On your trip to the Coast, enjoy the novelty of cruising in the Tropics. Not only a sea trip, but an exciting cruise—with the thrill of going ashore at one colorful port after another. Shopkeepers at the Canal Zone (approximately 2 days) and at picturesque Central American and Mexican cities.

In planning a journey to South America, no consideration is more important than the vessel that is to be your home for the voyage of several weeks. The luxuries that you have pictured as part of the palatial private yacht are realized in the appointments of the famous "Santa" steamers. The cabins (all out-side) are cozy and homelike. Each "Santa" steamer is larger than the vessel that is to be your home for the voyage of several weeks. The "Santa" steamers are the largest and most famous American steamers that are given on South American voyages. The cabins are large and comfortable. Each "Santa" steamer has a large lounge, a large dining room, a large smoking room and a large swimming pool. The cabins are large and comfortable. LE CERCLE FRANCAIS ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Ralph C. Burkar, Jr., '25C, Chosen to Lead French Club Next Year

At the meeting of Le Cercle Français on Saturday, Ralph C. Burkar, Jr., '25C, was elected president for next year by Margaret H. Emery, vice president, Louis H. Von Hoften, treasurer, and Adele E. Keller secretary. Immediately after the elections Buener took charge of the new organization.

The report of the finance committee was read showing that the club is on a sound financial basis. It has not had the heavy expenses of the annual play or other activities during the year.

Dr. Beck of the Romance Languages department gave a very interesting talk on popular songs of the Fifteenth Century. He pointed out the development of songs until that period, in illustrating the progress of music he sang several tunes that are nearly as unknown to the audience. He said that songs in those days were somewhat similar to the present popular music.

Following Dr. Beck's interesting address the members and others present enjoyed the evening in dancing. This is the final meeting of the year, and was considered one of the most entertaining and successful.

CORNELL ONCE MORE

Before dark tonight Pennsylvania and Cornell will once more have not upon the athletic field, this time in a track meet. Under three major deficit at the hands of Harvard already chalked up against us this year—football and two in basketball—and a favorable score would make us more than comfortable. If Cornell, this time, can only be described as a brand new track team, in the territory, hopes that they can even up the score. The Varsity track team has brought Pennsylvania slow.

And because of this healthy development which has been accomplished and the fresh interest in the project the Big Red team are very tight. With a score to settle with Cornell, the experience and determination of Pennsylvania's chances of another victory over their traditional rival are most favorable.

In Cornell, Pennsylvania has one of its most interesting and least known athletic alliance. Alloying that of -as it is easily indicated by referring to the history of the relations between the colleges in the past, and with the rivalry, which is as keen as between any other two colleges in the country, and is founded upon years of tradition, there is nothing of histrionics about it. Of course histrionics does not necessarily mean that the rivalry is not keen - but in a friendly rivalry, it is sometimes a little more to the point. It is unnecessary that the students of one college should maintain in which are some students of the other college, and it is

Happily for us, there is none of this histrionics evident between Cornell and Pennsylvania. While we hold a victory over the Ithacan Institution as the highest athletic accomplish of a first and Blue team, it is always with a friendly feeling that the two teams meet, and after a contest there is no Pennsylvania who has not a good word or a

National Organization to Assuage Annual Session at Baltimore

FACULTY MEMBERS ARE OFFICERS

"America and the post-war European situation" is the main topic to be discussed at the annual session of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, to be held at the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia on Friday and Saturday of next week. The Academy was organized thirty years ago to promote national and international understanding of political and social questions. It now numbers among its officers Dr. Carl Kielly and Dr. J. T. Baltic, both of the University.

The discussion sessions have been arranged each session to discuss a particular phase of the main topic. On Friday afternoon, April 16, Mr. John M. Blum, of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, will present a speech concerning "Germany's economic and trade position." At 4:30 p.m., General Carl Kelsey, professor at the University, will present a lecture on the "American military situation." At 7:30 p.m., Mayor Kenneth Seabury of Philadelphia, will present a lecture on "Germany's economic and trade position.
