
When I close such falsehoods
Every morning
Now I merely put it in a column
And people think I clever Only want to be considered
"One of the Boys"

"I used to have all my clothes made to order,"
"And the wonderful fitting that you gave my friend"

"Till one day I stepped in Perry's with a friend"
"So now I get all my clothes at Perry's"

"And saw the handsome wieners"
"And to tell you the truth, I am better satisfied."

Prom Head Explains Financial Failure
General Nuisance Harsh Clears Up Discussion with Vance Regarding Failure Failure men failed to save the day or evening we beg your pardon. The recomplete Prom was a financial failure. Government.
General Nuisance Mr. Wldeale.
when questioned by a staff reporter was so consumed with grief that he could hardly whisper. He alone took hold enough to account for the disaster. But, with his indomitable Teutonic spirit he did not cease and faced his interrogator with a holding back on the handsome face so often seen in Kolynos advertisements.
"It was cut off," he exclaimed, he said, "we didn't have enough people at the Prom." This startling bit of explanation, so simple, yet so explanatory, cleared up the discussion which had raged around the school since early Saturday morning.
Harsh explained to the reporter that 2/3 of all the committee had been on hand things would have begun vastly different.
He stated that this was largely his own fault, since at the last meeting, on board the "Almanc," he had lost his nerve and was unable to make those on the last row hear when he announced the date. He also said that these men had not been able to read the advance publicity in the Almanac, since they were bus Gray Pacific and at the Winstan School at that.
The General Nuisance explained that there would be no investigation on the part of the "Almanc" and Graduate Council since he had calmly supplied the members of that august body with comple-tary tickets and thereby had them in the palm of his hand.

FIGURES SHOW CAMPUS DAILY
MADE PROGRESS DURING YEAR
The Pennsylvania closes its most sucfull season tonight. A recapitulation shows that there were only thirty-five mornings on which the paper was not delered. Moreover, there were eight years on which there were no proof outaks in the headlines.
George S. Whitelaw's name has been rolled only six ways this year, while last year's name was eight. This shows a distinct improvement in orthography in the part of night editors.
Out-of-town subscribers report that they have received the paper 40 per cent of the time.
The "word failures" was used only 1346 times, as against 1460 last year, while a new term "hannes" has been invented to relieve the strain on "proof chases."
This year's managing board members ought each other on with their bows while last year's members are reported to have drawn guns on each other in former instances. This is a tribute to the growing spirit of cooperation on the Assembly Of Forum Entices Thousands

On account of the beautiful weather last Saturday afternoon, the University Forum held its first meeting of the month at 7 p.m. in the new auditorium under the west side of Franklin Field. The meeting was called to order by Dean Mead, and the minutes of the last meeting were read. Mr. Edsel E. Patten, the director of the forum, then introduced Mr. E. K. Howland, who delivered a talk on "The Future of Education." The meeting closed with the singing of "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing."

Debate Team Has Hot Time In Woolly West

Men Will Be Feted by University body In Room 12 Houston Club

Pennsylvania's debating team which has just returned from the West, in the opera will be given a grand reception by the University body in Room 12, Houston Club tonight. The team was the best one in the last four years in Ohio Wesleyan and in seven years, and would undoubtedly have won if there had been no judges present. The team was composed of J. F. Failin, a member of the Three-Eye University, Kansas & Southern, who presided and explained how the subject of discussion was of particular interest to the University of Pennsylvania, while effecting one of the chief aims and purposes of the meeting. The speaker then proceeded to refute all the arguments of the opposition, regarding them as baseless and not worth the air they occupied. The opposition, under the direction of Mr. Bugler of the Wharton School of Business, had been treated so humanely that the debaters were not allowed to make any difficulties. The debate was adjourned at 10 o'clock, and the team was taken in charge of the University body in Room 12, Houston Club.

FOLLOWING IS A FEATURE STORY ON THE LIBRARY

Do Not Read It Unless You Want It. As It Is a lively Story and Thus Of Little interest

RATHER WELL DONE HOWEVER

John Smith Jones, 34, of the Class of 1912, President of the Alumni and the Library, was the divinity confession that he was the architect—small student body, small University. The Noncomformists' special staff correspondent for dodged confessions was the only person present at the deans of the institution's soul, and with waltzed ballroom gave the story which has been trenchantly cut for the age.

According to the architect's confession, the plan for the Library was the result of an Optium Dream. Under the spell of that dream John, saw things too terrible for man to utter, and some of these were written by literary application to remain on paper. The finished plans were not away in the house that some day he might be asked to design a penitentiary or gym. The evil effects of the drugs continued to drag him down and he corrected the fatal idea of submitting the draft to the University for or

The Library. The authorities were refused/leaving in limbo and as a consequence, the plans were chosen and work began on what Jones termed, in his usual doris words, "A monstrosity of me to make.

Jones also briefly sketched the various components parts of the office, "The Atlas," and said a comment on the device, "A plinth. But there is something Philadelphia here and there. The entrance is Pre-Raphaelite, and the stairway to the first story is rectilinear and partly tiled, but being type-of the more distant epochs of these periods. The room inside must be the main entrance is of no special type, in the style of design, but merely a product of my own favored home.

"It was the most absurd act of my career," says a story to have said to include friends some years ago, while believers have lately come forward with the testimony that he had moments of the deserting form to me representing the offices. The staff reporter relates how in which the architect rose up and waved his hand, and then he talks to a friend.

"The Library.--" was his last cuttish utterance.
