The most convenient bank to the University of Pennsylvania solicits your account on its record of nearly fifty years of service.
It has been a custom here at the University to place some sort of a banner in front of each of the new buildings. You are speculating with great interest as to what kind of placard part object will grace the entrance of the new Remsen Hall, and the onlook around the campus are running around two mots and a strete against one that it won’t be a Venus.

It was discovered quite a long time ago that one of the barriers in the Houston Club shop could speak English.

The freshmen have begun to show signs of homesickness. Three of them who are from “the great open spaces where all of the columns are isolated” spent all day Saturday down at the Pennsylvania Railroad stockyards watch, with great feeling, the unloading of the cattle cars.

One of the football players was suffering from a more peculiar ailment recently that was quite a mystery around the training house. After much investigation and discussion, it was discovered that the cause of the trouble was that he kept lifting his feet high and walking with a shuffling gait, was because the toll g.nzl.

Franklin Field had fixed a habit on him that was almost impossible to break.

The University Employment Bureau claims to have obtained employment for two hundred men this season. One hundred and seventy-five of the two hundred have already been employed looking for the Employment office.

When asked if they had visited the Zoo, several freshmen responded with the information that they had seen the whole over by the Fine Arts holding the first day they were there.

Our favorite newspaper reports that a Pennsylvanian graduate is now a private in the Yugoslav army. Wonder what course you take in the Wason. School to fit for such a position. It would be interesting to know too, if the other soldier in the army is a college man also.

The Washington University football team is boasting this year’s heights, and who now stand a world’s record.

We should reciprocate with a little publicity about the anthem of one who is as bold as he is brave, and who can fall down without anyone knowing the difference.

If we can get hold of his address we are going to write to him private in the Yugoslavian army to see if he has heard a couple of Pennsylvania state might have been sent by him mistaking.

The chilling effects of this year’s July 4th heat wave could be felt out in the sticks, even in Wilkes-Barre. The mercury reached 90 degrees, and the wind was a welcome relief from the oppressive heat. It was a welcome break from the recent heat wave, and a reminder that summer is still a long way off.

Rules Governing Play Competition

The Mask and Wig Club offers a cash prize of one hundred dollars ($100) for a scenario suitable for a two-act libretto for the Thirty-seventh Annual Production, Easter 1925. This competition is open only to the undergraduates of the University of Pennsylvania.

The following simple regulations will govern:

1. All manuscripts must be written on one side of the paper only.
2. The manuscripts submitted for competition may be either for a Musical Comedy, a farce with music, or an extravaganza review, and it is requested that the competitors divide their manuscripts in five parts as outlined below:

Part 1. Title and outline of each scene.

Part 2. List of characters with a brief outline of each.

Part 3. Should state clearly and briefly the theme or idea upon which the story of the play is based, showing its development, conflict, and sense of resolution. Should be up to a climax for which a final act, with musical songs indicated, covering the story, may be written through but not to a formal concluding scene.

Part 4. Should state the time and place and describe any special requirements and show opportunities in the way of introduction of specialties and chorus effects whereby the action of the play shall not be crudely interrupted. Should be an outline of incidents showing the development of the plot, with musical numbers indicated, viz: "Duet," "Trio," "Chorus," specialty, "Ventriloqu,

Part 5. Should state the place and time and describe scenery and costume possibilities, and show opportunities in the way of introduction of specialties and chorus effects whereby the action of the play shall not be crudely interrupted.

In writing the scenario, the author should always bear in mind that all the male parts are to be played by men.

Any additional information in regard to the above competition may be obtained by addressing communications to the Chairman of the Play Committee, Mask and Wig Club, 325 Quince Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
