the last year's record holders: Anderson, Frey, May, and Sh收到 who were second in the first goal of the season. The second goal was also scored by Linglebach who passed the ball from him to the center of the field, after the ball had been knocked out of bounds. Then followed a fast and spectacular pass. A swift pass from Stewart to Custer resulted in the third goal. Linglebach and Stewart each connected on the last two goals of the first half minute, making the score 9-0.

In the second half, Penn kicked from the field and the yard line of the Delaware Athletic Club of Linglebach. Anderson finished the scoring with a goal on a long shot.

Single-hole Athletic Club is composed of the men of the University and of Pennsylvania alumni who were the stars of the varsity last year. The team met at practice Monday and Tuesday mornings during the semester. Saturday's game was the last match of the season and the varsity will cease before restricting the fall. October 18th, is the opening contest.

CHALLENGE

The selection of the under-16 and under-15 standards is based on certain things: good moral character, high school reputation, and athletic ability. This student must carry the standard at the varsity level as long as he keeps his record unimpeachable.

Six of the eleven players have been on the varsity for three years, and three for two years. The team is well balanced with six from the junior class, three from the sophomore class, and two from the junior.-

Michigan University Medics Inaugurate Program of Self Control

Students of the Medical School of the University have been given complete control with regard to their examinations. The movement has been sanctioned by the faculty as the Board of Regents.

The council of these examinations is taken care of by a board of three students. According to its rules the members of the board shall be chosen from each of the classes. The president shall elect one member to serve two years, the junior shall elect one, and one a one-year term. A faculty will hold the class presidency, and the executive power of the faculty becomes that of the council of the class.

The duties of the council are to purchase the examination papers, staple them, label the packages, and sell the papers, in four sets of such students taking the examination to sign a statement stating that he has read the rules and that he will abide by them.

DR. J. CRAWFORD ORGANIZES ROMANIC LANGUAGE CLUB

Preliminary steps toward organizing a Romance Club for graduate students of the faculty, and faculty and students of Romance Languages in all parts of Philadelphia have been taken by Dr. J. P. W. Crawford of the Romance Language department.

At the meetings, which probably will be held monthly, original articles will be presented, and the more important current books and journals will be discussed. It is also hoped that these meetings will enable the members to become better acquainted and to discuss and reconcile opinions that will be professed and stimulating to all. At the first meeting, Mr. Otto H. Green, instructor in Romance, will lecture on "A Summer in Spanisht." The meeting will be held in Room 41,拼搏 of Western Hall, on October 1, at 4 p.m.

In a dramatic speech before Parliament over one hundred fifty years ago, Edmund Burke, explained, with a significant gesture towards the press box, "There are three estates in Parliament, but in the reporter's gallery there is one Fourth Estate—sitting in all." Burke, himself founder of a newspaper and a noted writer, realized the power of the press in influencing the well-being of the people. From the very beginning, the newspaper has served the people in their fight to secure governmental reforms through a House of Commons and to know that their administration should stand or fall on the report of the public press.

In the Fifth Estate, The Pennsylvania solicits the standard of that "Fourth estate" which Burke envisioned in Parliament, a country where the daily budget of news, assom-

THE PENNSYLVANIAN
BRITISH NOVELIST WRITES CRITICISM OF STEVENSON

The book is the result of extensive research by the author and includes many new and important revelations about the life and work of Stevenson. It is a comprehensive study of his life and achievements, based on extensive research of the author's family papers, correspondence, and other primary sources.

One of the most significant contributions of the book is the author's extensive use of previously unpublished letters and manuscripts, providing a more complete picture of Stevenson's life and work. The book also includes a detailed chronology of Stevenson's life and work, as well as a comprehensive index of his works.

The book is highly recommended for anyone interested in the life and work of Stevenson, or in the history of literature in general. It is a must-read for scholars and students of Stevenson's work, as well as for anyone interested in the history of literature.

COACH TAD JONES OVERCOMES GRADUATION PROBLEMS

After a little more than two weeks practice Coach Tad Jones, in charge of the gridiron team of Yale, has evinced at best a minimum of eleven men on the field it might be a little.

Many of the stars who made up last year's championship aggregation have graduated and the same members of this year's team have been re-recruited, it was expected at the beginning of the year. Coach Jones seems to have accomplished this difficult task surprisingly well. His real task, however, is in the building up of a sound second eleven from which he can draw substrates for his first team.

Long signal drills have held sway every afternoon for two weeks. Today the team has accomplished much toward building up an aggregation which can count on experienced men next year's championship team. The first two teams have been run through several hard scrimmages with the weaves in the last two days and no injuries have so far been reported as minor injuries. Attendance figures are given to play 3:30 Sunday.

As yet no official varsity has been picked out. In fact, such a team is the result of the spring season against the Earl Basch and Kennedy sides on the practice field in New Haven will be as follows: Bingham and Long are named to the right end, buckets. Eckert and Coone, guards; Capponi, center; Gillmor, Pozzi; Folsom, quarter back; Pond and Beth, halfbacks, Cottrell, fullback and center.

Saturday, following a half hour's work on the practice field, Coach Jones sent his men through a signal drill which lasted two hours.

DARTMOUTH REGULATES FRATERNITY RUSHING

Unanimous Sentiment Favora Postponing Frat Rush

At a meeting of the Dartmouth Interfraternity Council last Wednesday evening, a resolution was made protesting the Rush period. The protest is based on the fact that the Rush period is actually being extended, and that the students are not receiving the necessary information for making the Rush period effective.

In the plan as submitted to the Interfraternity Council by the Fraternity Council of Dartmouth College was an amendment of an agreement already in force. The amendment was passed last Saturday by the Interfraternity Council.

DARTMOUTH LINEUP LACKING VETERANS

After placing Captain Hickman back in the right end line of right and on the first team, Coach Whittle and Whittle and Wightman, the line-up of the team was presented.

The line-up is as follows: Captain Hickman, center, and right end, Flaherty and Whitaker, fullback and left end, and Bumgarner and Bumgarner, tackle. The left guard on the regular team is Bumgarner, and there is no substitute for the center. The left tackle was the third man on the regular team, and the left guard was the second man on the regular team. The center on the regular team was the substitute as the left tackle was the third man on the regular team.

Greetings FRESHMEN!
Glad to see you again '25's, '26's and '27's!

Our Welcome to all!
Coming fresh and strong to a big year's work will carry you far.
Keeping fresh throughout the year, with new clothes and things, will carry you further.

Guilford's dozen shops have been first choice of men who want to depend upon the haberdasher—rather than study the business for themselves. The Campus Shop is the nearest outlet—run in, close your eyes and buy—it's perfectly safe—"Sox" Miller is in charge.

in general:
DUNLOP HATS in the new shades of Quaker grey, mole, slate and pearl. You know the style and quality—$7.00 the price.

TOPCOATS are as varied in styles and colorings and fabrics as they are in price. Featured is a light color, plain box-back topper, 46 inches long and priced at $24.50.

SUTS you'll like! Snappy, handsomely tailored suits, built along Bond Street lines. Coats boast of broader shoulders, easy fitting, loose back, no vent and a bit shorter than heretofore. Single and double breasted models. Vests have blunted points—the trousers are cut straight hanging and full. Strange to relate the prices start at $24.50.

Go out and root for PENN
Pennsylvania is your college. It is a great and glorious old institution of learning and achievement. No college in the country has a more enviable history, no college, anywhere, has more worthwhile traditions to uphold.
The Pennsylvania football team needs your support. It is a good team—one worthy of your city—and you. Get in back of that team every Saturday, and cheer it on to victory. Ro
